PREFACE

This Handbook contains mainly statistical data and is not intended to replace the District Gazetteer which gives a comprehensive account of the district in narrative form. Most of the statistical tables included in the volume are based on materials collected in the 1951 census, but some non-census statistics have also been included and a brief introduction to the district has been furnished in order to enable readers to follow the statistical tables without much difficulty.

2. Before this, District Handbooks containing important census tables and other statistics were published in 1905 and 1916 in the form of statistical supplements to District Gazetteers. These Handbooks did not contain any statistics relating to individual villages. Madras and certain other provinces and Indian States published village statistics of some districts at the 1921, 1931 and 1941 censuses. In Bihar also, there were proposals in 1921 and 1931 for publishing similar statistics, but they did not materialise. The idea of publishing Handbooks like this containing both district tables and statistics of area, population, literacy and livelihood pattern for each village besides other useful statistics relating to the district owes its inception to Shri R. A. Gopalaswami, I. C. S., the present Registrar-General and ex-officio Census Commissioner of India, who made a recommendation to this effect to all State Governments in March, 1951. This recommendation was readily accepted by the Government of Bihar who have sanctioned the publication of the Handbooks at their own cost.

3. As already indicated, detailed statistics for villages were not compiled for any district in Bihar before this. The task was formidable, and the compilation and editing had to be done within a limited time simultaneously with the preparation of the State census tables and report. Every effort has been made to ensure correctness and accuracy of the data and, though there are short-comings it can be fairly claimed that this Handbook removes a long-felt want for a book of reference containing the basic statistical information for the district and smaller units down to the mauza.

4. I have indicated at appropriate places the source from which the non-census statistics have been obtained. The brief note "Introducing the District" is based on materials drawn from varied sources. Thus, information relating to geology and rainfall, etc., has been obtained from the Geological Survey and the Meteorological Department of the Government of India (through the Registrar-General); information relating to Agricultural Statistics, from the State Department of Agricultural Statistics; and regarding mines, from the Chief Mining Officer, Bihar. My indebtedness to O'Malley's District Gazetteer of Shahabad and Hubback's final report on the Survey and Settlement Operations in the District of Shahabad will be obvious to all who have read these invaluable books.

5. The compilation of the census statistics included in this volume was done in the Patna Tabulation Office under the able supervision of Shri A. K. Banerji, Deputy Magistrate and Deputy Collector. I desire to acknowledge my obligation to him and to the marginally named staff for the care and interest taken by them in the work. My thanks are also due to Shri Rameshwar Nath, Deputy Magistrate and Deputy Collector, who has helped in the editing of the non-census statistics and supervised the proof-reading. Lastly, but very far from the least, my thanks are due to Shri S. N. Chatterji, Deputy Superintendent, Government Printing and his staff for the care and interest shown in the printing and publication of this Handbook.

INTRODUCING THE DISTRICT.

Constituted in the year 1865 out of the old Sarkars of Rohtas and Shahabad, the District of SHAHABAD extends from 83°19′ to 84°15′ east longitude and 24°31′ to 25°46′ north latitude, and has an area now of 4,406* square miles. A portion of the territory of the district—mainly Diara lands—was transferred to Patna in the decade 1921—30. The district boundaries have remained intact since 1931. It is bounded by rivers almost for the whole length of its perimeter, and only for a small distance of about 39 miles out of its whole perimeter of over 860 miles, the district does not possess a natural barrier. On the north the River Ganga separates it from Ghazipur and Ballia districts in the Uttar Pradesh and from Saran; on the east the river Sone separates it from the districts of Patna and Gaya; on the south again is the same river separating it from the Palamau district; and on the west it has three districts of the Uttar Pradesh, viz., Ghazipur, Benares and Mirzapur. Ghazipur and Benares are wholly separated from the district by the river Karamnasa which also forms the border between Shahabad and Mirzapur for a short distance.

2. Natural Divisions.—The district can be divided into four distinct natural divisions. The northernmost part enclosed between the main line of the Eastern Railway on the south, the Ganga on the north, the Sone on the east and the Karamnasa on the west, consists of a low lying alluvial plain of rich natural fertility. Almost every year it gets a fresh deposit of silt from the Ganga and this area is one of the finest wheat growing lands in the State. Adjacent south of this tract extending up to the foot of the Kaimur hills, is another natural division also of alluvial formation. This area too is very fertile and contains tenacious clay mixed with coarse sand. The soil is comparatively light in the eastern portions of this tract. Near the border with the Uttar Pradesh on the west, it is poorer and mixed with kankar. The whole of this tract is well irrigated by canals. The Kaimur plateau with an area of about 800 sq. miles constitutes the third natural division. It is an undulating tableland consisting of scrub jungles with some large trees and yielding very poor and precarious crops. The sloping sides of the tableland are used for pasturage. The fourth natural division is the small area of land of the Sone valley between the Kaimur hills and the river. The soil here is sandy but it is rendered cultivable by irrigation from several small hill-teams.

3. Topography and Hills.—Except for the Kaimur hills which rise up to 1,200 ft.—near Rohtas the altitude is 1,500 ft.—the whole district is a flat country with few eminences. The terrain slopes gently northwards from the plateau up to the Ganga. There are a few small naked hillocks near Sasaram bereft of any vegetation.

