DISTRICT CENSUS HAND BOOKS

District Census Hand-books for each of the 43 Districts in Madhya Pradesh

PREFACE

The publication of District Census Hand-books, which was begun in the 1951 Census, represents a significant step in the process of making census statistics available for the smaller territorial units basic to executive and developmental administration. Apart from the fact that the proper implementation of policy depends on the ability of the administrative authorities concerned to quantify accurately the variables involved, it is at these levels that policies get really thoroughly tested; also, policies can fail—and probably have failed—because their statistical basis was weak. It is undoubtedly necessary that gaps in statistics at lower levels be filled as rapidly as possible. It was not possible at this Census to base all census statistics on the development block as the unit mainly because in 1961 there were many areas not till then covered by blocks. The coverage had become complete by about the middle of 1963 and it is not unlikely that the 1971 Census will recognise the block as the basic field unit as much for purposes of presentation as for operational purposes.

2. What we have tried to do in the 1961 Census Hand-books is to make them more informative by the inclusion of as many categories of non-census statistics as possible; some of these are climate, agriculture, co-operation, industry, banking, education, health etc. There is also an introductory note to each Hand-book high-lighting the more striking features. It has not been possible for the Census Organisation to check the accuracy of the figures supplied by various authorities; it is to be hoped that some other organisation, better equipped for the purpose, will take up this task.

3. For the seventeen districts of Mahakoshal (Part of erstwhile Madhya Pradesh) and for Panna and Tikamgarh districts of erstwhile Vindhya Pradesh, which are part of the present State of Madhya Pradesh, the area figures for districts and tahsils furnished by the Director of Land Records and presented in Table A-I are internally inconsistent in the sense that the tahsil areas do not add up to the district area. This inconsistency arose from the fact that, in the case of these districts, the district area includes, but the tahsil areas exclude, 'forest' area for which the tahsilwise breakup was not then available. Later on, while this Hand-book was in the press, the Director of Land Records brought out revised area figures for the year 1962-63 for tahsils and districts, which among other improvements, do not suffer from the defect of internal inconsistency even in case of these nineteen districts. Revision of Table A-I on the basis of these area figures was not feasible at this late stage; the only alternative was to print these revised area figures also in this Hand-book.

4. One unfortunate fact about these Hand-books is that they became available to the users rather late in the decade. This is partly due to the considerable time required for the collection of information from various authorities and partly to difficulties in printing. Owing to the fact that State presses, with a heavy back-log of printing weighing down on them, would find it impossible to print all the District Census Hand-books themselves, arrangements have been made for printing them in private presses. If these Hand-books are to have a useful life of more than four or five years of inter-censal decennium, more expeditious methods for the collection of non-census statistics, for the preparation and checking of the manuscripts and for printing will have to be devised.

5. The Census Organisation is grateful to the Government of Madhya Pradesh for having been so kind as to undertake the publication of these Hand-books and to the Superintendent, Government Printing and his organisation—particularly the Assistant Superintendent, Printing, Government Regional Press, Indore and his staff—for the printing arrangements made. The inspiration behind this ambitious venture is that of our indefatigable Registrar General, Shri Asok Mitra, to whom we are all deeply grateful. Our thanks are also due to the various authorities who supplied us with all the necessary statistics.

NOTES AND EXPLANATIONS

This note gives the meanings and explanations of terms and concepts used in this Handbook. This is necessary because, without a proper grasp of the meanings of such simple concepts as building, house, household, worker, etc., it is not possible to appreciate the data presented in the Handbook. Thus, one who does not know that an unpretentious hut in the thick of Bastar forests with unplastered bamboo walls and a thatch roof and with space hardly enough for two cots is not a whit less of a building than the Indian versions of the skyscrapers in one of the metropolitan cities, or that a central jail housing all manner of criminals and shady characters is as much a household as the household of the most pious and god-fearing citizen in the State, may not be able to appreciate what exactly the figures represent. Besides explaining the terms and concepts, the note also contains brief notes on the salient and peculiar features of some of the Census tables presented in this Handbook.

Census.—The Census in India is a decennial operation taking place in February-March of the first year of every decade. It ensures coverage of all members of the population irrespective of age. The operations constituting a Census involve, besides counting of heads, the counting of numerous attributes of the person counted. These are demographic, social, economic and cultural in nature. The number of these attributes regarding which information is recorded has been increasing from census to census and is limited only by considerations of cost, time and organisation.

Population.—The important thing about a population is that it is dynamic. It is a constantly changing entity. These changes take place by the natural processes of birth and death as well as by migration. A statement of population has therefore little sense unless the point of time to which it relates is also stated. A population figure is correct only for a particular point of time; and, even though in practice one may omit to indicate this point of time, one should none the less be clear about it. The population figures presented herein refer to the sunrise of 1st March, 1961, unless otherwise stated.

Rural-Urban Classification:—Data collected at a Census is usually presented separately for the rural and urban areas. A 'town' or a 'town-group' constitutes an urban area. A 'town' in the 1961 Census was either (i) a municipality, cantonment or corporation; or (ii) a habitation with a population at least of 5,000 with atleast three-fourths of the adult male population being engaged in non-agricultural pursuits. The rural-urban classification, being operationally cardinal and prior in point of time to the census count, had to be tackled earlier and a list of 219 towns in the State was therefore, prepared much earlier than the census proper. This included 28 habitations which were tentatively treated as towns, the intention being that, after the 1961 Census data became available, their cases would be re-examined. Later on, however, no modification was made in the list, even though 7 towns did not satisfy either the minimum population criterion or the one based on the ratio of non-agricultural adult males being 75% or greater. These are Gogaon in West Nimar, Datla Bandhi in Chhindwara (both under 5,000 in population); and, Icchawar, Patan, Pendra, Akaltara, Arang respectively in Sehore, Jabalpur, Bilaspur, Bilaspur, and Raipur Districts (not satisfying the economic criterion). The reason for not disturbing the original list of towns was that as many as 14 habitations which did not satisfy one or the other of the criteria laid down earlier managed to sneak into the list of towns as municipalities, and inclusion of seven more such towns was not supposed to introduce greater demographic distortion than was already present. The cases of Chachaura-Binaganj town in Guna District and Sardarpur-Rajgarh in Dhar District are peculiar in that each of these two municipal towns consists of two distinct habitations separated by 2 miles in the first and 3 miles in the second case.

All areas, which were not urban were rural. They consisted of 'villages'. A very large majority of the census villages were 'revenue villages', which had well demarcated or recognised boundaries, and which included not only the inhabited portion (or portions) but also agricultural land and uninhabited waste (or other) lands. The census village was thus not synonymous with a habitation or a dwelling; in fact, a village could contain two or more distinct habitations separated by considerable distances known variously as 'tola' or 'mazra' or 'para'. Besides, in many districts there were forest villages, situated inside Reserved forests and without clearly demarcated boundaries. The areas entered against these villages in the Village Directory are thus only approximate. It is to be noted that being, as observed by Martin [Census Superintendent (old) Madhya Pradesh, 1911 and Census Commissioner for India, 1921] arbitrary and irregular units of area, carved out chiefly for revenue and administrative purposes, there are many revenue villages which do not have any habitation. They are not, therefore, of much demographic interest, and their inclusion in the Village Directory is only for a proper tally of area aggregates.

A—General Population Tables:

There are four main tables and three appendices in this series.

Table A-1.—This table presents the basic figures relating to area, houses and population separately for the rural and urban areas of each district, each tahsil, and for each city, towngroup or town. The area figures used in the table for the district and the tahsils are those furnished by the State Director of Land Records. In case of the district, the area figures furnished in 1962 by the Surveyor-General, India are also given. The Surveyor-General does not furnish area figures for tahsils. In case of cities and towns the area figures are furnished by the local urban authority (if any) in charge of the municipal administration, or by the local revenue authorities. Except in case of Raipur and Sagar districts, there is no agreement between the area figures for the district furnished by the Director of Land Records and the Surveyor-General, India. These differences arise principally from the differences in the methods adopted by the two agencies in measuring and computing the area.

In the case of eighteen districts (Bastar, Raipur, Durg, Raigarh, Bilaspur, Surguja, Balaghat, Seoni, Chhindwara, Mandla, Narsimhapur, Jabalpur, Sagar, Hoshangabad, Betul, East Nimar, Tikamgarh and Panna), only the district 'total' and 'rural' figures for area include the forest area; the figures for forest area were not available for individual tahsils in these districts, and hence the tahsilwise area figures for these districts do not include forest area. This fact is important particularly for appreciating the district and tahsil population density figures of these districts. The population density (i.e., persons per square mile) given in column 4 of the table is calculated on the basis of the figures of area supplied by the State Directorate of Land Records.

Occupied Residential House.—This is a Census house which was actually occupied at the time of enumeration for residential purposes either partly or fully. The concept of 'Census house' together with the allied concepts of 'building' and 'household' are dealt with later in this note.

Town Group.—The introduction of the concept of "towngroup" is a new feature of the 1961 Census. One kind of 'towngroup' has its basis in what may be called demographic prognosis, this being that a particular group of towns is situated in such a way, and exhibits some interconnecting features of such a kind, that they can be considered a single demographic entity whose organic nature is likely to become more and more evident in the future. Examples are: Bhopal City with Bairagarh in the West and Heavy Electricals Township in the East; and Durg Town and Bhilai Industrial Township. The other type of towngroup is a group only in name in the sense that it represents a group of localities which geography unites but definition separates. Examples are Sagar Towngroup consisting of Sagar Municipality and Sagar Cantt., and Jabalpur Towngroup (consisting of Jabalpur Corporation, Jabalpur Cantt. and Khamaria). In both these instances, the urban complex is single and continuous, but as each corporation or cantonment is a separate town by definition, it gets split up in the Census into more than one town. In Madhya Pradesh there are six towngroups in all; three of them belong to the first type: Bhopal in Sehore District: Murwara in Jabalpur District and Durg in Durg District; the other three belong to the second type, Pachmarhi in Hoshangabad District, Sagar in Sagar District and Jabalpur in Jabalpur District.

Houseless & Institutional Population:—"Houseless population" means those who did not live and were not enumerated, in Census-houses at the last Census. Obviously these swell the ranks of the social destitutes who, to speak in every day parlance do not have even a roof over their heads, but live under the shade of trees or bridges or on pavements. "Institutional population" means the population that was enumerated in institutions at the last census i.e., in hostels, jails, boarding houses, hospitals etc.

Class of Towns.—Towns are classified into six classes as below according to their population sizes:—

Class	Population range
I	100,000 and above
II	50,000—99,999
III	20,000—49,999
IV	10,000—19,999
V	5,000—9,999
VI	Below 5,000

Towns of Class I are also known as Cities.

"Status" of a town means the authority in charge of its local urban administration. Thus a town could have a Municipal Corporation; a Municipality, a Cantonment Board, a Gram Panchayat, a Town or Notified Area Committee, etc.

B—(i) General Economic Tables.—This series includes 22 tables containing information on certain economic aspects of the population. The concepts involved have undergone significant changes as compared with the 1951 and earlier Censuses. In the 1951 and earlier censuses or at any rate in the last few censuses income or economic independence (and dependence) were treated as the criteria for denoting the economic status of a person. Separate account used to be taken of all persons who were economically independent and of those who were economically dependent. An intermediate category of economic semi-independence was also introduced in the 1931 Census. This consisted of the 'earning dependents' of the 1951 Census and even there the element of income was present. This income-based classification seems to have not infrequently resulted in a suppression of information relating to those who worked in household economic activities but did not actually earn any income like men other than the head of the household and women of the family or children working at the family cultivation or cottage industry but not earning any incomes. The 1961 Census introduced the concept of work and totally abandoned the 'income' approach. Thus all people who worked (i.e., were "economically active") including family workers who were not in receipt of any income, & working children who did not earn enough for their maintenance were treated as workers. On the other hand such persons as a receiver of rents on immovable property, or of interest on securities deposited in a bank, and doing no other work, were treated as non-workers. Persons professionally engaged in anti-social activities (i.e., thieves, robbers, prostitutes, beggars, etc.) were, however, not treated as workers. The approach to the concept of "work" was pragmatic and numerous illustrations were given to clarify the concept. The basis of work was held to be satisfied in the case of seasonal work i.e., work at cultivation, livestock, dairying or household industry if the person has had some regular work of more than one hour a day throughout the greater part of the working season. In the case of regular employment in any trade, profession, service, business or commerce the basis of work was satisfied if the person was employed during any of the fifteen days preceding the day on which he was visited by the Census enumerator. A person who was working but was absent from his work during those fifteen days or for a longer period owing to illness or other causes was treated as worker. Work included not only actual physical work but also effective supervision and direction of work.

The Working Categories:—The primary classification of the population is by means of a simple dichotomy into workers and non-workers. The former is further sub-divided into nine sub-classes or working categories of the Census. These are listed below; the correspondence with the Standard National Industrial Classification is also indicated.

	CENSUS WORKING CATEGORY	CORRESPONDING DIVISION OR MAJOR GROUP OR MINOR GROUP OF NIC
I	Workers in cultivation	Minor Groups 000, 001, 002, 003, 004,
II	Agricultural Labourers	The same as in I above
III	Workers in mining, quarrying, live-stock, forestry, fishing, hunting and plantations, orchards and allied activities	Major Groups 01, 02, 03 and 04 and Division 1; Minor Groups 005, 006, 007, 008, 009 (if not classifiable as household industry)
IV	Workers in household industry ...	Minor Groups 005 to 009, 013, 014, 015, 020 to 026, 031, 032, 040 to 048, 107, Divisions 2 & 3 (excepting Minor Groups 201, 217, 218, 232, 252, 260, 290, 324, 325, 338 and 380) if on a household scale
V	Workers in manufacturing other than household industry ...	Divisions 2 & 3
VI	Workers in construction ...	Division 4
VII	Workers in Trade and Commerce ...	Division 6
VIII	Workers in Transport Storage and Communications ...	Division 7
IX	Workers in other services ..	Divisions 5, 8 & 9

The only term requiring explanation is household industry, the others being self-explanatory. As regards household industry, a three-fold test was laid down, viz:—

(a) "Household Industry" should consist of manufacture, processing or servicing and may include sale but should not be confined simply to buying and selling. At least part of the goods offered for sale from the household should be manufactured or processed by members of the household.

