PREFACE

Since the commencement of the Census Operations in Sikkim in 1891, the Census of Sikkim has been taken alongwith the Census of India. The operations in Sikkim are arranged and conducted under the guidance of the census authorities of West Bengal. Till 1961 all the census figures used to be published alongwith those of West Bengal and consequently there was no census report as such on Sikkim. Government of Sikkim, for the first time, has made an effort in 1971 to bring out separate census report containing census tables and such other information as tabulated by the census authorities of West Bengal. The 1971 Census of Sikkim was carried out in accordance with the schedule reproduced at Appendix to this Preface.

The first requirement for taking census is a clear and precise knowledge of the boundaries of the territorial units of operations, such as districts, villages and towns. Some time in 1963, through a notification, Government of Sikkim divided the whole of Sikkim into four Districts for administrative purposes, and accordingly Namchi tahsil was reconstituted into Gyalshing district and Namchi district and similarly Gangtok tahsil was split up as Gangtok district and Mangan district. In the process certain areas were also adjusted and transferred to the newly created districts. The boundaries of the four districts were thus redefined. Till 1961 the enumeration block was the revenue collection block in charge of a Mondal. For the purpose of 1971 Census, each enumeration block was confined to a block panchayat area which consisted of, in most cases, more than one revenue collection block of a mondal. The enumeration blocks were again grouped into circles and each circle consisted of block panchayats with a maximum population of five thousand persons.

Some time in 1969, through another notification, Government constituted seven Bazar committees for the important marketing centres including Gangtok and therefore the census of these seven marketing centres was taken separately. These seven bazars have been treated as Towns for the purpose of census operations. The territorial boundaries of these seven towns were also properly demarcated.

To enable the census to be carried out correctly, Notional Maps of all block panchayats and towns were prepared plotting houses, duly numbering them both on the map as well as on the house itself at site.

A senior officer of the Government of Sikkim was appointed as Director, Census Operations, Sikkim in addition to his own duties. All the four Deputy Development Officers in the districts were designated as District Census Officers. Twentynine full-time Circle Supervisors were appointed to supervise the census work of the enumerators, who were chosen from among the literate persons of the areas concerned and from members of block panchayats. For the seven towns an officer of the Government was appointed as part-time Town Census Officer to supervise the work of Town Census Enumerators.

Although the census workers had tried to ensure accuracy, some errors might have crept in due to the obstinacy of some of the enumerated population. The enumerator had in such cases perforce to approach some one else to get the information. Whatever information we have collected and projected in the tables are all returns made by the individuals in course of conducting the census. So far as the Scheduled Castes are concerned, the returns of the individuals have been recorded in accordance with the Sikkim Government order declaring the following Castes as Scheduled Castes :

1 Kami
2 Damai
3 Sarki

Under the advice of the Director of Census Operations, West Bengal we have appended information in the form of Town and Village Directories which may be useful for future reference.

I owe a great deal to Mr. Bhaskar Ghose, I.A.S., Director, Census Operations, West Bengal for his invaluable assistance, guidance and advice without which perhaps I would not have had completed the Census of Sikkim. As Director of Census Operations, I was travelling a lonely path often misunderstood. Counting of people merely excites fun and at times doubts but rarely any sympathy. I am grateful to Mr. D. Dahdul, the former Chief Secretary to the Government of Sikkim, who encouraged and supported me during difficult times of uncertainty.

My grateful thanks are also due to Mr. B. Ray, Deputy Director of Census Operations, West Bengal and his staff for consolidating the returns and putting them in tabular forms appearing in this Volume. I may fail in my duty if I do not thank Mr. K. K. Chakrabarty, Assistant Registrar General, India, Census for his valuable advice.

Mr. Dean Gasper, former Editor, Sikkim Herald took pains to design the cover of this volume for which I am grateful.