4. Rivers.—The only rivers of any importance are the Ganga, Sone, Karamnasa, Kudra, and Durgauti. The Ganga washes the northen boundary of the district for a distance of about 82 miles and separates it from Ghazipur and Ballia districts in the Uttar Pradesh and from Saran. It touches the district near Chausa where it is also met by the Karamnasa. From there it flows north-eastwards and then eastwards and finally north-eastwards again leaving the district at its confluence with the Sone. All the rivers of the district fall into the Ganga either directly or after combining with each other. The Kuhira and the Sora meet the Durgauti after which they are met by the Kudra. Finally they all fall into the Karamnasa. The Goria and Dharmauti also fall into the Karamnasa combining just before doing so. The Konch, Ganghat, Chher and the Banas which in the later stages is known as the Gangi all fall into the Ganga. The Sone rises near the sources of the Narbada and Mahanadi in the elevated plateau of Central India and enters the district at the tri-junction of Palamau, Mirzapur and Shahabad. It washes the southern and the eastern borders of the district for a distance of about 140 miles. The Karamnasa rises in the Kaimur hills and together with its tributary the Gurwat constitutes the western boundary of the district for a distance of about 105 miles. For short distances, it flows wholly in the Mirzapur district. It has a deep bed but dries up in about February. The Kudra, also rising in the Kaimur hills, falls into the Durgauti after flowing for a distance of about 50 miles within the district. It has very little water during the dry season. The Durgauti which also rises in the Kaimur hills is met by the Kuhira and the Sora and finally by the Kudra before it falls into the Karamnasa. It contains water almost all the year round. The bed is sandy mixed at places with nodular limestones.

5. Communications.—The district is well served by Railway, Road and water communications. Two important lines of the Eastern Railways, the Main Line and the Grand-Chord, intersect the district at two places along the width. A light railway of the small gauge from Arrah to Sasaram connects the two broad gauge lines of the Eastern Railway. Another light Railway connects Dehri with Rohtas in the Sone valley between the Kaimur tableland and the Sone. A net-work of metalled and unmetalled roads measuring over two thousand miles is also available as an extra means of communication. The most important among the roads is the Grand-Trunk Road which entering and leaving the district at the same places as the Grand Chord line of the Eastern Railway and running almost parralel to it, traverses a distance of about 55 miles within the district. The statement below shows the mileage of metalled and unmetalled roads maintained by the various Authorities :—

Water communication is also available in abundance. The Ganga all the year round and the Sone intermittently provide the important means. A small goods traffic is carried along the canals of which there is a net-work in the district. There is a vigorous goods traffic along the Ganga with Calcutta on the east and places in the Uttar Pradesh on the west.

6. Geology and minerals.—Three distinct stratigraphical subdivisions are noticeable in the Kaimur hills, the Kaimur sandstone, the Bijaigarh shale and Rohtas limestone. The whole of the northern edge of the tableland and the upper portions on the other sides consist of the Kaimur sandstone which is excellent building material. It has, however, never been quarried to any considerable extent except long ago at Karaundia and Dhandhanr. The lower stratum consists of the brittle and splintery Bijaigarh shales. The Rohtas limestone is a very fine bedded rock, evenly gained. The whole of the tract from the foot of the Kaimur plateau up to the Ganga is of alluvial formation except small portions at places where ancient volcanic beds with fine porcellanic texture are found. The only rocks outside the Kaimur plateau are the low hills near Sasaram consisting of coarse quartzose and felspattic sandstone. No minerals worth the name are found in the district except limestones and pyrites. The latter are mainly found impregnated on the Bijaigarh shales. These deposits have not yet been commercially exploited. Extensive field work is now being done by the Geology of India. The shales are being opened up and prospected. Limestones have been worked for a long time. The best quality is found near Rohtasgarh, Banjari, Dumarkhar, Baulia and Ramdihra. Between Baulia and Banjari, there is a limestone bed of an average thickness of as much as 30 ft. Portions of this bed near the Murli hill contain more than 80 per cent of Calcium carbonate. Limestone is being used for the manufacture of lime, bleaching powder, cement, calcium carbide, calcium cyanamide and glass.

7. Soils.—The soils of the low lying stretch along the Ganga bank which receives fresh deposits of silt almost every year is known as Kadai. The oblong shaped north-western portion of the district consists almost wholly of clay except near the border of the Uttar Pradesh where it is found mixed with Kankar. The clay is known as Karail and retains moisture for a considerable period. It is exceedingly suitable for growing rice and also rabbi crops, e.g., wheat, linseed, lentils and gram. The soils south of the Grand-Trunk Road up to the foot of the plateau and east of the Arrah Sasaram railway consists of clay and sand in almost equal proportions. This soil is called Doras in the vicinity of habitation, and dihi, goenr, etc., further afield. It is suitable for growing rice, sugarcane, mustard and linseed. At some places in this area, the sand content of the soil is higher still and in this proportion it is known as Balmat or Balsundar. In the Sone valley between the plateau and the river, the soil consists chiefly of fine sand called Bal or Benga. This requires continuous irrigation for producing good crops.