(b) "Household Industry" should be on the household scale where the workers mainly will be the Head of the household himself and/or members of the household, the role of hired workers from outside being of secondary importance. Thus, in any Household Industry, members of the household should be in a position to lend a hand in the industry whenever they find the time in the course of their daily chores. Household Industry cannot, therefore, be on the scale of a registered factory but can use machinery and employ power like steam engine or oil engine or electricity to drive the machinery.

(c) Location also is important, for proximity decides participation by members of the household. In a village this participation is possible if the Household Industry is located at home or within the village because village organisation is such as makes it possible for members of the household to move about freely in the village to look after their work. In urban areas such free movement is not possible, and therefore, for household industry in urban areas we should consider only those industries which are located or at least the major part of whose work is located at home.

Class of Worker:—A worker, other than a cultivator, agricultural labourer or a worker at household industry could be: (i) an Employer, that is, who hires one or more persons in his work; (ii) an Employee, that is, who does his work under others for wages or salary in cash or kind; (iii) a Single Worker, that is, who is doing his work without employing others, except casually, and without the help of other members of the family, except casually (this includes workers working as members of a co-operative); and (iv) a Family Worker, that is, who is doing his work in his own family without wages or salary in cash or kind. A person could be an employee in a household industry also.

PRINCIPAL AND SECONDARY WORKER:

Table B-VII Part A and Part B involve the concepts of principal and secondary work. For every worker the principal work had to be indicated in the case of a person who was engaged in more than one work, and also the secondary work if he was engaged in two or more than two productive activities. The concepts of primary and secondary work had nothing to do with the income accruing to a person from his work. The principal work of a person was that activity which took up most of his time; similarly the secondary work (in case a person was engaged in two or more than two kinds of work) was that which took up less time than the principal work but greater than the other kinds of work. Unless specifically stated to the contrary in the table heading itself the tables in the Handbook are based on the principal work of a person.

Non-workers:—The non-working section of the population also was divided into eight classes according to the nature of their activities. Thus a non-worker could be (i) a full time student or child attending school, (ii) a person engaged in home duties (like a housewife or other adult female who does no other work) (iii) dependent including an infant or child not attending school, a person permanently disabled from work because of illness or old-age; (iv) a retired person who is not employed again, rentier, a person living on agricultural or non-agricultural royalty, rent or dividend, or any other person of independent means for securing which he does not have to work and who does no other work; (v) a beggar, vagrant or independent woman without indication of source of income and others of unspecified source of existence; (vi) a convict (not an undertrial who was to be recorded for the work he did before being admitted to Jail); (vii) persons who were seeking employment for the first time; and (viii) persons who previously had worked, but were out of employment, and were again seeking work.

Education Levels:—A person was treated as illiterate if he did not satisfy the test of literacy, this meaning the ability both of reading and writing. The test of reading was held to be satisfied if a person could read printed matter or easily legible manuscripts. The test of writing was the ability to write a simple letter. The minimum educational level is primary or junior basic, and this includes all persons who have passed this examination but have not passed the next higher level examination i.e., matriculation or higher secondary. Persons who had formal schooling but had not passed the primary or junior basic level examination were literates without any educational levels. A person belonging to any particular educational level means a person who has passed the examination denoting that level.

INDUSTRIAL AND OCCUPATIONAL CLASSIFICATION OF WORKERS:

Workers have also been classified according to their occupation and industry. The concepts of 'industry' and 'occupation' are of fundamental importance in connection with all economic activity and it is necessary that they should not be confused with each other. By "industry" is meant the sector of economic activity in which a worker is engaged e.g., the textile industry, mining industry, etc., whereas by 'occupation' is meant the exact function that a worker performs in that sector e.g., fitter, carpenter, typist, etc. Occupation thus is "a trade, profession or type of work performed by an individual independent of the worker's industry, status or years of experience".

THE INDIAN STANDARD INDUSTRIAL CLASSIFICATION (I. S. I. C.):

The industrial classification used in some of the economic tables of this hand-book is the 'Standard Industrial Classification' prepared by the Ministry of Labour and Employment, Government of India. Under this scheme of classification, the whole range of economic activity is divided into nine 'divisions', and a code number is given to each. The first digit of the code number of any specific economic activity stands for the 'Division' under which that activity is classified. Each division is then divided into a number of major groups not exceeding ten. The first and second digits of the code number represent the division and the major group into which an economic activity is classified. Each major group is again sub-divided into a number of minor-groups not exceeding ten, and the first, second and third digits in the code number of any economic activity represent the division, the major group and the minor group into which it is classified. To illustrate, the industrial 'code', '261', represents an economic activity corresponding to minor group 261 in major-group 26 of Division 2. A reference to the Standard Industrial Classification will show that the minor group code stands for the economic activity 'Dying and bleaching of silk' in the major group 'Textiles Silk' of the Division: 'Manufacturing'. The 'Divisions', 'Major Groups' and 'Minor Groups' of the Standard Industrial Classification are printed immediately after this note as Appendix I.

NATIONAL CLASSIFICATION OF OCCUPATIONS (NCO):

Table B-V gives the occupational classification by sex of persons at work other than cultivation. This classification is based on the 'National Classification of Occupations' prepared by the Ministry of Labour and Employment, Government of India. Each occupation is represented by a code number containing a number of digits (extending in the NCO upto 5). We have used only the three digit Code number for classifying occupation. All occupations are divided into ten divisons to each of which a digit is allotted. The first digit of the code number of an occupation stands for the 'Division' into which it is classified. Each division is then sub-divided into a number of groups not exceeding ten. The first and second digits of the code number represent the 'Division' and 'Group' into which an occupation is classified. Each group again is divided into a number of families not exceeding ten and the first three digits of the code number stand for the division, group and family into which an occupation is classified. To illustrate, the code number 911 stands for the family 911 (Cooks, cook-bearers, domestic and institutional) included in the Group 91 (Housekeepers, Cooks, Maid and related workers) included in the 'Division' 9 (Service, Sport and Recreation workers). The Divisions, Groups, and Families of the National Classification of Occupations are printed after this note as Appendix II.

It may be mentioned that the three digit industrial code can easily be extended into a four-digit code on the principles illustrated earlier to secure greater precision in the classification of the economic activitity of a worker. This has in fact been done in case of workers at household industry, and these four-digit code numbers have been used in Table B XIV Part B.

B—(ii) Household Economic Tables:—Tables belonging to this series differ from others in two respects: (i) they have been prepared from information recorded on the household schedules, while the other tables are prepared from information recorded on the individual slips; (ii) whereas the other tables are based on the total population, the tables in this series are prepared from the data contained in a 20% sample of all households. The instructions for selecting the sample are reproduced below:—

"Every fifth household from the starting random household will be selected to make a 20% sample. The sample household will be marked continuously for rural areas of a tahsil/taluka and for urban areas of a district i.e., households left over in a household pad should be carried over to the next household schedule pad for the selection of sample households.

"Before making the sample households the household schedule pads should be arranged in the order of location code numbers of villages in a Taluka or Tahsil in the case of a rural area and in the order of location code numbers of towns in a district for urban areas. The first sample household should be chosen randomly among the first five households in the first household schedule pad and stamped (s) as selected. This random number (random start) should be chosen separately for rural areas of each taluka/tahsil and for the urban area of the district. From the first random household every fifth household should be continuously stamped as selected..... The sample should be continuously marked for all the pads of villages in a tahsil and urban areas in a district. If in a particular household schedule pad at the end, some households (these will be four or less) are left after marking of the sample household, the housedolds left over should be carried over to the next household schedule pad and the appropriate household in that pad should be marked as a sample household".

C.—Social and Cultural Tables:

This series contains 8 tables of which Table C-1 is prepared from data abstracted from the 20% sample of households.

Marital Status:—As regards marital status a person could be (i) never married, (ii) married, (iii) widowed and (iv) divorced or separated. The figures given do not necessarily indicate the legal position. Thus, persons who lived together as man and wife and who were regarded as such by society were treated as 'married' even though there might not be any legally valid marriage between them.

Age.—The age of a person was recorded in completed years as on the last birth day at the time of enumeration, so that a child who had not completed a year of its existence was recorded as of age '0' Inspite of the best efforts, distortion of ages is common phenomenon in Indian Census. This distortion is ascribable to the combined effect of a variety of causes like, for example, digit-preference, age-bias and estimation error and its most obvious manifestation is the heaping of the ages at digits ending in 0 or 5 and in even rather than in odd numbers.

Mother Tongue:—Mother tongue is the language spoken in childhood by a person's mother to the person, or mainly spoken in the household.

Religion:—Separate figures are given only for the six main religions: Hindu, Muslim, Jain, Sikh, Christian and Buddhist. Figures for persons professing other religions have been clubbed together under the head: Other Religions and persuasions'

Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes:—In view of the constitutional safeguards guaranteed to persons belonging to scheduled castes and scheduled tribes with a view to ameliorate their social and economic condition, basic census figures are for the first time being published separately for each scheduled caste and scheduled tribe. A scheduled caste or a scheduled tribe means a caste or a tribe included in the Order issued by the President of India under Articles 341 (1) and 342 (1) of the Constitution, amended, if necessary in accordance with Articles 341 (2) and 342 (2) thereof. It should be remembered that the population of a particular scheduled caste or tribe as given in the tables does not necessarily mean the entire population of that caste or tribe in the district. This is so because scheduling of a caste or tribe under the Constitution is territorial so that a caste or a tribe scheduled in a district, (or a tahsil or tahsils of a district) is not necessarily a scheduled caste in other districts (or other tahsils of the same district). Thus Gond is a scheduled tribe in all tahsils of Jabalpur District except Jabalpur Tahsil so that the figures for Gond population in Jabalpur District exclude the Gonds of Jabalpur Tahsil. Secondly, some of the scheduled tribes have not been given independent status in some parts of the State by the Order but have been clubbed together with some major tribe, while, in other parts of the State, they have not been so clubbed but have been included as distinct scheduled tribes. Thus, in the districts of the Mahakoshal region of the State, the tribe Agaria has been clubbed, along with many another, with Gond as the latter's sub-tribe. In these districts, therefore, figures relating to Agaria tribe, whose ethnic identity with Gond is controversial, do not appear independently in the tables of these districts, but are included in the figures for Gond. In the Vindhya Pradesh region, however, Agaria is Scheduled tribe in its own right and in the districts belonging to that region Agaria population appears separately in the relevant tables.

Religion of Scheduled Castes and Tribes:—A scheduled caste can exist only in Hindu and Sikh religions and in no other religion. A scheduled tribe, however, may be found in any religion.

E—Housing Tables:—The Handbook includes five tables on housing. In using these tables, it should be remembered that they are prepared from the data on households abstracted from the 'Houselists'. Tables E-I and E-III are based on the full count while table E-II, E-IV and E-V are prepared from a 20% sample of households entered in the Houselists. Houselisting was non-synchronous with census proper, having taken place in the month of September-October, 1960, about five month before the reference date of the Census. Also, the population of households entered in the houselists is not necessarily identical with the population of households in respect of which household schedules were filled at the time of the Census. Thus the samples of households drawn from the household schedule and from the house lists are different samples.

The instruction for drawing the 20% sample of households from the houselists are reproduced below:—

"Before marking the sample households the Houselists should be arranged in order of location code numbers in the case of rural areas for tahsil etc., and in the case of urban areas other than towns with population of 50,000 and over. In the case of towns with population of 50,000 and over the Houselists should be arranged in order of blocks. The first sample household should be chosen randomly among the first five households in the first Houselist. From that every fifth household from the first random household should be continuously marked..... The sample should be marked continuously for all the Houselists. If in a particular Houselist at the end two households are left after the marking of the sample households then these households should be carried over to the next Houselist and the third household in that list should be marked as sample households".

Census House and Census Households:—The concepts of "building" "house" and "household" are important and differ somewhat from their connotations in common speech. A building refers to the entire structure on the ground. A census house is a structure or part of structure inhabited or vacant or a dwelling, a shop, a shop-cum-dwelling or place of business, workshop, school etc., with a separate entrance. A census house was thus a building, or part of a building with a separate entrance. A census house could have a variety of uses, residential as well as non-residential; or it might be vacant (at the time of houselisting).

A household was defined as "a group of persons who commonly live together and would take their meals from a common kitchen unless the exigencies of work prevented any of them from doing so." A household necessarily lived in a census house or part of a census house. The definition of a household was broad enough to include all persons living together in a census-house and dining from the same kitchen, even if they were not related to one another. Such were the institutional households, like jails, hostels, hospitals etc. The house in which a household lived could either be owned or rented. All census-houses which were not owned by the households living in them were treated as 'rented' even though no rent was being actually paid.

"Factory" and "Workshop":—As is clear from its definition, a Census house could be a workshop. A workshop is a place where some kind of production, repair or servicing goes on, or where goods or articles are made and sold. A bigger workshop which was either registered under the Indian Factories Act or was of the scale of a registered factory was returned as a factory. For a manufacturing, repairing or servicing establishment to be registered under the Indian Factories Act, it should have ten or more workers if using power and twenty or more workers if not using power.

VILLAGE DIRECTORY AND ITS APPENDICES:

Village Directory:—The Village Directory corresponds to the Primary Census Abstract of the 1951 Census. It gives for each village of the district: (a) information relating to area, census houses, households, scheduled castes and scheduled tribes and literacy; and (b) the classification of the population into workers and non-workers, and again 'workers' into their 'Industrial Categories' separately for both the sexes. For facilitating comparison with the Census Handbook of 1951 the serial number at which the village is to be found in 1951 Handbook is also given. A new feature introduced in this Census is the presentation of additional information about each village relating to schools, hospitals, child and maternity welfare centres, medical practitioners, electricity, post and telegraph offices etc. This has been done by entering symbols against the name of each village. Another novel feature is the presentation in eleven appendices of useful information relating to villages and towns i.e., industrial establishments, places situated on bus routes, or within five miles of a railway station, places having pucca wells, markets, public reading rooms, drains etc.

To enable the reader to locate the village in the Village Directory without much difficulty, an alphabetical index of village names is given. This gives for each village the 1961 location code number of the village (in the Village Directory, villages are arranged according to their Location Code Numbers); and its location code number in the 1951 Hand-book.

APPENDIX—I

STANDARD INDUSTRIAL CLASSIFICATION

This classification groups the industries into

9 Divisions

45 Major Groups

343 Minor Groups

The divisions, major groups and minor groups with their Code numbers are listed below.

Major Group (Code)	Description	Minor Group (Code)
	Division 0—Agriculture, Livestock, Forestry, Fishing and Hunting.
00	Field Produce and Plantation Crops:—
	Production of cereal crops (including Bengal gram) such as rice, wheat, jowar, bajra, maize	000
	Production of pulses such as arhar, moong, masur, urd, khesari, other gram	001
	Production of raw jute and kindred fibre crops	002
	Production of raw cotton and kindred fibre crops	003
	Production of oilseeds, sugarcane and other cash crops	004
	Production of other crops (including vegetables) not covered above	005
	Production of fruits and nuts in plantation, vines & orchards	006
	Production of wood, bamboo, cane reeds, thatching grass etc.	007
	Production of juice by tapping palms	008
	Production of other agricultural produce (including fruits and nuts not covered by code number 006 & flowers) not covered above	009
01	Plantation Crops:—
	Production of tea in plantation	010
	Production of coffee in plantation	011
	Production of rubber in plantation	012
	Production of tobacco in plantation	013
	Production of ganja, cinchona, opium	014
	Production of other plantation crops not covered above	015
02	Forestry and Logging:—
	Planting, replanting and conservation of forests	020
	Felling and cutting of trees and transportation of logs	021
	Preparation of timber	022
	Production of fuel including charcoal by exploitation of forest	023
	Production of fodder by exploitation of forests	024
	Production of gums, resins, lac, barks, herbs, wild fruits and leaves by the exploitation of forests	025
	Production and gathering of other forest products not covered above	026
03	Fishing:—
	Production of fish by fishing in sea	030
	Production of fish by fishing in inland waters including the operation of fish farms and fish hatcheries	031
	Production of pearls, conch, shells, sponges by gathering or lifting from sea, river, pond	032
04	Livestock and Hunting:—
	Production and rearing of livestock (large heads only) mainly for milk and animal power such as cow, buffalo, goat	040
	Rearing of sheep and production of wool	041
	Rearing and production of other animals (mainly for slaughter) such as pig	042
	Production of ducks, hens and other small birds, eggs by rearing and poultry farming	043
	Rearing of bees for the production of honey, wax, and collection of honey	044
	Rearing of silk worms and production of cocoons and raw silk	045
	Rearing of other small animals and insects	046
	Trapping of animals or games propagation	047

Major Group (Code)	Description	Minor Group (Code)
	Production of other animal husbandry products such as skin, bone, ivory & teeth	048
	Division 1—Mining and Quarrying:—
10	Mining and Quarrying:—
	Mining of coal	100
	Mining of iron ores	101
	Mining of gold and silver ores	102
	Mining of manganese	103
	Mining of mica	104
	Mining of other non-ferrous metallic ores	105
	Mining of crude petroleum and natural gas	106
	Quarrying of stone (including slate), clay, sand, gravel, limestone	107
	Mining of chemical earth such as soda ash	108
	Mining and Quarrying of non-metallic products not classified above such as precious and semi-precious stones, asbestos, gypsum, sulphur, asphalt	109
	Division 2 & 3—Manufacturing:—
20	Foodstuffs:—
	Production of rice, atta, flour, etc. by milling, Dehusking and processing of crops and foodgrains	200
	Production of sugar and syrup from sugarcane in mills	201
	Production of indigenous sugar, gur, from sugarcane or palm juice and production of candy	202
	Production of fruit products such as jam, jelly, sauce and canning and preservation of fruits	203
	Slaughtering, preservation of meat and fish and canning of fish	204
	Production of bread, biscuits, cake and other bakery products	205
	Production of butter, ghee, cheese and other dairy products	206
	Production of edible fats and oils (other than hydrogenated oil)	207
	Production of hydrogenated oils (Vanaspati)	208
	Production of other food products such as sweet-meat and condiments, muri, murki, chira, khoi, cocoa, chocolate, toffee, lozenge	209
21	Beverages:—
	Production of distilled spirits, wines, liquor from alcoholic malt, fruits and malts in distillery and brewery	210
	Production of country liquor	211
	Production of indigenous liquor such as toddy, liquor from mahua, palm juice	212
	Production of other liquors not covered above	213
	Production of aerated and mineral water	214
	Production of ice	215
	Production of ice-cream	216
	Processing of tea in factories	217
	Processing of coffee in curing works	218
	Production of other beverages	219
22	Tobacco Products:—
	Manufacture of bidi	220
	Manufacture of cigars and cheroots	221
	Manufacture of cigarette and cigarette tobacco	222
	Manufacture of hookah tobacco	223
	Manufacture of snuff	224
	Manufacture of jerda and other chewing tobacoo	225
	Manufacture of other tobacco products	226
23	Textile—Cotton:—
	Cotton ginning, cleaning, pressing and baling	230
	Cotton spinning (other than in mills)	231
	Cotton spinning and weaving in mills	232
	Cotton dyeing, bleaching	233
	Cotton weaving in power looms	234
	Cotton weaving in handlooms	235
	Manufacturing of khadi textile in handlooms	236
	Printing of cotton textile	237
	Manufacturing of cotton nets	238
	Manufacturing of cotton, cordage, rope and twine	239

Major Group (Code)	Description	Minor Group (Code)
24	Textile—Jute:—
	Jute pressing and baling	240
	Jute spinning and weaving	241
	Dyeing and bleaching of jute	242
	Printing of jute textile	243
	Manufacture of other products like rope, cordage from jute and similar fibre such as hemp, mesta	244
25	Textile—Wool:—
	Wool baling and pressing	250
	Wool cleaning and processing (scouring)	251
	Wool spinning and weaving in mill	252
	Wool spinning other than in mills	253
	Wool weaving in powerloom	254
	Wool weaving in handloom	255
	Embroidery and art work in woollen textile	256
26	Textile—Silk:—
	Spinning and weaving of silk textile in mill	260
	Dyeing and bleaching of silk	261
	Spinning of silk other than in mills	262
	Weaving of silk textile by power loom	263
	Weaving of silk textile by handloom	264
	Printing of silk textile	265
	Manufacture of silk cordage, rope and twine	266
27	Textile—Miscellaneous:—
	Manufacture of carpet and all other similar type of textile products	270
	Manufacture of hosiery and other knitted fabrics and garments	271
	Embroidery and making of crepe lace and fringes	272
	Making of textile garments including raincoats and headgear	273
	Manufacture of made up textile goods except wearing apparel such as curtains, pillow cases, bedding materials, mattress, textile bags	274
	Manufacture of water-proof textile products such as oil cloth, tarpaulin	275
	Manufacture and recovery of all types of fibres for purposes of padding, wadding, and upholstery filling	276
	Manufacture of coir and coir products	277
	Manufacture of umbrellas	278
	Processing and manufacture of textile products not covered above	279
28	Manufacture of Wood and Wooden Products:—
	Sawing and planing of wood	280
	Manufacture of wooden furniture & fixtures	281
	Manufacture of structural wooden goods (including treated timber) such as beams, posts, doors, windows.	282
	Manufacture of wooden industrial goods other than transport equipment such as bobbin and similar equipment and fixtures	283
	Manufacture of other wooden products such as utensils, toys, artwares	284
	Manufacture of veneer and plywood	285
	Manufacture of plywood products such as tea chest	286
	Manufacture of boxes and packing cases other than plywood	287
	Manufacture of materials from cork, bamboo, cane, leaves and other allied products	288
	Manufacture of other wood and allied products not covered above	289
29	Paper and paper Products:—
	Manufacture of pulp from wood, rags, wastepaper and other fibres and the conversion of such pulp into any kind of paper and paper board in mill	290
	Manufacture of pulp from wood, rags, wastepaper and other fibres and the conversion of such pulp into any kind of paper and paper board handmade	291
	Manufacture of products, such as paper bags, boxes, cards, envelopes and moulded pulp goods from paper, paper board and pulp	292
30	Printing and Publishing:—
	Printing and publishing of newspapers and periodicals	300
	Printing and publishing of books	301

Major Group (Code)	Description	Minor Group (Code)
	All other types of printing including lithography, engraving, etching, block making and other work connected with printing industry	302
	All types of binding, stiching, sizing and other allied work connected with binding industry	303
31	Leather and Leather Products:—
	Currying, tanning and finishing of hides and skins and preparation of finished leather	310
	Manufacture of shoes and other leather footwear	311
	Manufacture of clothing and wearing apparel (except footwear) made of leather and fur	312
	Manufacture of leather products (except those covered by Code Nos. 311, 312), such as leather upholstery, suitcases, pocket books, cigarette and key cases, purses, saddlery, whip and other articles	313
	Repair of shoes and other leather foot-wear	314
	Repair of all other leather products except footwear	315
32	Rubber, Petroleum and Coal Products:—
	Manufacture of tyres and tubes	320
	Manufacture of rubber footwear	321
	Manufacture of rubber goods used
	Manufacture of all kinds of other for industrial purpose	322
	rubber products from natural or synthetic rubber including rubber raincoat	323
	Production of petroleum, kerosene and other petroleum products in petroleum refineries	324
	Production of coaltar and coke in coke oven	325
	Manufacture of other coal and coaltar products not covered elsewhere	326
33	Chemicals and Chemical Products:—
	Manufacture of basic industrial chemicals such as acids, alkalis & their salts not elsewhere specified	330
	Manufacture of dyes, paints, colours and varnishes	331
	Manufacture of fertilizers	332
	Manufacture of ammunition, explosives and fire works	333
	Manufacture of matches	334
	Manufacture of medicines, pharmaceutical preparations, perfumes, cosmetics and other toilet preparations except soap	335
	Manufacture of soap and other washing and cleaning compounds	336
	Manufacture of turpentine, synthetic, resin, and plastic products and materials (including synthetic rubber)	337
	Manufacture of common salt	338
	Manufacture of other chemicals & chemical products not covered above (including inedible oils and fats)	339
34	Non-metallic Mineral Products other than Petroleum and Coal:—
	Manufacture of structural clay products such as bricks, tiles	340
	Manufacture of cement and cement products	341
	Manufacture of lime	342
	Manufacture of structural stone goods, stone dressing and stone crushing	343
	Manufacture of stonewares, other than images	344
	Manufacture of stone images	345
	Manufacture of plaster of paris and its products	346
	Manufacture of asbestos products	347
	Manufacture of mica products	348
35	Manufacture of earthenware and earthen pottery:—	350
	Manufacture of chinaware and crockery	351
	Manufacture of porcelain and its products	352
	Manufacture of glass bangles and beads	353
	Manufacture of glass apparatus	354
	Manufacture of earthen image, busts and statues	355
	Manufacture of earthen toys and artwares except those covered by code No. 355	356
	Manufacture of glass and glass products except optical and photographic lenses and glass products covered above	357

Major Group (Code)	Description	Minor Group (Code)
35	Manufacture of other non-metallic mineral products not elsewhere specified	359
36	Basic Metals and their products except Machinery and Transport Equipment:—
	Manufacture of iron and steel including smelting, refining, rolling, conversion into basic forms such as billets, blooms, tubes, rods	360
	Manufacture including smelting, refining of non-ferrous metals and alloys in basic forms	361
	Manufacture of armaments	362
	Manufacture of structural steel products such as joist, rail, sheet, plate	363
	Manufacture of iron and steel furniture	364
	Manufacture of brass and bell metal products	365
	Manufacture of aluminium products	366
	Manufacture of metal products (other than of iron, brass, bell metal and aluminium) such as tin can	367
	Enamelling, galvanising, plating, (including electroplating) polishing and welding of metal products	368
	Manufacture of sundry hardwares such as G. I. pipe, wire net, bolt, screw, bucket, cutlery (This will also include the manufacture of sundry ferrous engineering products done by jobbing engineering concerns which cannot be classified in major groups 36, 37, 38 and 39).	369
37	Machinery (All kinds other than transport) and Electrical Equipment:—
	Manufacture and assembling of machinery (other than electrical) except textile machinery	370
	Manufacture and assembling of prime mover and boilers, other than electrical equipment, such as diesel engines, road rollers, tractors	371
	Manufacture of machine tools	372
	Manufacture of textile machinery and accessories	373
	Manufacture of heavy electrical machinery and equipment such as motors, generators, transformers	374
	Manufacture of electric lamps and fans	375
	Manufacture of insulated wires and cables	376
	Manufacture of all kinds of battery	377
	Manufacture of electronic equipment such as radio, microphone	378
	Manufacture of electric machinery and apparatus, appliances not specified above	379
38	Transport Equipment:—
	Manufacture, assembly and repairing of locomotives	380
	Manufacture of wagons, coaches, tramways and other rail road equipment other than that covered by Code No. 363	381
	Manufacture and assembling of motor vehicles of all types (excepting motor engines)	382
	Manufacture of motor vehicles engines parts and accessories	383
	Repairing and servicing of motor vehicles	384
	Manufacture of bicycles and tricycles and accessories such as saddle, seat frame, gear	385
	Building and repairing of water transport equipment such as ships, boats, and manufacture of marine engines	386
	Manufacture & repair of air transport equipment including aeroplanes, aeroengines	387
	Repairing of bicycles and tricycles	388
	Manufacture of other transport equipment not covered above such as animal drawn and hand drawn vehicles	389
39	Miscellaneous manufacturing Industries:
	Manufacture of optical instruments and lenses, opthalmic goods and photographic equipment and supplies	390
	Manufacture of scientific, medical and surgical instruments and equipment and supplies	391
	Assembling and repairing of watches and clocks	392

Major Group (Code)	Description	Minor Group (Code)
	Manufacture of jewellery, silverware and wares using gold and other precious metals	393
	Manufacture and tuning of Musical Instruments	394
	Manufacture of stationery articles not covered elsewhere such as pencil, pen-holder, fountain pen	395

INTRODUCING THE DISTRICT

by

K.C. DUBEY

Deputy Superintendent of Census Operations, Madhya Pradesh

Bilaspur, the biggest district in the State in respect of population and the fourth largest in area, is situated in the eastern part of Madhya Pradesh between latitudes 21° 37′ and 23° 7′ N and longitudes 81° 12′ and 83° 40′ E. The district may be roughly conceived as oval in shape with a small protuberance in the south-east. Its greatest length from north to south is 80 miles and the greatest width from east to west is 190 miles. The area of the district is 7,615 sq. miles or 19,723 sq. kms. according to figures furnished by Surveyor General whereas according to the State Survey Department, the area is 7,777.0 Sq. miles or 20,144.8 sq. kms. the latter figures thus being greater by 2.1%.