8. Climate and Rainfall.—December to February are the coldest months when the mean temperature is 62°F. The temperature goes on rising thereafter till it reaches the peak in May when the mean is 90°F. The average maximum temperature in this month is 102°F. As in other parts of Bihar, the monsoon sets in some time in June accompanied with fall in temperature and rise in humidity. In the month of September there is a fall in humidity which records a rise again thereafter. It is at its minimum during the months of March and April. From June to September, the district gets an uninterrupted easterly wind of which the direction is completely reversed during the period from October to May. There is practically no rain from November to May, the total during this whole period being not more than about two inches on an average. July and August are the rainiest months. During the last decade, the average rain in the month of July varied from 11″.48 to 13″.80 and in the month of August, from 9″.22 to 13″.20. The monsoon dwindles down in September. The average annual rainfall during the last decade was 46″.61 and the average annual number of rainy-days was 52.4. The southern portion of the district generally gets more rain than the northern.

9. Important monuments and archæological remains.—Unlike the rest of the Patna Division where stupas and other archæological remains are found strewn about almost all over the place, there are few ancient relics in this district. The only Budhist site is on the Chandanpur hill east of Sasaram town where one of the caves bears an inscription of 231 or 232 B. C. At Mahadeopur about 10 miles south of Piro have been found the ruins of an old brick temple crowned by a pinnacle very similar to the one which is believed to have crowned the temple at Bodh Gaya. Another ancient temple at Mundeswari about seven miles from Bhabua is believed to be the oldest Hindu monument in the district and is attributed to Udai Sen's time (635 A. D.). Two other temples of considerable age are found at Deo Barunarak. One of them bears an inscription of Jibita Gupta (740 A. D.). The other affords no such evidence but is believed to belong to the same period. Yet another temple at Baidyanath in the Bhabua Subdivision bears an inscription of Raja Madan Pal Dev of the Pal dynasty. A large number of buildings dating back to early and medieval Brahamanism are found scattered round the village. There is an ancient Fort at Rohtasgarh of which the age has not yet been determined accurately. The place is named after Rohitaswa, son of Harischandra of mythology. The Fort was taken by Sher Shah in 1539 A. D. and improvements therein were effected by Mansingh when he made it his residence as Governor of Bengal and Bihar. At Sasaram is a magnificient mausoleum built by Sher Shah for himself. Mention can also be made here of a great mausoleum of Bakhtiyar Khan at Chainpur seven miles west of Bhabua. This mausoleum is also attributed to the time of Sher Shah. In the same village are the remains of a Fort believed to have been built in the time of Sher Shah or Akbar.

10. Subdivisions and Thanas.—The district is divided for administrative purposes into four Subdivisions which are further subdivided into 11 Revenue Thanas and 33 Police-Stations. The statement below shows the number of Revenue Thanas and Police-Stations in each of the four Subdivisions :—

		Revenue Thanas.	Police-Stations.
Arrah Sadr	...	3	9
Sasaram	...	4	10

11. Population.—The district returned a population of 2,688,440 at sunrise of the 1st March, 1951 the reference date of the Census. The figure is larger than that for Patna in spite of the great city. It has, however, a much larger area so that the density is only 610 persons per square mile against 1,168 of Patna and the average density of 572 persons per square mile for the State as a whole. The district had a density of only 528 in 1941. Since then, the population has increased by 15.5 per cent which is lower than the increase of 16.8 per cent recorded in the previous decade. The rate of increase during the last decade was the third highest among the districts of the State after Dhanbad and Patna. The highest increase was recorded in the Sasaram (19.7 per cent) and Buxar (17.2 per cent) Subdivision. In the Bhabua Subdivision the increase was not spectacular but the population of the Mohania Revenue Thana of that Subdivision increased by 19.1 per cent. Among Revenue Thanas the highest increase of 29.2 per cent was registered by Dehri followed closely by 26.2 per cent of Buxar.

12. Distribution of population.—The Sasaram and Bhabua Revenue Thanas which consist mainly of the hill tracts of the Kaimur plateau, are of course sparsely populated. The plains area shows two different patterns of population distribution. The north-eastern portion where the soil is generally better and irrigation facilities are also available in greater abundance, has an average density of 909 persons per square mile. In this tract, no Revenue Thana has a density of less than 870 persons per square mile, except Bikramganj where the density falls to below 800. The average density of the south-western portion consisting of Revenue Thanas Karaghar, Buxar and Mohania where the soil is inferior and facilities for irrigation are also comparatively meagre, is 630 persons per square mile and no Revenue Thana in this area reaches a density of even 700 persons per square mile, while Karaghar has only 550.