Bilaspur District is bounded on the north by Surguja and Shahdol Districts, in the east by Raigarh District, in the south by Raipur and Durg Districts and in the west by Mandla District.

Upto 1905, Bilaspur District covered a much greater area (8,341 sq. miles). During 1905-06 two important changes took place : Sambalpur District ceded to Bengal in 1905 and consequent on this, Malkharoda and Chandarpur—Padampur estates thereof, (area : 333 Sq. miles) were transferred to Bilaspur District. In 1906, Durg District was newly constituted and an area of 363 miles of Bilaspur was transferred to Durg and at the same time 706 sq. miles area was transferred to Raipur District. During the decade 1931—41, the district area was further reduced by the transfer of 80 sq. miles to the "New Province" of Orissa which was constituted in 1936. During the decade 1951—1961, Sakti tahsil was transferred from Raigarh District to Bilaspur with consequential and other major internal changes. This new Sakti Tahsil was expanded by the addition of 283 villages (42.32 sq. miles) of Janjgir Tahsil and 52 villages (49.20 sq. miles) of Kharsia Tahsil (which was abolished) of Rajgarh District; also, 17 villages were transferred from Bilaspur Tahsil to Mungeli Tahsil. 2 villages from Janjgir Tahsil were transferred to Raigarh Tahsil of Raigarh District.

The Name

The district is named after its headquarters. Bilaspur town is said to have been founded about 400 years ago by a fisherwomen named Bilasa Kewatin. Bilasa was married woman but was desired by the king of the country and to escape from yielding to him, she burnt herself alive, her husband voluntarily sharing her fate. The habitation founded by her come to be thus known after her name.

Tahsils, Towns and villages

Bilaspur District is divided in to 5 tahsil viz, Mungeli, Bilaspur. Katghora, Janjgir and Sakti. According to 1961 Census there are ten towns in the district. Out of these, 5 towns have been treated so far the first time in 1961; in 1951, the district had 5 towns. The 'new' towns are Pendra, Takhatpur, Gaurela, Korba Mining Colony and Akaltara. These 10 towns are classified as below :

Class II (i.e. population range 50,000—99,999)—Bilaspur.

Class IV (i.e. Population range (10,000—19,999)—Mungeli, Korba Mining Colony and Champa.

Class V (i.e. population range 5,000—9,999)—Kota, Pendra, Takhhatpur, Gaurela, Akaltara and Sakti.

There are in all 3,529 inhabited and 93 uninhabited villages in the district. The largest number of villages are in Mungeli Tahsil but in respect of population Bilaspur Tahsil, is bigger than Mungeli. Some basic statistics of these tahsils are—

Geology—

Broady speaking, the formations of Bilaspur district could be classified into 3 systems—viz.

Gondwana

Cuddapah

Dharwars and Archaens

If one could conceive of a line running horizontally from Pandaria to Ratanpur through Lormi and Kota, then turning south-east to Kotgarh and then again assuming a horizontal trend to the east, the boundary between the Cuddapah and the other two systems has roughly been demarcated. South of this line lie rocks belonging to the Cuddapah system. Above the line the western half of the district is covered by the Archaens and Dharwars and the eastern half by the Gondwanas.

The Archaens are exposed in the north-western part of the district and have given a rugged topography to this region. The Dharwars (Chilpi series) are exposed between the Archaens and the Cuddapahs above Pandaria and the outcrop tapers towards Kota. The Archaens consist of a variety of crystalline rocks and some good exposures of these may be seen on the sides of railway-cuttings and on stream-beds as the train winds its way between Khongsara and Khodri on Bilaspur-Katni line.

The southern flat area is occupied by horizontal or gently dipping purple shales and limestones belonging to the Raipur series of the Cuddapah system. Extending from about 10 miles east of Bilaspur upto the eastern most boundary of the district, is exposed an outcrop of the Chandarpur sandstone belonging to the lower arenaceous division of the Cuddapah system known as the Chandapur series.

The Gondwana rocks from a portion of a vast area of these rocks further east. The beds, or Talchirs as they are called, include greenish sandstone and shales through which are scattered large boulders regarded as of glacial origin. The Barakars (another group of Gondwana rocks) include white or grey sandstones interbedded with shales and coal-seams. There are two patches of these rocks along the Mand and Hasdo valleys, constituting the Mand and Korba coal-fields, separated from each other by a lofty hill mass constituted by the massive red sandstones of the Middle Gondwana or Kamthi.

Of these rocks, the Cuddapah are mostly covered by alluvial and lateritic deposits ; their outcrops are therefore not prominently exposed.

Geography

The district is bounded on the north, west and east by ranges of hills while the southern border is open and for the greater part marked by rivers— the Mahanadi and the Seonath. The eastern outer wall of the Satpuras, known as the Maikal range, runs from the north-east to south-west along the north-western border. Irregular ranges of hills alternating with small elevated plateaus stretch along the northern part of the district. On the eastern border, the Sakti hills lead almost down to the Mahanadi, thus completing the semi-circular chain by which the wide plain country is surrounded. In the central plain region there are two isolated ridges— the Sonthi and the Dalha and the latter rises abruptly from near Akaltara and is visible from long distances.

The general slope of the district is from north-west to south-east. The level of the plain country decreases from about 1,000 feet in the west of Mungeli Tahsil to 750 feet at the south-eastern extremity of the district. Bilaspur town stands at an elevation of 853 feet, Ratanpur is 993 feet, and Bitkuli is 827 feet. The highest point in the district is Lilwani (3,696 feet). Other points of elevation are Palma (3,431 feet) in erstwhile Lapha Zamindari, Bijora hill (3,346 feet) Kerela (3,322 feet), Mahadeo (3,246 feet) Gaurdnari (3,250 feet) Pankara (3,222 feet), and Simkide (3,128 feet). The Chitaurgarh hill also known as Laphagarh hill is 3,244 feet high and at one time occupied a very important position. In the plain region the two isolated hills—Sonthi and and Dalha—referrad to before, are 2,649 and 2,447 feet respectively.

Thus bounded by a semi-circle chain of hills lies the open undulating plain, closely cultivated and thickly populated. It is this region which forms the northern portion of the Chhattisgarh plain or upper basin of the Mahanadi.

Rivers

Bilaspur District comes under the drainage system of the Mahanadi though this river flows near its southern border, forming the boundary for a length of about 40 miles. Also, river, Seonath, which is an important tributary of the Mahanadi, does not flow through the district but forms its southern border for about 40 miles before it joins with the Mahanadi. The rivers which flow through the district rise in the northern and western hills or enter the district from Surguja district, and these rivers which all form tributaries, either of the Seonath or the Mahanadi, flow southwards or eastwards through the district. The principal of these rivers are the Hasdo, the Mand, the Hanp, the Agar, the Maniari, the Arpa, the Karun and the Lilagar.

River Hasdo is the principal river of Bilaspur District, entering it from Surguja District, and flowing through the rocky and wooded grounds of Matin—Uprora and plains of Champa, ultimately drains into the Mahanadi, 8 miles form Seorinarayan. River Hanp rises in the Pandaria hills in the western part of the district, and passing through Mungeli Tahsil, joins the Seonath in Durg District. The Maniari rises in the north—western hills near the border of the district and taking a serpentine course, flows past Lormi and Takhatpur in south—eastern direction, forming for the greater part the boundary between Bilaspur and Mungeli Tahsils. It joins the Seonath two miles above the railway bridge on the latter river. The Agar and the Teswa are the tributaries of the Maniari, the Agar rises in the Pandaria hills at the border of the district and flows between Lormi and Pandaria, passing through Mungeli town. The Apra rises in the Pendra Plateau and after a long and picturesque course through wooded hills and valleys, enters the plain of Bilaspur. It skirts Bilaspur town and drains itself in to the Seonath near Bartori. The Karun is an eastern tributary of the Arpa. The Lilagar rising in the Korba hills flows to the south between Bilaspur and Janjgir Tahsils and falls into the Seonath just before the latter joins the Mahanadi.

Soils

The western part of the district is mainly a black soil tract, the soil being formed, it has been suggested from disintegrated trap rock carried down by the rivers from the Maikal hills. In the centre and east, red soils are prevalent. The soil terminology known in the district is the same as elsewhere in Chhattisgarh i. e. Kanhar, Matasi and Dorsa. Kanhar is a deep clay soil of blue—black or borwn—black colour. Matasi is a light coloured soil varying in colour but generally being brownish yellow. Dorsa is the middle of these two and on the basis of their respective proportions it is generally divided into two classes. First grade dorsa is a dark brown clay soil, which in many respec ts resembles kanhar which predominates over matasi in its composition. Second grade dorsa is a light brown soil in the composition of which, matasi predominates over kanhar. Besides these three principal soil types, there is an area of very inferior soil called bhata. Bhata consists of a slight sprinkling of a sandy soil over gravel and is good for nothing except the lightest kind of millet and seasamum. The alluvial soil found on the banks of rivers and streams is known as Kachhar. The Kachhar consists of a mixture of clay and sand and in its better form, in which clay predominates over sand, it is known as pal kachhar. Patpar Kachhar is the term for that alluvial soil in which sand predominates over clay.

Kanhar and first grade dorsa will grow any kind of crop and, when sown with paddy, are usually double-cropped with linseed or rabi pulses. Second grade dorsa will grow paddy, linseed, rabi pulses, lighter millets, arhar and occasionally wheat as a single crop. When sown with paddy, it will grow, in good years or low-lying position, a second crop of linseed or rabi pulses. Matasi will grow nothing but paddy but it is very susceptible to damage from deficient rainfall.

The most fertile part of the district is Mungeli Tahsil and in its plain regions, it almost entirely consists of kanhar and first grade dorsa. Janjgir and Sakti Tahsil principally consist of matasi and second grade dorsa and Bilaspur Tahsil forms the point of transition between the soil types of Mungeli and Janjgir in its western half the formation of soil approximates to that of Mungeli and in its eastern half to that of Janjgir. Katghora Tahsil is the poorest in its soil types and consists mostly of a very inferior soil and matasi and second grade dorsa in patches.

Climate and Rainfall—

The climate of Bilaspur District closely resembles that of Raipur. However, Bilaspur town is a little cooler than Raipur owing possibly to two reasons : its situation on black instead of red soil and the nearness of the water table. The forest-clad northern regions and cooler and the temperature recorded at Pendra is always 2 to 4 lower than that recorded at Champa. May and December are the hottest and coldest months respectively.

The rainfall of the district approximates to the heavy rainfall of Chhattisgarh. It is, however, a little more than that of Raipur District. As might be expected, the rainfall is considerably heavier on the forest-clad plateau in the north. Mungeli Tahsil generally receives less rain than other tahsils in the district. As it is, this is very helpful, for the area, largely being a black soil track, requires less moisture than the matasi land elsewhere.

The mean annual rainfall is about 1,220 millimeters out of which about 1,130 millimeters falls from June to October : July is the rainiest month.

Flora

The northern half of the district is covered by forest. The forest could be classified into three distinct types on the basis of topography, soils and rainfall. These three types are :

(a) The forests of the plains, where generally the soil is heavy and rainfall is comparatively less, are characterised generally by rank growth of grass stunted and deformed trees consisting mostly of fuel species and inferior timber trees. These forests generally deteriorate into scrub jungle.

(b) The forests of the valleys and plateaus and on very gentle slopes of the hills consist of valuable timber trees and bamboos. Here rainfall is good, water-level is not very deep and the soil is light.

(c) The forests on bad hill-slopes and in the valleys with a warmer southerly aspect are principally characterised by an inferior growth of bamboos, the rugged tops of hills sometimes only growing the hill grasses.

The forests of Bilaspur District are largely made up of Sal (Shorea robusta), often, however, of a scrubby character. In the western part of the district some teak is to be met with, but towards the east this species is comparatively rare. Teak plantations are now met with in many places in the district. With the Sal are associated Saj (Terminalia tomentosa), Dhawra (Anogeissus latifolia) Tendu (Diospyros melanoxylon) and shisham (Dalbergia latifolia and D. lanceolaria) while Karra (Cleistanthus collinus), tinsa (Ougeinia dalbergioldes), lendia (Lagerstoremia parviflora) and bijasal or bija (Pterocarpus marsupium) are also sometimes found, as well as various species of Acacia and Albizzia, palas (Butea frondosa) salai Boswellia serrata) and various species of Eugenia. These latter trees i.e. Acacia. Albizzia, Palas, and Eugenia are generally found near village sites. Also found near village sites are Bar (Ficus bengalensis) Pipal (F. religiosa) Bel (Aegle marmelos) Nim (Melia indica) and so on. The common bamboo on the hills is Dendrocalamus strictus of the grasses, the following may be mentioned. The chir and birain grasses make good brooms. The bagai grass (Ischoemum angustifolium) is twisted into thin cordage used locally for weaving cots. Sukla grass yields the best thatching grass and mucheli (Iscilema wightii) is the fodder grass. Harra, Bahera, Aonla, Mahua, Chironji, Tikhur and gum are the main produces collected in the forests.

Fauna

Wild elephants (Elephas indicus) were formerly found in the district in the forests of Matin and Uprora and a few of them had remained even till 1909-10. Chisholm, writing about Matin track in his Settlement report of 1868, states : "This is perhaps the wildest country of Chhattisgarh and here it is that the shattered forest trees, the broken and crushed bamboo clumps, the hollows and foot-prints in a hundred marshes and water-courses indicate the presence of wild elephants". In 1909-10, some elephants were still to be found in this area specially in the rainy season and stray animals wandered down so far as Lormi forests. The elephants have now completely disappeared from the district. A few wild buffalos and bisons are still met with in the forests in the north but these have also become increasingly rare.

Thc Bengal Langur or the Black-faced monkey (Semnopithecus entellus) is found in all parts of the district and is fairly common in the forests. The red-faced monkey (Macacus rhesus) is not so common and is generally seen on slopes of hills with a southern aspect near rivers and streams.

Tigers (Felis tigris) are found in the northern wooded regions of the district but more commonly found is the panther (F. pardus). The common jungle cat (F. Chas) known as ban bilwa is fairly common all through the district frequenting both jungle and open grass country. Other animals found in the forests are the bear (Melursus labiatus) Hyaena (Hyaena striata) fox and jackal, Chinkara (Indian gazelle), hiran (Indian antelope) nilgai (Blue bull), Kotri (Four horned antelope), Chital (Spotted deer), bhasera (ribfaced deer) and sambhar.

Village Cattle

The cattle of the district are, as in Raipur District, poor in build and this is mainly due to the negligence of thc cultivators and scarcity of grazing grounds. The cattle are most numerous just where there is the least pasturage. Stall feeding worth the name is unknown and the main diet of the cattle is paira or paddy straw. For ploughing, the cultivators prefer buffalos to bullocks because, as they say, the buffalos are better able to stand the dampness of the contry. Large numbers of buffalos are brought every year from the northern districts of the State by cattle trading the Basdevas and the Banjaras. As an article of cattle food, paddy-straw is very much inferior to wheat and juar straw and dependence of the cattle only on this may account to a large extent for their susceptibility to various diseases and causing a quick turn-over. According to the livestock census, 1961, the district had the third largest number of cows and bullocks(12,25,335) the first two district being Raipur and Durg. In number of buffalos, the district is the second largest in the State (15,66,121), Raipur being the first.

Local names of some of the important cattle diseases are ; Mata (rinderpest), Chhai or chitbojh (gloss anthrax),ghatsarap or lohadia (anthrax) chapka, sarsa and khuri (foot and mouth diseases), Ektangi (black quarter) and Sonahi.

History

Tradition takes one back to the immemorial past. "According to local tradition Ratanpur, the ancient capital of Chhattisgarh, has existed through out the four cosmic periods of the world, and has changed its name at the end of each period. Its original name was Manipur. When the next age began in which God came down in the incarnation of Rama, the hero of the Ramayana, it was changed to Manikpur. In the third age it was named Hirapur and now in the kali or iron age it is called Ratanpur All these names are synonyms meaning the 'town of precious stones' (District Gazetteer, 1910). in Jaiminiya Ashwamedha is found a mention of Krishna visiting this part of the country and some people claim that Moraddhwaj was then ruling at Ratanpur: there are however, different views on this.

Though Moraddhwaj is claimed to be the first king of the Haihayvanshi line of kings, research has definitely proved that the Haihayvanshis did not enter Chhattisgarh until about the 10th Century. Prior to this there were rulers whose history can be traced back to the 4th century. This part of the country was then known as Dakshina Kosala or Maha Kosala, In the middle of the 4th Century the country was ruled by two kings Mahendra and Vyaghraraja. The former was the king of the northern parts while the latter ruled over Mahakantara, the southern forest tract. How the administration passed from their hands to the Gupta's is not known. Samudra Gupta of the Gupta dynasty conquered this area in the middle of the 4th Century and the Gupta rule continued till about the 6th century. Who were the immediate successors of the Gupta's is again not known, but it is clear that the Mahakosala kings continued to acknowledge the overlordship of the Guptas for nearly a century after their empire had broken up (Arang inscription of Bhimsen). In the 7th century the country seems to have passed to a Buddhist king who made Bhandak in Chanda district his capital. A branch of the Bhandak family soon after settled at Sirpur (in Raipur District) and became independent of the parent dynasty. Within four generations the Sirpur kings acquired sovereignty over the whole of Maha Kosala. The reign of this dynasty seems to have continued till the 8th or 9th century and during the period of their reign, they constructed many good temples. Mahasiva Gupta was perhaps the last king of the Sirpur dynasty. His sons were ousted by the Sharabhpur dynasty. Of this nothing is known beyond the names of two kings-Mahasudeva and Mahajayaraja and nothing is konwn about the location of their capital-Sharabhpur.

The Haihayas rose to power in the 10th Century. These Haihayas were known as Kalchuris and originally ruled over Chedi country. According to one school of thought, The Haihayas named their new domain as Chedisgarh of which Chhattisgarh is only a corrupt form. Of these Haihaya kings, Ratandeo founded the town of Ratanpur about the year 1050. Prithvideo, the son of Ratandeo, built a temple at Tuman and constructed a large tank at Ratanpur. Above his time, there is a tradition of a ten year's war with Ghughus, possibly a Gond chief, who infested the hills close to Ratanpur. (The name still remains in Ghugha Pahad). About the beginning of the 15th century, one of the princes of Ratanpur dynasty separated and established his kingdom at Raipur. During the reign of Kalyan Sai, about 1550, the overpowering influence of muslim sovereignty extended into this isolated part and it is recorded fact that Kalyan sai went to Delhi to have audience of Akbar the Great. It is said that he was absent for about 8 years and returned to Ratanpur laden with honours, It was during his return that Kalyan sai brought a number of Brahmin families from the north and domiciled them here; these now from an endogamous sub-caste of the Brahmins known as Chhattisgarhi Brahmins.

The reign of Kalyan Sai marked the fullest development of the Haihaya power. He was succeeded by a number of kings, whose reign is of no importance. Takhatsingh who reigned about 1685, built a rude palace at Takhatpur and also a Temple and instituted the weekly market of that place. The reign of other Haihaya kings is too uneventful to be mentioned here.

At the close of 1740 or the begnning of 1741, when Raghuraj Singh of the Haihaya dynasty was the chief at Ratanpur, the famous Maratha General Bhaskar Pant invaded Chhattisgarh. He captured Ratanpur without a fight and leaving a small garrison here, continued towards Cuttack. During this absence, Raghuraj Singh reasserted his authority; this was, however, very short-lived for Raghuji Bhonsla marched from Rewa to Ratanpur and quietly deposed him, installing Mohan Singh as Raja. Mohan Singh ruled till 1758 when Bimbaji Bhonsla took over the Chhattisgarh country.

Bimbaji ruled at Ratanpur from 1758 to 1787 and, though subordinate to the Nagpur kingdom, he was virtually independent. The Maratha administration of Bimbaji and his successors lasted for 60 years and these 60 years (1758-1818) are usually regarded as the dark age of Chhatisgarh history. Not only was a considerable Maratha force permanently maintained here, but they also often traversed the country and freely robbed and looted the people. Added to these depredations were the raids by the Pindaris.

In 1818, after a short period of disturbance consequent upon Appa Sahib's escape and flight, the country came under the superintendence of the British and Colonel Agnew took over charge after the death of Captain Edmonds. It was Agnew who shifted the headquarters of Chhattisgarh from Ratanpur to Raipur and introduced many reforms in the land system and administration. The British protectorate continued till 1930 when once more, the administration was handed over the Marathas who continued the traditions laid down by Colonel Agnew. On the lapse of the Nagpur Province to the British Government in 1854, Chhattisgarh was formed into a separate Deputy Commissionership with its headquarters at Raipur After some years of experience the charge was formed to be too heavy and in 1861, Bilaspur was constituted a separate district. During 1857-1858 when the Indian people made the first major attempt to overthrow British rule, this district remained wholly undisturbed. From this time onwards the history of the district is mainly a story of material and social development.

Archaeology

Bilaspur is an important district from an archaeological point of view. The old town of Ratanpur, the seat of the Haihayvanshi kingdom and now only a village, is situated 16 miles north of Bilaspur town. With Ratanpur the history and archaeology of the district are indissolubly connected. The temples of Seorinarayan and Kharod in the south of the district date from the 12th century. At Janjgir, there are two interesting temples which were profusely sculptured but now much of their beauty is gone. Another beautifully sculptured temple is situated, at Pali. At Dhanpur, 5 miles from Pendra, there are sculptural remains, many of which have been brought to Pendra. The temple remains at Tuman and Mallar are also beautiful specimens of medieval architecture. The ruins at Gatora, Kotgarh, Kosgain, Manipur, Bisesra, Mahamadpur and Kothari show that many other structures of the kind have fallen into decay. Ratanpur possesses some decorated temples, but the bulk of them belong to a late period and are distinctly influenced by the muslim style. Most of these buildings were built by the Haihayas who first settled at Tuman and afterwards moved down to Ratanpur.

Except the temples at Janjgir and Seoniarayan, all other temples are Sivite. Jain remains are found at Mallar, Dhanpur, Ratanpur and elsewhere, the statues at Mallar being colossal.

There are remains of two masonary hill forts, one at Laphagarh and the other at Kosgain. At Korba, there are two small caves cut out of rock.

A large number of inscriptions have been found in this district almost all of which refer to the Haihaya kings of Ratanpur. Details about these inscriptions may be found in Hiralal's Inscriptions of C. P. and Berar and a recent book published by Mahant Ghasidas Museum, Raipur.

Land Revenue Settlements

J. W. Chisholm carried on the first settlement of the district in 1868. It was Chisholm who, to avoid boundary disputes between villages, ordered planting of nim, pipal and similar trees at each boundary stone on the periphery of villages. Many of these trees may be seen even upto this day. The second settlement of the district was conducted by Purushottamdas during 1886-90. J. E. Hance carried on the settlement of the Khalsa portion of the district between 1904-11 and the settlement of Chhotelal Verma was carried on in 1927-32.

The Population and the People

At the very outset, it may be mentioned that as regards its population, Bilaspur District presents a paradox : it is the most populous district in the State, yet the population increase in 1951-61 has been the least in the State. Before attempting to reslove this paradox, the population trend since the beginning of the present century may be briefly touched upon. The percentage decade variations of the population of Bilaspur District are given below for comparison State and Division figures are also given.

	1901-11	1911-21	1921-31	1931-41	1941-51	1951-61
Madhya Pradesh	+15.30	—1.38	+11.39	+12.34	+ 8.67	+24.17
Bilaspur Division	+27.28	+3.48	+18.29	+13.15	+10.39	+19.83
Bilaspur District	+26.38	+7.71	+13.87	+12.58	+ 8.33	+15.79

In 1901 the population of Bilaspur District was 923,632. The high increase of 26·38 percent in 1901-11 was to a large extent due to substantial return of those who had emigrated in the famines preceding the census of 1901 as well as some additional immigration. In the northern portions of the district, there had been an influx from the erstwhile feudatory states (Census Report, 1911, p. 43). During this decade the birth-rate was fairly high and the death-rate was generally low. These factors combined to record the highest decade increase during the present century.

During 1911-21, there was an increase by 7.71 per cent in the population of the district notwithstanding the fulminating influenza epidemic that had gripped the State and the comparatively uncongenial conditions as far as agricultural production went. The district had the greatest increase in its population in the area for all the surrounding districts—Surguja, Raigarh, Raipur, Durg, Mandla and Shahdol have either lower increase or decrease in their population. Why this is so is not quite clear. The 1921 Census Report mentions that the number of emigrants declined by 10,000 during the inter-censal period and probably the temporary emigrants had begun to return to their homes by the date of the census of 1921 (p. 22). There was a substantial immigration of Gonds from Surguja to this district and they settled down in Mungeli and Katghora tahsils. During the decade (1911-21) immigrants to Chhattisgarh from distant parts of the erstwhile Central Provinces registered a general increase. Bilaspur district recorded an increase from 8,000to 14,000 in immigrants from other parts of the Province (1921 Census Report, P. 45). These factors and probably the fact that the district was not as heavily hit by scarcity as other parts may have contributed to the increase of 7.71 per cent in the population.

The increase of 13.87 per cent during the next decade i.e. 1921-31 was facilitated by favourable conditions, there was an excess of births over deaths (actual figure being +147,457). Actually speaking the population increase would have been much more but for the considerable emigration to Bengal, Bihar and Orissa and because of the fall of over 22,000 in the number of immigrants returned.

During 1931-41, the population of the district grew by 12.58 per cent. It will be seen that during the same period the population of the district to the west, north and east of Bilaspur increased at a higher rate, where as in the districts to the south of Bilaspur the increase was not even as fast as in Bilaspur. (Mandla 13.19, Shahdol 14.23, Surguja 13.59, Raigarh 19.93, Raipur 10.98, Durg 12.15). The population increase of Bilaspur, however, was a little more than the State increase though less than that of the division because of higher increase in Surguja and Raigarh.

The decade 1941-51 does not seem to have been a propitious period for population growth for practically everywhere, a small increase was recorded and the increase of Bilaspur District was more or less on a par with the State increase. During this period higher increases are seen in comparatively backward areas-Surguja recorded an increase of 17.45 per cent and Bastar 16.46 per cent whereas the increases in Raipur, Durg and Raigarh were 8.13, 4.68 and 8.32 percents respectively.

The decade 1951-61 recorded an unprecedented increase of 24.17 per cent in the population of Madhya Pradesh, but, both in Bilaspur Division, and Bilaspur District the increase was less than that recorded in 1901-11. Whether this high population increase is due to higher birth-rate or decreased death-rate, is anybody's guess but it is more likely to be because of the second factor. During the decade 1951-61, more medical facilities have been made available, infant-mortality has been checked considerably and malaria, which alone was responsible for a heavy toll of life in the jungle tracts, has been more or less eradicated. But, though higher than any decennial increase after 1901-11, the increase recorded in the population of the district in 1951-61, is the least increase in the State. The surrounding districts viz, Mandla, Shahdol, Surguja, Raigarh, Raipur and Durg, show higher increases of 25.00, 27.49, 26.12. 22.06, 22.07 and 27.23 per cents respectively.

It appears that one of the factors of this slow increase reflected in the population statistics is that in case of migration, Bilaspur District has been on the giving rather than on the receiving end. This is borne out by the following figures :

No. of persons born in Bilaspur District and enumerated in		No. of persons born in the districts mentioned below and enumerated in Bilaspur
District	No. of persons	District	No. of persons
Mandla	2,569	Mandla	3,657
Shahdol	10,335	Shahdol	8,650
Surguja	9,993	Surguja	6,672
Raigarh	33,688	Raigarh	25,136
Raipur	35,856	Raipur	29,019
Durg	24,948	Durg	21,197
Total	117,389	Total	94,331

The difference between the two figures is 23,058 and were there no migration to and fro, the percentage increase in the population of the district could have been 17.1.

Another reason for the seemingly low increase is that Bilaspur District has not yet found a place on par with the faster developing districts like Raipur and Durg and even Shahdol and Surguja. There is no great industry here nor is there any mineral deposit of any magnitude. The agricultural sector is already too saturated to attract further immigrants. These may be the possible explanations for the paradox of lowest increase in the most thickly populated district of the State.