13. Growth of population (1872 to 1951).—The first census of 1872 was very deficient so that an increase of 14 per cent was recorded by the next census of 1881. The increase in the decade 1881—90 was only 5.7 per cent on the 1881 total. Thereafter the population declined at every Census till 1921 which year completely changed the trend and a rapid acceleration of population was registered at every Census thereafter. In spite of the rise recorded in the 1881—90 decade, the population at the 1921 Census was less than in 1881. The average annual rate of decrease in between works out to 0.17 per cent. After 1921 the population has been increasing at the rate of 1.6 per cent per year. Bad public health and economic condition were in the main responsible for the state of affairs prevailing before 1921. Persistent fevers brought about a heavy mortality in the period between 1879 and 1886. Thereafter also it persisted but the rate of mortality was lower. Plague appeared in 1900 and continued to take heavy toll of lives over a long period. To this were added virulent epidemics of cholera which appeared in several years. There was a serious outbreak of plague in 1912 and of the cholera epidemic in 1915. Both cholera as well as plague appeared in 1917 and to these was added the great influenza epidemic of 1918 and 1919. In 1896-97 there was a famine in the southern parts of the district. Failure of crops in 1907 to 1909 brought about scarcity condition. The decrease in the population between 1881 and 1921 would have been steeper still but for a large increase in immigration caused by the opening up of the Sone canals and also the extension of cultivation in the eighties, and development of the lime industry in the decade 1911-20. The increase of 5.7 per cent in the population during the decade 1881—90 is largely illusory because but for large immigration in this period, the population would actually have registered a decrease. After 1921, the epidemics did not stop altogether but, although they appeared in a few years, they failed to cause equal havoc in the growth of population. Crops also failed partially during the years 1925 to 1928 and 1950, and the Sone floods of 1923 washed away considerable crops towards the south. A large part of the period was, however, free from these calamities and the general condition aided by improvement in the balance of migration was conducive to steady growth in the recorded population.

14. Rural and Urban.—There are only eight towns in the district and 4,729 villages. The ratio of the urban to rural population works out to 1 :14. Four villages in the district have a population of more than 5,000 persons each. All the four subdivisional headquarters are towns and the other four urban areas are Dehri, Dumraon, Jagdishpur and Nasriganj. Arrah is the only town with a population exceeding 50,000. The second largest town Sasaram has less than 30,000. Except for Dehri and Nasriganj, all the other towns are quite old and municipalities were constituted for them in the year 1869. Arrah is the headquarters of the district and has a population of 64,205 persons. The population has been increasing steadily since 1901 although there was a fall in 1911. In the decade 1911—20 also, this town recorded an increase in the population although there was a decline in the district as a whole. It is situated on the Eastern Railway Main Line on the junction with the Arrah Sasaram Light Railway. It was called Chakrapur or Ekachakra in legendary times and is supposed to have been named Aramnagar by the Budhists. It has no industry worth the name except metalware for local consumption. Sasaram (29,265) is also an old town. The only industry deserving mention is the manufacture of lacquered pottery. The chief importance of this industry lies in the small cost of production and the high price that it fetches. The town has the advantage of being on the Grand Chord line of the Eastern Railway and also on the Grand Trunk Road. It is connected with Arrah town with a light railway. Dehri (24,496) which was recognised as a town for the first time at the 1941 Census has developed into a fine township. It is on the junction of the Eastern Railway Grand Chord line and the Dehri Rohtas Light Railway. Situated on the western end of the long railway bridge across the Sone, it lies on the Grand Trunk Road also. The main Sone canal starts from here and it has the head-works of the canal system with an anicut on the Sone. The main workshop for the maintenance of provisions for the canal requirements are also situated here. The present importance of the town is, however, due to the development of cement, lime and sugarcane industries since the early twenties. Apart from the greater employment facilities offered by the industries, the high rate of increase in the population during the last decade as shown by Table A-IV, is due mainly to the assimilation of some of the suburban areas into the town on account of the large scale industrial expansion during the period. Buxar (18,087) on the bank of the Ganga and on the main line of the Eastern Railway has the advantage of both the kinds of trade communications. Dumraon (16,605) owes its importance to the Dumraon Raj. It registered a large fall in its population at the 1911 Census and also a fall at the 1921 Census with the result that although the population has been rising steadily since 1921, the 1901 mark has still not been reached. Jagdishpur (11,322), although an old town, is more properly an overgrown village. Over 54 per cent of its population are dependent on agricultural occupations for their subsistence. It is on the Eastern Railway Main Line and the home of Kuar Singh, the hero of the Sepoy mutiny. Nasriganj (8,741) was classified as a town for the first time at the 1941 Census. It is situated about half a mile from the Sone on the Koilwar Dehri

Road and is a trading centre for articles of internal consumption. At one time, Hariharganj a part of the town was famous for hand manufacture of thin parchment paper known as Basaha. Bhabua with a population of 7,858 is the headquarters of a subdivision bearing the same name.

As elsewhere, urbanisation of the district has been making rapid strides. The ratio of the urban to the rural population is 1 :14 today against 1 :15 of 1941, 1 :16 of 1931 and 1 :17 of 1921. The 1951 Census recorded an increase of 22.4 per cent in the urban population against 13.8 per cent of the rural population, over the 1941 total.

15. Male Female ratio.—In the overall picture for the district, there is a shortage of females by about 28,000 and the ratio is 979 females against every 1,000 males. Females were actually in excess in 1921 when there were as many as 1,029 females against every 1,000 males. In 1931 the picture was reversed and there was a shortage of five females for every 1,000 males. Since then the shortage has been ever on the increase. Between 1941 and 1951 the shortage of females against every 1,000 males has gone up by two only. The shortage is not confined to the urban areas where females are too short by 117 for every 1,000 males. In the rural areas also, females number only 984 against every 1,000 males. Although a deficiency of females in the district as a whole was revealed by the 1931 Census, they were still in excess in the rural areas till then. Among persons dependent on agriculture also there is now a shortage of six females for every 1,000 males. Females continue still to be in excess among agricultural labourers and rent receivers. They number 1,024 in the former class and 1,112 in the latter against every 1,000 males. Persons following the non-agricultural occupations have, however, only 909 females against every 1,000 males. The shortage of females in the urban areas is not evenly distributed. As stated above in paragraph 14, Jagdishpur town is merely an over-grown village. Its rural characteristic is further evident from the fact that it has actually an excess of females. Such an excess is also noticeable in Nasriganj town.

In spite of the shortage of females in the district as a whole, there is actually an excess in the Arrah Sadar Subdivision notwithstanding the shortage in Arrah town which has a total population of over 64,000. Subdivision-wise, the largest shortage (19,000) in Sasaram. In Dehri Police-Station alone, the shortage is over 7,000 of which more than 5,000 is accounted by Dehri town.

The increasing shortage of females cannot be adequately explained by improvements in the balance of migration. More male births have been registered every year since 1921.

16. Age Structure.—Able bodied persons of age 15 years and above but below 55 years constitute a little over half the total population of the district. Young children of less than 15 years of age and old persons of 55 years and above form the remaining less than about 50 per cent. The distribution of 100 persons by age-groups is shown below :—

Less than five years ...	14.1
Five years and above but below 15 years.	25.2
15 years and above but less than 35 years.	30.8
35 years and above but less than 55 years.	20.4
55 years and above ...	9.5

17. Civil condition.—Marriage is universal. Only 3.3 per cent of females and 12.6 per cent of males of 15 years and above are unmarried. The proportion of unmarried persons is reduced to only 1.1 per cent among females and 7.4 per cent among males who have reached their 25th year. That marriage takes place at higher ages also is shown by the fact that among people aged 35 years and above only 0.6 per cent of females and 5.3 per cent of males have remained unmarried. Quite a large number of marriages take place very early in life. Seventeen per cent of males and 27 per cent of females of age between 5 and 15 years were found to have been married already. The corresponding figures in 1931 were 25.8 per cent and 39.1 per cent respectively. Considering the high incidence of early marriage in this district, it must be said that the vogue of early marriage has been dying out rapidly although not quite satisfactorily.

18. Literacy and Education.—Literates number 15.9 per hundred of the total population. The figure includes 2.8 per cent who have passed at least the middle school examination and also persons with higher educational qualifications. Among males, 28 per cent are literate which figure again includes 5.2 per cent who have passed the middle school or some higher examination. Literate females number only 3.5 per cent and the proportion of those who have passed some examination is negligible. Education is naturally more popular and easily available in the urban areas where 39.3 per cent of males are literate as against only 27 per cent in the rural areas. Among persons dependent on non-agricultural occupations, 32.3 per cent of males and 9.7 per cent of females are literate as against the corresponding figures of 27.1 per cent and 2.3 per cent respectively for persons dependent on the agricultural occupations. Education is by far advanced among persons dependent on transport—which includes the railway services—for their maintenance. 44.6 per cent of the males and 19.6 per cent of females among them are literate. Bataidars are the worst off educationally. Only 8.8 per cent of their males and 0.7 per cent of their females are literate. Agricultural labourers who would include for the most part, the scheduled and non-scheduled backward classes, are only slightly better off with 9 per cent of their males and about 1 per cent of their females being literate. The statement below shows the number of educational institutions and the scholars reading therein :—

Description of institution	Number	Number of Scholars
		Boys	Girls
Colleges	1	1,821	3
High Schools	60	24,566	342
Middle Schools ..	167	23,256	1,196
Senior Basic	10	1,734	115
Upper Primary ..	421	92,491	7,445
Lower Primary ..	1,266
Junior Basic	15	1,750	..
		145,618	9,101

Only 6.24 per cent of the scholars in all kinds of educational institutions are females.

19. Livelihood Pattern.—Persons dependent on agricultural occupations for the primary source of their livelihood constitute 83 per cent of the total population of the district, and non-agricultural pursuits account for the remaining 17 per cent of them. The statement below shows the livelihood class distribution of 10,000 persons (including dependants) of the general, rural, and urban population :—

	General	Rural	Urban
All Agricultural Classes ..	8,324	8,734	2,627
I—Cultivators of land mainly owned (occupancy raiyats and others).	5,112	5,388	1,275
II—Cultivators of land mainly un-owned (Bataidars).	941	991	253
III—Cultivating labourers ..	2,174	2,266	889
IV—Rent receivers and non-cultivating owners.	97	89	210
All Non-Agricultural Classes ..	1,676,	1,266	7,373
V—Production other than cultivation (includes manufacture, mining, etc.).	375	320	1,136
VI—Commerce	502	372	2,303
VII—Transport	83	51	531
VIII.—Miscellaneous and Services.	716	523	3,403

The most important items under production other than cultivation are stock raising, fishing, manufacture of food-stuffs, textile goods, footwear, dairy products, tobacco products and metalware. Retail and wholesale trade in food-stuffs, textile and leather goods and metalware can be mentioned under commerce. The bulk of the persons dependent on transport receive succour from the various kinds of road transport, e.g., trucks, buses, other motor vehicles, bullock-carts, rickshaws, etc. The figures against miscellaneous and services include 625 beggars and vagrants and also 1,544 other persons who are employed on other non-productive occupations, e.g., persons living primarily on income from non-agricultural properties or on pensions, scholarships, doles, etc. inmates of jails, asylums and almshouses. Among persons gainfully employed can be named employees of the Union and State Governments, local boards and municipalities, Professors, Teachers, Lawyers, Doctors and Health Services, masons, domestic servants, barbers, washermen and recreation services.