Rural Urban Population

In 1961 the ratio of rural and urban population is 91.7 : 8.3. During 1901-61 the urban population of the district has grown by 424.50% much faster than that of Surguja, Raigarh and Raipur. The percentage variation of total, rural and urban population of the district is shown below :

Period	Total	Rural	Urban
1901-11	+26.38	+27.43	−2.75
1911-21	+ 7.71	+ 6.98	+34.25
1921-31	+13.87	+13.72	+18.40
1931-41	+12.58	+12.08	+26.47
1941-51	+ 8.33	+ 8.19	+11.72
1951-61	+15.79	+10.59	+140.15
1901-61	+118.90	+107.89	+424.50

There were 5 towns in 1951 as against 10 in 1961 and so the growth in the urban population is not actually a reflection of urbanisation or industrialisation. Another complicating factor which introduces artificiality is the practice of declassifying habitations into rural in one Census and raising them to urban in the next e.g. Sakti was a town in 1901 but not so in 1911 and 1921. The only town which has sprung up as a direct result of industrialisation is Korba Mining Colony. It may be mentioned in passing here that the population of Bilaspur town has grown by 121.76% i.e. from 39,099 to 86,706. The increase in the population of Bilaspur town in earlier periods i.e. 1901-11, 1911-21, 1921-31, 1931-41 and 1941-51 were 4.82, 22.39, 29.14, 19.40, and 4.38 percent. This high increase during 1951-61 is not the true increase in population. What has actually happened is that the area of the municipality was extended after 1951 Census and 3 villages-Torwa Sarkanda and Chantidih which in 1951 had a population of 9,663 were included in the town. In addition to this, 4 villages and Station settlement have been included in the town as non-municipal urban area-in 1961. The high increase in population of Bilaspur has therefore to be viewed in this light. Bilaspur town has, of course, developed since 1951-the railway colony has increased and the number of educational institutions have also increased.

From 1901 to 1961 there have been many changes in the classification of towns of the district. This is shown below:

Town	Classification of town in
	1961	1951	1941	1931	1921	1911	1901

There are in all 3,529 inhabited and 93 uninhabited villages in the district. A little more than 88% of these are those having population of less than 1,000. A comperative study of the size of villages, in 1951 and at present shows that there has been a decrease in the number of villages having population upto 500 where the number of bigger villages has increased. There is, however, decrease in the number of villages of over 5,000 population evidently because such villages were upgraded to towns. This change in the size of villages during 1951-61 is shown below :

Size of Villages	% of No. of Villages in the Class to Total No. of Villages and % of Population in the Class to Total Population.	In 1951	In 1961
Less than 500	Percentage of No. of villages this class to total No. of villages	67.66	62.14
	Percentage of population in this class to total population	34.82	30.09
500-999	Percentage of No. of villages in this class to total No. of villages	22.94	26.07
	Percentage of population in this class to total population	32.79	34.18
1,000-1,999	Percentage of No. of villages in this class to total number of villages	7.75	9.81
	Percentage of population in this class to total population	21.93	24.84
2,000-4,999	Percentage of No. of villages in this class to total No. of villages	1.51	1.87
	Percentage of population in this class to total population	8.7	9.55
5,000-9,999	Percentage of No. of village in this class to total No. of villages	0.14	0.11
	Percentage of population in this class to total population	1.69	1 34

Comparision of these figures with similar figures for the other 5 districts of eastern Madhya Pradesh (i. e. Surguja, Raigarh, Durg, Raipur and Bastar) would show that in this region, Bilaspur District has the greatest proportion of large villages—that is those having more than 1,000 persons. 11·79% of the total number of villages come under this category and 35·73% of the total population of the district resides in these.

Density of Population

The table given below shows the population per square mile in the State, Division and Bilaspur District—

	M.P.	Bilaspur Division	Bilaspur District
Total	192	192	260
Rural	165	180	240
Urban	6,428	4,180	3,611

It will thus be seen that the district has higher population density with regard to 'total' and 'rural' population than the figures both for the State and Bilaspur Division. It will also be seen that in the 6 districts of eastern Madhya Pradesh i. e. Surguja, Bilaspur, Raigarh, Durg, Raipur and Bastar, Bilaspur district has the highest density both for total population and for rural population. The figures for these 6 districts of eastern Madhya Pradesh are :

	Surguja	Bilaspur	Raigarh	Durg	Raipur	Bastar
Total	121	260	208	251	244	77
Rural	116	240	196	222	217	75
Urban	6,507	3,611	5,114	3,304	6,259	5,501

In respect of density of rural population, Bilaspur is the third most densely populated district in the State, the first two being Bhind (346) and Rewa (301). Taking the total population into consideration, Bilaspur District is seventh in order of most densely populated districts; the other being Indore (550), Bhind (373), Gwalior (326), Jabalpur (326), Rewa (318), Ujjain (282) and West Nimar (264).

As a matter fact, but for the peculiarities of its topogrophy, Bilaspur could be the most densely populated district. The northern half of district is hilly and wooded and is a region of sparse population; and the density fs high in the plains region. Because of the sparsely populated northern region, the over all figure of density per square mile is very much lowered down. The densities for the tahsils of the district are as below :

Sakti—535

Janjgir—481

Bilaspur—440

Mungeli—362

Katghora—295

Thus in the areas free from hills and forests the density of population per square mile is very high and in Katghora at becomes as low as 295 persons per square mile. If the density is calculated only for the plain area of Bilaspur Tahsil it would work out to a high figure.

The following note is found in the Census Report of 1951 regarding typical distribution of population in Bilaspur District : "The Bilaspur District of the Chhattisgarh plain shows abnormal features in as much as about 11 per cent of the rural population of this district lives in large villages as against 5·6 per cent in the Chhattisgarh plain as a whole. Thus, this district presents a picture in which the percentage of people who live in large villages is high although the over all percentage of people in high density tahsils is by no means very large. This would apparently mean that these big villages are scattered all over the district but the real explanation is that the district is a non-homogeneous tract with heavy concentration of population and large villages in the rich rice producing areas of Janjgir, Bilaspur and Mungeli Tahsils and with sparsely populated forest tracts in the Katghora Tahsil adjoining the backward Surguja District" (Census Report 1951, p. 72).

Age and Sex Composition

The age and sex structure of the population of the district is presented in the table below; corresponding data for the State is also given for comparison :

Age not stated	0.1	0.1	0.0	0.1	0.0	0.1

The age data given above are based on ungraduated ages and though the quinquennial groupings adopted suppress to some extent the distorting effects of age-heapings as multiples of 5, still the data is not fit enough to permit analysis by quinquennial age-groups unless corrected or smoothed. It would, therefore, be safer to confine the scrutiny to the broad age-groups 0-14, 15-34, 35-59 and 60+ which may also be roughly decribed as children, young persons, middle aged persons and old persons.

As in case of the State, in Bilaspur District too, the proportion of children (0-14 years) is the greatest. The next age-group or young persons (15-34 years) are in the same proportion in the district as in the State and the next two age-groups i.e. 35-59 years and 60+ years show the same trend with respect to other age-groups as they do in case of the State as a whole. But comparing the proportions, it is seen that in case of children, there are 2 persons per 100 less in the district as compared to the State whereas in the other age-groups 35-59 years and 60+ years, there is 1 person per 100 more in each. This may probably mean that there is more of child-mortality in the district and at the same time more longevity in the higher age-groups. This conclusion is confirmed more by looking at the age-group 0-4 years.

Despite the lower proportion as compared to the State, children have the maximum proportion in the age-group distribution of the district population and roughly speaking, 2 out of every 5 persons in the district are children below 14 years. It may also be seen that 7 out of every 10 persons in the district belong to age-group 0-34 years and 87.3% of the population of the district is below 50 years of age. It may thus be said that, like the State, the population of Bilaspur District also is youthful and is therefore likely to be a growing one.

Changes in Age-Distribution Since 1951

Changes in the age-composition of a population, if measured satisfactorily, provide indications of the likely trends of its growth. In the table-inset below is shown the percentage distribution of 100 persons in the district into broad age-groups in 1951 and 1961. The data for 1951 is, however, based on a 10% sample of the population and in making a comparison with 1961 data, it is assumed that the 1951 sample represented the universe :

Percentage distribution of 100 persons in 1951 and 1961 into broad age-groups

Age-group	1951			1961
	P	M	F	P	M	F
0-14	37.2	38.6	35.8	38.7	39.5	38.0
15-34	33.2	33.6	32.8	32.4	32.2	32.6
35-64	26.0	24.6	27.5	25.4	25.4	25.3
65+	3.4	3.0	3.8	3.4	2.8	4.1
A.N.S.	0.2	0.2	0.1	0.1	0.1	0.0

It may be seen from this table that as compared to 1951 there is an increase of 1.5 per 100 in the age-group 0-14 years whereas there is a decrease by 1.2 in the age-group 15-34 years. The proportion of persons in the age-group 65+ has remained the same but there is a small decrease in the age-group 35-64 years.

The increase in the proportion of age-group 0-14 years may suggest that the chances of survival of children have increased during the decade 1951-61 and though, as seen from the preceding table, the proportion in this age-group is less than that obtaining in the State as a whole, the signs are propitious for further improvement. The decrease in the proportions of next two age-groups may be due to migration of persons in search of employment to the near by districts—Surguja, Shahdol, Durg and outside the State.

A comparison of these figures with those for Raipur District brings out a significant feature. In Raipur District the proportion of males in the age-group 15-34 years has increased in 1961 but in Bilaspur the proportion of males in this age-group has decreased. Where as, in Raipur, the increase may suggest better avenues for employment in Bilaspur the decrease may signify the quest for employment outside the district. This thus speaks the difference in the degree of industrialisation of the two districts.

Sex-Ratio and Sex Distribution by Age

The changes in the proportion of sexes in Bilaspur District during 1901-61 are shown below :

	1961	1951	1941	1931	1921	1911	1901
Total Population	1,024	1,034	1,035	1,046	1,046	1,051	1,056
Rural Population	1,036	1,037	1,037	1,049	1,048	1,051	1,057
Urban Population	902	964	973	953	982	1,032	1,022

The above table shows number of females per 1,000 males and the most significant feature is the decrease in sex ratio from 1901 to 1961 in a consistent manner in all sectors i.e. total population, rural and urban population. This consistent fall in the sex-ratio may be due to urbanisation because urbanisation generally goes with a change in sex-ratio adversely to females. At the same time the decrease may also be due to feminine mortality. In this respect the following mention is found in Census of India, 1961, Paper No. 1.

"The deteriorating Sex-ratio reflects on our social health, for it indicates that the risks to female lives at most ages has not improved upon that to male lives ; on the contrary, it seems to emphasize that demographically we have not yet entered upon the modern industrial age with its compensatory characteristics of increased risks to males and reduced risks to female lives. Rather we seem to be on the reverse" (P. xvi)

The general demographic pattern of the State is that the southern and south-eastern districts show higher sex-ratio. Taking the total population, Bilaspur has always been one of the 5 districts having the highest sex-ratio and in 1961 is the second in the State having the highest sex-ratio; considering only the rural population, the district ranks third in the State, the first two being Raipur (1,053) and Durg (1,041).

The proportion of sexes in the different age-groups is shown in the following table:

Sex-Ratio by Age Groups

Age-group	No. of females per 1,000 males: Bilaspur District	M.P. State
1	2	3
0-4	1,021	996
5-9	1,038	966
10-14	858	847
0-14	985	974
15-19	984	929
20-24	1,209	1,069
25-29	989	939
30-34	978	897
15-34	1,037	959
35-39	927	878
40-44	1,069	950
45-49	993	886
50-54	981	908
55-59	1,091	903
35-59	999	905
60-64	1,253	905
65-69	1,326	1,157
70+	1,523	1,373
60+	1,362	1,190
Age not stated	765	898

It may be seen from this table that in the State, except in the age-group 20-24 masculine excess is the rule in all the age-groups below 60 years. In Bilaspur District there is a deviation from the State pattern: the proportion of Females is much higher in the age-groups 0-4, 5-9, 40-44 and 55-59 and as compared to the State, Sex-ratio is significantly higher in the broader age-group 15-34. The sex-ratio in different age-group in Bilaspur District, however, differs from that in Raipur. In Raipur the sex-ratio in age-groups 0-4 and 5-9 is higher, in age-group 15-19 the sex-ratio in Raipur is higher whereas in Bilaspur it is lower. The overall sex-ratio in Raipur District is 1,037 as against 1,024 of Bilaspur. This feature goes against the postulate that industrialisation and urbanisation generally go with a change in sex-ratio adverse to the females. Normally, therefore the sex-ratio should have been higher in Bilaspur than in Raipur. The high sex-ratio in Raipur district appears to be, to a great extent. due to a large influx of female population from Orissa which feature is conspicuously absent in Bilaspur.

Another significant featurs of the above table is a very low sex-ratio in the age-group 10-14. This is the State pattern also. This feature appears to be evidently due to misreporting of age in this age-group. What generally happens is that unmarried girls in this age-group are reported to be below 10 years whereas married ones are reported to be above 14 years. It is however, difficult to hazard a definite conclusion.

Religion

Hindus are most numerous in the district constituting 98.2% of the population, Followers of other religions are Muslims (1.2%), Christians (0.5%), Sikhs (0.2%) and Jains (0.1%).

Mother Tongue

There are in all 65 languages/dialects spoken as mother-tongue in the district. The returns for Hindi as mother-tongue constitute 95.9% of the population. Other languages/dialects are Chhattisgarhi (0.5%), Marathi (0.4%), Oriya (0.3%), Punjabi, Bengali, Rajasthani and Kharia (0.2% each), Urdu (0.5%), Sindhi(0.5%), Telugu (0.3%), Kurukh/Oraon (0 3%) and the rest having small numbers of speakers.

These figures do not bring out the correct picture as far as Chhattisgarhi and Hindi are concerned. Strictly speaking, Chhattisgarhi is a dialect of Eastern Hindi and may be referred to as Hindi. The predominant dialect of the district remains Chhattisgarhi and in the nearby Raipur District, the speakers of Chhattisgarhi constitute 54.06% of the population. The position should not be very different in this district also but the speakers of Chhattisgarhi have probably returned their mother-tongue as Hindi, this inflating the figures for this language. According to the District Gazetteer, 1910, Chhattisgarhi was the main "vernacular" of the district being spoken by more than 90% of the population.