20. Social and Religious Groups.—Hindus constitute the bulk of the population as all non-Hindus form only 6.7 per cent of the population. Of these 6.6 per cent are Muslims. Hindus include the Scheduled Castes whose proportion in the total population of the district is 13.7 per cent. The non-Scheduled Backward Classes (both Hindu and Muslim) number 11.8 in every 100 of the general population. The Scheduled Tribes number 16,993 in all. Over 50 per cent of them are in the Sasaram Subdivision, mostly in the area comprising Bikramganj, Sasaram and Dehri Revenue Thanas.

21. Economically active population—The burden of dependency.—Non-earning dependants who have to be supported wholly from the earnings of others, constitute 64.8 per cent of the population. Self-supporting persons, that is, persons who are in receipt of income in cash or kind, which is sufficient at least for their own maintenance, form only 31.2 per cent of the total population. The remaining 4 per cent are persons who supplement the income of the family by their own earning which is, however, not sufficient even for their own maintenance. Under the joint family system most of the members of a family have some share in the landed properties so that the proportion of non-earning dependants among persons engaged on the agricultural pursuits is smaller (63.9 per cent) than among those dependent on the non-agricultural occupations (69.4 per cent). The statement below shows the distribution of 100 persons of the general, agricultural and non-agricultural classes by their economic status :—

	Self-Supporting	Non-earning dependants	Earning dependants
General ..	31·2	64·8	4
Agricultural ..	32·1	63·9	4
Non-Agricultural ..	26·4	69·4	4.2

Thus 100 self-supporting persons of the general population have to support, besides themselves, 208 other persons who are entirely dependent on them for their subsistence. For the reason already stated, this burden is slightly smaller among agricultural classes and 100 self-supporting persons among them are required to support only 199 other persons. Among persons following the non-agricultural occupations, however, 263 persons on an average have to be supported by 100 breadwinners. Among the agricultural classes again, the heaviest burden has to be borne by labourers, 100 earners among whom have to feed, clothe and generally support 225 other persons.

22. Cultivation.—The total land area of the district is 28.2 lakh acres and the population is 26.9 lakhs. The total geographical area per head of the population thus works out to only 105 cents. The total cultivated area is 17.3 lakh acres and per capita it comes to 65 cents only. Of the total geographical area of the district, 9.3 lakh acres are under hills, rivers, canals, homesteads, village common roads, etc., and are thus not available for cultivation. Current fallows based on average figures for the quinquennium ending 1949-50 amount to 0.8 lakh acres, and culturable wastes to 0.73 lakh acres. The cultivated lands together with current fallows and cultivable wastes work out to only 72 cents per capita. 41 per cent of the total gross cultivated area is under rice. Maize and other cereals and pulses account for 54 per cent and cash crops are grown on 5 per cent of the gross cultivated area. At the time of the last Settlement (1907—16), 32 per cent of the gross cultivated area was under rice.

23. Dependence on irrigation.—The terrain of the district slopes gently from south-east to north-west. Although the gradient is small, it is sufficient to drain the rain water away quickly enough. If artificial irrigation were not practised, crops would be precarious. Before the construction of the Sone canals late in the last century, the only irrigation that was done was with the help of Ahars and wells. Ahars consist of artificial embankments for storing rain water at convenient places so that not only can water from these reservoirs be taken to the fields through drains in times of need, but also the fields nearby can get a continuous supply of moisture. Irrigation from wells is used mainly on uplands close to the habitation. The water from wells is brought to the surface by means of Latha. Mot and Sair are also used for raising water to higher levels from artificial reservoirs or Ahars. Even to-day, irrigation from Ahars and wells is practised in areas outside the scope of the Sone canals, mostly in the Bhabua Subdivision. Irrigation from Ahars does not, however, meet the need fully : for one thing, it is fully dependent on rain, and it is mostly in times of droughts that the need for artificial irrigation is felt most. The Sone canal system consists of ancient across the Sone at Dehri, the main canal and a number of distributaries. The length of the main canal and the distributaries within the district is over a thousand miles of which a distance of about 132 miles is navigable. The opening up of these canals has been an immense boon to the district. It has accelerated the extension of rice cultivation. Even about 40 years back at the time of the last Settlement, only 32 per cent of the gross cultivated area was under rice. To-day it is 41 per cent. During recent years the non-canal areas have benefited considerably from the minor irrigation drive of the State Government. The proportion of the irrigated areas in the cultivated lands has risen from 41.9 per cent at the time of the last Settlement (1907—16) to 51.7 per cent to-day.

24. Extension of cultivation.—As stated in paragraph 22 above, 9.3 lakh acres are not available for cultivation out of the total land area of 28.2 lakh acres. Of the available lands, 96.1 per cent have already been brought under cultivation. The culturable wastes amount only to 33 thousand acres. Most of this is in the Bhabua Subdivision where the construction of a large scale irrigation project is not an economic proposition. There is thus hardly any scope for a further extension of cultivation.

25. Size of holdings.—At the request of the Census Department, a sample survey of the size of holdings in the State was carried out in April, 1952 by the State Government of Agricultural Statistics. According to this survey, the average size of a holding in the Shahabad district is 4.19 acres including homesteads and other lands not available for cultivation. If cultivated lands alone are taken into account, the average size works out to 2.44 acres. At the time of the last Settlement (1907—16), the average size of holdings in the district was 5.43 acres. The statement below based on the results of the said sample survey, shows the distribution of one thousand agricultural holdings by size :—

Up to 0.5 acres ...	299
Exceeding 0.5 and up to 1 acre	162
Exceeding 1 and up to 2 acres	209
Exceeding 2 and up to 3 acres	103
Exceeding 3 and up to 4 acres	49
Exceeding 4 and up to 5 acres	27
Exceeding 5 and up to 10 acres	88
Exceeding 10 and up to 15 acres.	33
Exceeding 15 and up to 30 acres.	19
Exceeding 30 acres and less than 50 acres.	11
Total ...	1,000

Thus 67 per cent of all the holdings in the district are of not more than 2 acres in size, while holdings of not more than 5 acres each constitute about 85 per cent of the holdings in the district. And the figures for the size of the holding include not only cultivable lands but also homesteads, etc., which are not available for cultivation. There is no doubt, however, that one person might well be in possession of more than one holding. We may look at the problem from another angle. There are 4.62 lakh self-supporting persons among occupancy raiyats in the district. The average net area cultivated per self-supporting person of the occupancy raiyats works out to 3.75 acres.

26. Livestock.—The livestock Census of 1951 has revealed that the district has 99 cows, 69 she-buffaloes, 55 goats, 29 sheep and 43 poultry per thousand of its population. All kinds of cattle registered an increase over the previous livestock Census figures in 1945.

27. Industries.—20,627 persons or 2.46 per cent of the total number of economically active persons in the district are employed on the various manufactures and industries. There are in all 189 registered Factories employing 7,900 persons. These registered factories consist of rice, flour, oil and dal mills, sugar-mills, paper and paper-pulp manufacture, cement manufacture, general engineering, manufacture of chemical, etc. Thus the majority of the persons earning their livelihood through manufactures and industries, are employed on small and cottage industries.

SCHEME OF TABLES

The following tables in this Hand-book are based on the 1951 Census :—

(1) A—General Population Tables—

I.—Area, Houses and Population.

II.—Variation in population during fifty years.

III.—Towns and villages classified by population.

IV.—Towns classified by population with the variation since 1901.

V.—Towns arranged territorially with the population by Livelihood Classes.

(2) B—Economic Tables—

I.—Livelihood Classes and Sub-Class.

II.—Secondary Means of Livelihood.

III.—Employers, Employees and Independent Workers in Industries and Services by Divisions and Subdivisions.

(3) C—Household and Age (Sample) Tables—

I.—Household (size and composition).

II.—Livelihood Classes by Age Groups.

III.—Age and Civil condition.

IV.—Age and Literacy.

V.—Single Year Age Returns.

(4) D—Social and Cultural Tables—

I.—Language.

II.—Religion.

III.—Scheduled Castes and Tribes.

IV.—Migrants.

VII.—Livelihood Classes by Educational Standards.

(5) E—Summary figures for Subdivisions, Revenue Thanas and Police-Sations—

2. The A, B, D and E series of tables are all based on total count ; The C series tables have been prepared from a 10% random sample of the Census Slips.

3. Census Tracts—Reference to Census Tracts will be found in a large number of tables. Census Tracts were formed mainly for the convenience of distribution of work among sorting and compilation teams. In most cases, they correspond to Revenue Thanas. A list of Census Tracts is given below with names of Revenue Thanas and Police-Stations included in each.

4. Rural and Urban Statistics—These are also based on Census data.

5. Other Statistics—Other statistical tables are based on materials obtained from different departments. Every possible effort has been made to ensure correctness of the data. The sources from which the figures have been obtained, have been indicated briefly in notes appended to the tables, where necessary.

PART I

A-1—AREA, HOUSES AND POPULATION

This table shows for the District and for each Subdivision, the area, the number of towns and villages, the number of occupied houses, and the total urban and rural population, male and female.

2. The total area of the District has been shown in this table as 4,323 square miles only. This has been arrived at by totalling the figures of constituent units e.g., police-stations. The Surveyor-General of India has reported the area of the district as 4,406 square miles. The difference between the two figures is not large and can be ignored.

3. "Villages" in column 3 mean revenue villages or mauzas other than those which are wholly absorbed in towns, and uninhabited mauzas.

4. "Houses" in columns 5, 6 and 7 mean buildings or homesteads with separate main entrances, and not commensaral houses.

5. The urban population of the district is 180,579 ; and the urban-rural ratio is 1 : 14.

B-III—EMPLOYERS, EMPLOYEES AND INDEPENDENT WORKERS IN INDUSTRIES AND SERVICES, BY DIVISIONS AND SUBDIVISIONS

This table relates only to economically active persons whose principal means of livelihood is non-agricultural. Economically active persons are such self-supporting persons as derive their income from productive activities.