Broadly speaking, the Chhattisgarhi spoken here is the same as in Raipur, except that towards the north-eastern part, one may notice a somewhat different intonation. Some Gondi words may be found interspersed in Chhattisgarhi in the interior because of Gond influence. Grierson has the following to say in this regard : "The language of the Bilaspur District is also pure Chhattisgarhi.. It may be mentioned here that there are reported to be 159,502 Gonds in Bilaspur of whom only 8,450 speak Gondi. The remainder speak Chhattisgarhi and are included in the figure for that language for Bilaspur district. Their patois differs slightly from that of their Aryan-speaking brethren, owing to the use of a few aboriginal words, but the difference is not sufficient to entitle us to class their speech as a separate dialect" (Linguistic Survey of India, Vol. V, P. 189; 1904).

Some of the very common characteristics of the Chhattisgarhi of the district may be given here. The termination of the past tense in is e. g. maris (beat) Kahis (said) rois (wept) Jais (went). In common with other Eastern Hindi dialects, Chhattisgarhi also has the use of o for the genitive of the personal pronouns as mor, tor (my, yours), Other peculiarities are formation of the plural by man as Laika-man (boys), garua-man (cattle), mai-man (ladies). Chhattisgarhi is not a difficult speech to learn and its use may enable one to converse fairly well with all sections of the population including Baigas, Pandos and Korwas.

Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes

Enumeration of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes in 1961 Census has been done strictly according to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes Lists (Modification) Order, 1956. As per this Order, 15 castes (including synonymous groups there of) have been regarded to be the Scheduled Castes throughout the district. The population of these Scheduled Castes is 367, 563 (18.18%) of the total population (Rural 18.92% males, 18.85% females; Urban 10.12% males, 10.75% females). The proportion of Scheduled Castes to the total population in the tahsils is as below;

Bilaspur (15.24%), Mungeli (24.86%), Janjgir (23.21%). Katghora (8.98%) and Sakti (21.22%). Some of the numerically strong schedule castes are Chamar including Surjyabanshi, Satnami, Rohidas Mochi (304,465), Ganda (29,857), Ghasia (15,329), and Mahar (5,757).

According to the aforesaid order, there are 32 Scheduled Tribes in Bilaspur and these are regarded as 'Scheduled' only in Bilaspur and Katghora Tahsils. The proportion of Scheduled Tribes to the total populations of the district is 18.16% and their proportions in Bilaspur and Katghora Tahsils are 28.64 and 52.87 per cent respectively. In Bilaspur tahsil, the Scheduled Tribes constitute more than 50% of the total population in Marwahi, Kota and Gaurella (excluding Gaurella and Pendra towns) Revenue Inspectors Circles. In Katghora Tahsil except in Katghora R. I. Circle, the Scheduled Tribes constitute more than 50% in the rest of the area (Korba mining Colony excluded), the greatest concentration (81.67%) being in Pasan R. I. Circle. The numerically important Scheduled tribes are Gond (197,924) Kawar (80,353), Dhanwar (15,930), Binjhwar (14,219), and Majhwar (11,124).

In making any attempt to compare the 1961 Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes population with that of 1951, it is important to remember that (i) the constitution of Bilaspur District has undergone a drastic change since 1951 owing to a redistribution of villages between Bilaspur and Raigarh Districts (ii) in 1951 certain tribes were Scheduled only in Katghora Tahsil (iii) synonymous and non synonymous castes/tribes have been added in the list of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes in 1956. It may also be remembered that mere subtraction of the figures of non-synonymous additions does not make the 1951 and 1961 figures comparable because the extent to which the synonymous groups were already enumerated as Scheduled Castes in 1951 is not known.

The people

Of the variegated population residing in the district, mention may only be made of some of the castes. The Chamars including Satnamis, Surjyabanshis, Rohidas, Mochi and Surjyaramnami, constitute 15.5% of the district population. Of these, the Satnamis started as a dissident religious sect sometime about 1820 but emerged as a recognised caste by 1927 and now they are an endogamous group having no relation with the Chamars and they also do not work on hides and skins. The Satnamis possess good features and complexion and are reputed to be efficient on earth-digging and earthwork. A detailed account of them has been given by Chisholm in the Settlement Report of 1867. The Surjyabanshis, another synonymous group of the Chamars, are 69,544 in number. The Brahmins of Chhattisgarh form an endogamous group and are believed to have come here during the middle of the 16th century. The advent of the Maratha Brahmins dates from the time of Bimbaji Bhonsla about the middle of the 18th century. The Telis or the oil-presser caste formed 7.1% of the district population in 1931 and there are many villages whose names are based on this caste. Their most numerous subcastes are the Jharias and the Ekbahinyas. In a great majority of cases, the Telis have given up their traditional occupation of oil-pressing. The Rawats are the village-graziers and household servants and all other castes accept water from their hands. The Kurmis are good agriculturists and possess good holdings. The Ghasias are the traditional caste of grooms and grass-cutters now adopting Thanwar and Sarathi as their caste-name. They also sell baskets, winnowing fans and bamboo mats. The Gandas and Pankas are the caste of village watchmen and weavers. Of these the Pankas are the followers of Kabirpanthi sect. The Gandas proper are distinctively known as Bajjaria. because they are regularly employed as village musicians.

Of the tribes, the Gonds are the most preponderant. They are divided here into two sub-tribes—Raj Gonds and Dhur Gonds. The Kawars are an important and well-to-do tribe and formerly all the zamindaris, except those of Pandaria and Kanteli, belonged to them. They are divided into many endogamous groups, chief of which are Tanwar, Cherwa and Rautia. The Dhanwars or Dhanuhars are a backward tribe residing mostly in Katghora Tahsil. They have no sub-tribes but are, as usual, divided into exogamous septs. The Bhainas are believed to be of mixed origin, descending from Baigas and Kawars and Gonds. There is a tradition that formerly they were the rulers of the locality and several of the old forts are ascribed to them. Bilaspur District is considered to be the original home of the Bhumias, a tribe now chiefly concentrated in Mandla District. In the Pandaria tract of Mungeli Tahsil one may come across a sizeable population of the Baigas (they are not 'scheduled' here) who are the same as those of Mandla and Kawardha areas.

Rehabilitated persons from West Pakistan, mainly Sindhis, are distributed throughout the district. According to 1951 Census, the population of displaced persons in the district was 6,997. These displaced persons are all settled now and in addition to the towns, where they are found in larger numbers, their concentration is at Dadhapara and Chakarbhata near Bilaspur.

Social Movements

As is well known, Chhattisgarh has been historically the seat of various religious movements striving to retrieve members of Scheduled Castes. The two biggest of such movements were the Kabirpanthi movement and the Satnami movement. Kabir, the founder of the former movement, lived between 1488-1512 and the headquarters of the Mahant of the Kabirpanthi sect are at Kawardha, the neighbouring tahsil of Durg District. An important religious fair of the sect is held at Kudarmal in Janjgir Tahsil. This movement principally attracted members of the weaving castes since Kabir himself was a weaver. The Pankas are nearly all Kabirpanthis and it is probable that they are really Gandas who have adopted this religion and become a new caste with a view to raising their social position. In the 19th Century, the Satnami movement started by Ghasi Das attracted the Chamars to its fold and they, like the Kabirpanthis, emerged as a new caste. In recent times the Surjyabanshi and Chandrabanshi movements have been gaining ground, the former attracting the Chamars and the latter the Mahars. The Surjyabanshis have attempted to get the stigma of 'Scheduled Caste' removed and resent being included as such along with the Chamars. What the effect of these movements has been on the figures of Scheduled Castes in recent years is difficult to guess in quantitative terms.

Social Life and Customs

In Chhattisgarh, the rice—bowl of this State around the Mahanadi, there has been for long an excess of females in the population but this has not resulted in any decline in esteem for the female sex. Among practically all the indigenous castes, it is the bridegroom's side who have to search for a bride for him and the custom of bride—price prevails. Separation and remarriages are quite a common feature in many of the castes and widow remarriages are equally common. Remarriages being common the statistics do not show the real quantum of separated and widowed person. A peculiar form of marriage, known as Choori bihav, is very common and is a socially recognised form of marriage. It does not entail the many rites and customs of a formal marriage and is resorted for remarriages though in some cases, first marriage may also be a choori one. It consists in the man offering bangles to the woman, who accepts them and becomes his wife. Another form of marriage is paithoo i. e., marriage by intrusion, where a woman walks into the house of the man and proclaims herself to be his wife.

Child-marriages are quite a common feature among some of the castes like Satnamis, Rawats and Ghasias. Child-widows are known as barand, randi being the term for widows. The marriage usually takes places at the bride's house but occasionally, when the bride's parents are poor, the ceremony may be performed at the bridegroom's house, the rituals being curtailed and expenses reduced. This marriage is referred to as Chhot bihav.

In those cases where a woman gets remarried after deserting her husband, the man who accepts her as wife has to pay a compensation in cash to the deserted husband. This compensation is known as boonda or bihati. Failure to pay this compensation is reported in the caste-panchayat.

Very few villagers have any idea about the population of their villages, but all of them can tell the number of houses in the village and given time, almost the exact number of houses or families can be got. The simple rule to arrive at a fair estimate of the village population is to multiply the figure of the number of houses by five. In Katghora Tahsil and other tribal areas of the district one would not be far from correct if the number of families is multiplied by four to get the village population.

Village names

Village—names in Bilaspur District seem to be derived from three different languages—Hindi and Chhattisgarhi, Gondi and Oriya. Urdu names are generally absent though a few names like Sultannar may be found. Absence of Urdu names is due to the fact that this country was never under effective Muslim rule.

The common terminations of village names based on Hindi and Chhattisgarhi are gaon as Nawagaon, Dhangaon Bhatgaon, Birgaon; pur as in Bhalapur, Janagalpur, Kamatpur, Takhatpur, Ratanapur, Padampur, Dondapur ; dih as in Kewtadih, Tanduldih, Mahuadih, Bhurkadih, Tarkidih; para as in Bhumiyapara, Dharampara, Dumarpara, Gandapara, Dadhapara, Charpara. All these terminations mean village or hamlet. Another common set of terminations refer to water. These are tal, tara, tarai, sara, bod, dud and dabri. (Kotetara, Akaltara, Manetara, Bhanwatra, Dongartarai Sukharital, Dondhatarai), Sara (as in Khongsara, Singansara, Bodsara), bod (Naraibod, Kacharbod), pani (Aurapani, Pandripani, Chokatipani), and (Pisaud, Hasaud, Tanaud, Taraud, Rahaud), and dabri, (as Ghanadabri). The third type of terminations refer to land—hilly land, wasteland, agricultural and alluvial land and corner. These are dongar or dongri bhata khar, kachhar, khuta and koni as Kulhidongri, Khairdongri, Chakarbhata, Salibabhata, Darrikhar, Nagarikhar, Bhondkachhar, Surakachhar, Urmarkhuta and Patharkoni.

Oriya names are more commonly found in Janjgir, Sakti and Katghora Tahsils. The general terminations of village-names are pali, jhar and band like Jamnipali, Baigapali, Amjhar, Kushmjhar and Udaiband. Actually speaking it is somewhat difficult to say if these terminations are Oriya—influenced because they may be due to Hindi and Chhattisgarhi also.

The general trend of village—names affected by Gondi language is to avoid terminations as in Ganiyari, Ratiya, Bothli, Mohda, Hardi Tekari, Kokdi and so on. The influence of their Hindu neighbours, however, influenced them to use terminations like dih and gaon.

As usual a good number of names are derived from trees, animals and castes. The favourite trees are amli (termind) am (Mango) nim or lim (Melia indica) parsa (Palas or Butea frondosa) Mahua (Bassia latifolia) Bar (Ficus bengalensis) and so on. Next to trees come water, pools, ponds, tanks, springs and streams usually also associated with animals or trees as Belsara, Bandarchua, Baghdabri, Aurabandha, Panchodhar and the like. Names based on animals are Bhainsbod, Bhainsmundi, Kukurdih, Bilaigarh, Bilaiband, Kolihamude, Jhinguri dongri and so on. The peculiar sounds emanating from the fall of water or other causes near certain places have given the latter onomatopaeic names such as Daldali, Damdam, Murmur, Burbur, Bidbida, Dhabdhab, Tulbul. Deities and founders have also contributed to village names like Narayanpur, Rampur, Thakurdeva, Ratanpur, Takhatpur. Village—names associated with castes are Tilaibhat, Gandapara, Bhumiyapara, and so on. Common household utensils have also given rise to names like Khatola (cot) Ghanocha (water—tripod) Telai (earthern cooking pot) Jhanjh (cymbals) and Kunda (water—basin) and the like.

Houses and Living Conditions

There are now 402,339 residential houses and 437,734 households in the district (Rural 366,339 houses, 399,468 households. Urban 36,000 houses, 38,266 households). The majority of the houses in the rural areas are built of mud and tiles or grass is used for roofing. Considering the wall-material first, 7.3% of the houses in the rural areas of the district have grass, leaves, reeds thatch, wood or bomboo walls. In the tahsils Mungeli tahsil has the greatest proportion of such houses (30.5%). Proportion of such houses in the rural areas of other tahsils are Bilaspur (3.3%), Katghora (7.4), Janjgir (0.4) and Sakti (0.1). Use of burnt bricks as the wall—material in the rural areas is not appreciable—Bilaspur district (2.0%) Mungeli Tahsil (1.4%) Bilaspur tahsil (2.3%) Katghora tahsil (1.4%) Janjgir tahsil (2.4%) and Sakti tahsil (2.1%). If use of burnt bricks may be taken as an index of prosperity, Katghora and Mungeli tahsils have still some headway to make. The use of grass, leaves etc. as wall—materal is greatest in Mungeli tahsil and is evidently due to a sizeable population of Baigas there who have a preference for such houses.

In respect of roof-material in the rural areas, Katghora tahsil has the largest proportion of houses with grass, leaves, reeds thatch, wood or bamboo (12.0%). Proportion of such houses in the rural areas of other tahsils are, Mungeli (5.6%) Bilaspur (3.2%) Janjgir (1.4%) and Sakti (10.1%). The use of corrugated zinc or other metal sheets in the roofing of houses in the rural areas is more common in Janjgir than in other tahsils.