2. The scheme of classification adopted in this table is different from that of Tables I and II. Instead of the four non-agricultural classes, this table gives figures for industries and services classified under 10 Divisions and 88 Subdivisions.

3. Economically active persons shown in this table have been shown under three categories namely, (1) Employers, (2) Employees and (3) Independent workers. The numbers are separated by sexes. Totals have have been furnished for the District and for each Tract. Tracts for which the total figure under a Division or Subdivision is Nil, have not been shown under such Division or Subdivision.

4. Persons coming under non-agricultural livelihood categories, who derive their income otherwise than through productive activities and who are included under livelihood class VIII in table B-I., do not appear in this table. Their numbers are given below in five sub-groups :—

		Males	Females
(i)	Persons living principally on income from non-agricultural property.	36	26
(ii)	Persons living principally on pensions, remittances, scholarships and funds.	477	241
(iii)	Inmates of Jails, asylums, almshouses and recipients of doles	536	89
(iv)	Beggars and vagrants	396	229
(v)	All other persons living principally on income derived from non-productive activity.	37	102

The total of all industries and services in this table plus the total of sub-groups mentioned above is equal to the total number of self-supporting persons of all non-agricultural classes in Table B-I.

5. The scheme of classification adopted in this table is based on the Occupational Scheme of the 1931 census, but fairly extensive changes have been made with a view to simplify and improve the method of presentation and to secure comparability of data with the International Standard Industrial Classification adopted by the United Nations Organisation.

C—HOUSEHOLD AND AGE (SAMPLE) TABLES

In this series, there are five tables :—

C-I—Household (Size and Composition) ;

C-II—Livelihood Classes by Age Groups ;

C-III—Age and Civil Condition ;

C-IV—Age and Literacy ;

C-V—Single Year Age Returns.

2. All these tables are based on samples drawn randomly. Table C-I, Household (Size and Composition) is based on sample of 1 in every 25 households. Tables C-II to C-V are based on a 10 per cent sample extracted by taking every sixth slip as the first sample and selecting every tenth slip thereafter. The method of extraction of sample for Table C-I, is explained in the fly-leaf of that table.

3. 'Age' means number of completed years on the 1st March, 1951.

4. The size of the sample on which Tables C-II to C-V are based, is shown below :—

Persons	Males	Females
10.0%	10.1%	9.9%

C-I—HOUSEHOLD (SIZE

This table shows the distribution of sample households by size, composition of sample house-tion in sample households of the district with rural and urban break up.

2. A 'household' includes all the persons living together in the same house and having a

3. One household in every twenty-five was taken as a sample. The samples were selected the number of households in each village or town-ward by 25 and adding one to the

The sample households so selected were then divided into two series ; the first, third, fifth,
Figures in the table are the mean of the figures obtained from the two sets.

D—SOCIAL AND CULTURAL TABLES

In this series, there are seven Tables :—

D.I —Language.
- (i) —Mother Tongue.
- (ii) —Bilingualism.

D.II —Religion.

D.III —Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes.

D.IV —Migrants.

Subsidiary—Livelihood Classification of Immigrants.

D.VII —Livelihood Classes by Educational Standards.

D.I—LANGUAGES

(i)—Mother Tongue

This table shows the number of persons—males and females—in the District speaking different languages as mother tongue. The different languages returned have been grouped for convenience of study and comparability with past census data under the following broad heads :—

(1) Indo-Aryan ;

(2) Munda ;

(3) Dravidian ;

(4) Other languages of India ;

(5) Asiatic languages foreign to India ; and

(6) European languages.

Within each group, the languages have been arranged according to the number of speakers.

2. As at past censuses, figures for Urdu have been shown with Hindi in the Table. There were 164,916 returns of Urdu.

3. As in 1931, a large number of languages have been returned as mother tongue although the number of speakers of some was small. Languages with small numbers have been clubbed together under relevant classes as shown below :—

D.I (ii)—BILINGUALISM

This Table gives the number of persons who commonly use another Indian language in their every day life in addition to (and sometimes largely in supersession of) their mother tongue.

2. Column 2 gives the total number of persons who have as their mother tongue the language mentioned in column 1. Column 3 shows the total number of persons from among those shown in column 2, who use a subsidiary language.

The number of persons using different subsidiary languages has been shown in column 4 against each subsidiary language.

D-VII—LIVELIHOOD CLASSES BY EDUCATIONAL STANDARDS

This Table shows for the District and for each tract the number of males and females of different livelihood classes who are literate or educated.

2. 'Literates' that is persons who can read and write but have not passed the Middle or any higher examination, have been shown first. The number of persons who have passed the Middle and higher examinations has been shown thereafter separately for each grade or standard.

3. For arriving at totals for different standards, only such persons have been counted as have not passed a higher examination. Thus a person with the degree of Master of Arts or Science has been shown only under that head and not also under B. A. or B. Sc. or lower standards though he has no doubt also passed B. A./ B. Sc. and lower examinations.

4. Persons who have passed examinations, such as, Prathama, Madhyama, Sahityaratna, Visharad, Alim-Fazil, etc., have been shown under "Others".