In common with other areas in Chhattisgarh the houses in the rural areas, though built largely of mud, are kept absolutely neat and clean by regularly washing them with cattle—dung and a suspension of white or coloured clay in water. The outer walls of the houses are kept very neat and tidy, well plastered and washed with clay.

The houses in the rural areas have three types of roofs locally known as - sari, konia and katparchhi. In the sari type the roof slants down on the two sides i.e. front and back, from the central beam. It does not fall on the side-walls. In the Konia type, the roof slants down on all the four walls. Katparchhi type of roof is only to be seen in big houses : here the roof has two stages - the lower roof covers the verandah or outer room and the higher one covers the central part of the house. In the opinion of the people, the Konia type of roof is better than sari because it is more lasting and also because it protects the side walls. But poorer sections of the people do not build this, as it is costlier and requires the help of 'skilled' workmen. In the rural houses windows are not a common feature.

Working Force and Occupation

Out of the total population of the district, 1,147,043 persons are workers and 874.750 persons are non-workers. In other words 56.7 per cent of the population of the district is economically active population (61.6% males 52.0% females). The following table shows the distribution of 1,000 persons, males and females of rural and urban areas among the workers and non-workers and for each category of workers—

Total Population			Total Workers			Total Non-Workers
1000	1000	1000	567	616	520	433	384	480	T

N=Negligible

As already indicated 52.0% of the female population of the district is economically active. The role played by women in the economic activities is highlighted by the table-inset below which shows the sex-ratio (i.e., females per 1,000 males) among the total population, total workers and each category of workers :

	Total population	Total workers	I	II	III	IV	V	VI	VII	VIII	IX
Total	1,024	865	940	1,127	215	742	490	259	274	39	375
Rural	1,036	906	943	1,125	218	728	1,103	298	370	63	301
Urban	902	388	764	1,352	195	795	219	218	189	32	499

It may thus be seen that in Category I, i.e., cultivators, the number of female workers is almost the same as that of male workers. In Category II i.e., agricultural labourers, females are in greater numbers. The causes for this excess in Category II may be two - in a great majority of cases, the males look after their own cultivation whereas the females, in order to substantiate the income work as agricultural labourers in the fields of well-to-do cultivators. Secondly, in paddy-cultivation the two operations of weeding are done by manual labour and this is mostly done by females who are engaged in substantial numbers by bigger landholders.

Another point of interest in connection with working force is that in the age-group 0-14, years there is an appreciable proportion of workers. 11.07% males and 9.55% females in this age-group are economically active and their proportion to total workers is 7.09% males and 6.97% females. Cases of boys of 6-7 years of age being returned as workers are quite common and it may be seen in the district that children of 6 years and above graze village-cattle. By the time, the children attain the age of 10-12 years, they are more or less, full-fledged workers. In the rural areas of the district, one of the ways of referring to the age of a boy is bane nangaria ho ge he i.e., has become old enough to hold plough, which would mean an age of about 10 years.

Agriculture

By far the most important occupation of the population of this district is agriculture (including cultivation as well as agricultural labourer). The district being situated in the 'rice-bowl' of the State, the most important crop is paddy. Perusal of the statistics for the last 10 years (i.e. 1951-52 to 1960-61) shows that there has been an increase in net area sown from 1,849,063 acres to 1,971,614 acres though there is no corresponding appreciable increase in the area sown more than once. The following table presents the agricultural Statistics for 1901-61. Reference years are 1901, 1911, 1921, 1931, 1941 and 1951 and for each of these mean of 5 years have been taken.

The same table could also be shown in another way which brings out the picture in greater perspective. Here the base year taken is 1911 and indices of area of different crops etc. have been shown taking 100 as the base for 1911:—

Year	Area Under				Total cropped area	Area sown more than once	Net area sown
	Paddy	Wheat	Gram	Kodon Kutki
1911	100.00	100.00	100.00	100.00	100.00	100.00	100.00

1961	136. 8	52.42	273. 8		130.65	189. 2	120. 8

These tables show that there have been increases in net area sown and total cropped area as well as increases in the area under paddy and gram but that there have been decreases under wheat and cotton. There is an increase in the figures for area sown more than once though as compared to 1951, there is a decrease. Paddy covered 67% of the net-cropped area in 1904-05, now it coveres 76%. Since it is the most important crop of the district, the methods of its cultivation may be dealt with in some detail.

Methods of Paddy Cultivation

Paddy is almost universally sown broadcast, transplantation being only practised in a few localities. There are three methods of sowing paddy locally known as khurra, batar and lehi. Khurra consists of sowing in land which has been ploughed once or twice before the monsoon breaks. Batar is sowing in land which is ploughed for the first time when monsoon breaks. In both of these methods the seed is broadcast, in the case of Khurra sowings, over ground which has been prepared before the rains break, and in the case of batar sowing, over ground which is ploughed immediately before sowing once or twice according to the amount of grass and weeds in the field. In rare cases when the field is exceptionally free from weeds, the seed is scattered over unploughed land in batar sowings. Whatever be the state of the ground before the seed is scattered over it, the latter is ploughed in by a final ploughing. The third method is called sowing in lehi. It is adopted for late sowing when the ground has been well saturated by the first fall of the monsoon. It consists in ploughing up the wet ground, with an inch or two of water standing on it, into thick mud until all the water is absorbed in the soil. Then seed, which has been made to germinate artificially by being soaked for 24 hours in a pot full of water and then covered over inside the house with a heap of straw to exclude light and produce warmth, is sown broadcast over the field. In this case the seed is not ploughed in. In the district, the most common practice is sowing after one or two ploughings in batar.

Whichever method of sowing is adopted, the paddy plants, about four or five weeks after sowing time, are thinned by driving a plough through the field at right angles to the lines which have been made by the ploughing prior to sowing. This method of thinning is known as biasi. Biasi requires a fairly large amount of water in the field and is usually practised just after the second heavy fall of rain at the end of July or the beginning of August. Its performance at the proper time is of critical importance to the rice crop and its postponement owing to unseasonal want of rain is very detrimental. A few days after biasi, when the plants are beginning to revive from the uprooting, a log of wood (kopar) is dragged across the fields to press the roots exposed by biasi back into the earth as well as to level the irregularities of the ground. After this, a certain amount of water is allowed to run off and the field sluices are blocked for the reception of mid—August fall. These are not reopened except in case of heavy rain, till the last half of October. During this time, paddy fields are weeded twice or even oftener. For this manual labour is required and usually women do the job; the process of weeding is known as nindai.

To produce a good crop, another good rainfall at the beginning of October is required. The critical periods in paddy cultivation are end of July, the later half of August, and from the middle of September to the middle of October ; at all these periods good rain is necessary and any diminution of the supply of water at once results in a dimished outturn.

Though, with the opening of development blocks and through the working of the Agriculture Department, attempts are being made to popularise use of chemical fertilisers, cattle-dung manure still holds supreme. The cultivator manures as much of his rice-land as he possibly can with cattle-dung. The bulk of it is employed in the fields composed of kanhar and dorsa soils which require much more regular manuring than matasi. The usual allotment of manure by a cultivator in average cirumstances is about 4-5 cartloads per acre, though those who can afford it, apply 10 or even more cartloads per acre.

Kinds of Paddy

On the basis of ripening time, there are 3 kinds of paddy. Haruna is the early-ripening variety sown on high-lying ground, which is reaped by the end of October. Ardhana, or intermediate paddy is reaped early in November and mai varity or the late ripening variety is reaped upto the beginning of December.

Nearly 200 different varieties of paddy are reported to be grown in this district, but even the best quality does not come upto the standard of best quality paddy grown in Balaghat District. These different varieties are known by such fanciful names as Badshah-bhog, Nariyal-phool, Doodh-khowa, Tulsi-amrit, Doobraj, Begum-pasand and so on. The best medium variety of paddy is Luchai. The production of fine varieties of paddy has registered a set-back for a decade or so, as in the opinion of cultivators, their cultivation is fraught with comparatively greater risks of failure.

Wheat

Wheat is grown mostly in Mungeli tahsil and west of Bilaspur tahsil and occupies 2·8% of the net cropped area. Wheat is sown from the end of October to early December in ground which, when unembanked, has been ploughed three or four times before the final sowing with which the seed is sown. The first ploughing of wheat fields being in the second half of August. Two more sowings are done either toward the end of September or the beginning of October and the final ploughing is done at the end of October or the beginning of November. The seed is sown in lines at the time of the final ploughing by being dropped through a hollow bamboo, called tora, which is inserted in a hole drilled through the wooden share of the plough. Wheat fields are generally not manured nor are weeding operations necessary. The area under wheat has consistantly decreased between 1941-1951; after 1951 there is a little increase but even in 1961, the area under wheat is just a little more than half of what it was in 1911. Most of the wheat fields have been converted to paddy ones, though in Mungeli tahsil, wheat is still an important crop.

Double Cropping

The system of double cropping, known as utera needs some mention here. In utera the method of sowing is very simple. The seed is scattered brord-cast when paddy is still standing in the fields: this sowing is done about the third week of October. Different utera crops are sown according to the condition of the field. Linseed and urad cannot stand soaking and are sown after the water has been run off from the fields; batra (Pisum sativum), gram and masur (Ervum lens) are generally sown a few hours before the water is run-off and tiwara (Lathyrus sativus) is allowed to soak in the fields for 24 hours or so before the field sluices are opened. The utera crops grow up for about a month or so in the shade of paddy plants which protect them from the rays of hot October sun. After the paddy is reaped in November the utera crop remains in the field. This second crop considerably enhances the value of the heavier soils, for it entails no labour except that involved in sowing and harvesting. It may be remembered here that utera crops are essentially those that are sown without reploughing, the very crops sown after reploughing do not come under the name of utera.

Outturns of Crops

The requirement of paddy seed per acre depends on the nature of the soil and varies between 40-50 kilograms. The average outturn is 10 fold (i.e. 400-500 kilogram per acre). The current yield in pounds of some of the crops in Bilaspur in 1960-61 is as below : Paddy (875), Wheat (534), Juar (772), Maize (990) Gram (404) Kodon—Kutki (285) Linseed (149).

Crop Diseases and Pests

Local names of the diseases of paddy and wheat crops are the same as elsewhere in Chhattisgarh. These are mahu, banki, bharbharha, fanfa, sawarkira, sendri, khairi and roki. The disease known as mahu is Nephotettix bipunctatus--a white insect which affects the paddy plants. Banki is Nymphula depunctalis which affects the crop in cloudless September when intense heat prevails and the fields are still full of water. Attacked by banki the paddy stalks wither and become yellow, the ears do not grow to full size and the seed is stunted and small. The common belief is that banki affects poorly manured fields and that it is especially injurious to crop sown by Lehi method. Fanfa (Heroglyphus furcifer) the green locust and the red locust (Cirphis unipuncta) are the greatest enemies of the young paddy plants and they nip of the young shoots which then fail to flower and seed. It is said that these insects attack the crop in seasons of deficient rainfall. Sawarkira is the greenish white caterpillar which cuts the ears of paddy. Bharbharha is the green rust which retards the growth of plants Some of the diseases of wheat are sendri, roki and khairi. Sendri is the most fatal scourge to wheat and the affected plants do not yield any grain. Roki is a rust and the affected plants yield shrivelled and stunted seed which is reddish in colour. Khairi is said to attach itself to the stem of plants and the affected crop yields shrivelled seed. The test of khairi is that the touch of infected plant leaves a yellow stain on fingers. The wheat is sometimes affected by another disease—Katua or the wheat stem-borer (Nongria uniformis)—which eats the young plants. Linseed and gram are attacked by an insect called bhong (Chlorodea obsoleta) in cloudy weather.

Agricultural Implements

A mention may be necessary here regarding agricultural implements used in the district. The term for plough is nagar but the plough here is somewhat lighter than that used in the wheat-growing areas. Kopar is a log of wood referred to earlier, used for levelling the field after the biasi of paddy is done. Datri is an implement used for pulverising the soil and thinning plants in the fields of late ripening Kodon. It is a log of wood fitted with about 13 wooden teeth or nails driven in it in one row. Wheat is sown through a hollow bamboo called tora which is inserted in a hole drilled through the nas or wooden share of the plough. This bamboo stands upright between the bullocks (or buffalos, as the case may be) and ploughman and is surmounted by a bottomless wooden cup known as paila, which fits over the top of it and into which a second man drops the seed. Tutari is the term for the stick used by the cartman or ploughman for driving the bullocks. It is pointed at one end with an iron nail.

Other petty implements used in agriculture are—Chatwar, Sur, Kalari and the common sickle (Hasiya) and crow—bar (Sabar). Chatwar is a wooden implement to cut clods out of moist ground with which field embankments are prepared and breaches in the bund are closed. Sur is a wooden pole to carry bundles of harvest to the threshing floor or Khalihan. Kalari is a wooden pole with a big iron nail turned into a sickle shape it is used far separating stalks from the seed. Kudra or Kudari is the term for pick-axe.

Irrigation

Irrigation is not a regular feature of local agriculture and the figures for irrigated area fluctuate considerably from year to year. In 1903-04, the irrigated area amounted to only 3,000 acres as against 206,459 acres in 1960-61. Irrigation tanks in the district are those of Hardi, Dhanras, Barpali, Maniari and Karung and a major project over the Hasdo is under execution. According to the information contained in Statistical Abstract of Madhya Pradesh, 1961-62, there are 14,207 wells (irrigating 4,271 acres) and 14,918 tanks (irrigating 17,542 acres). The district has the largest number of irrigation tanks. In the opinion of G. M. Harriot who prepared a note on Irrigation in the Bilaspur District in 1902, "irrigation from tanks or from channels direct, fed from storage reservoirs or from streams, is named locally as the system best suited to the physical features and requirements of the district." The area irrrigated by canals in 1960-61 is 178,635 acres and by other sources 6,011 acres.

During the first plan period,8 tanks were constructed in the district under the GMF Scheme, 7 of these being in Janjgir tahsil alone. Development of Maniari tank was taken up in the second Plan and the estimated cost of the project was about Rs. 25 lakhs. The project envisaged an increase of commanded area from 78,284 acres to 100,000 acres. This scheme has a spill-over in the third plan also. Construction of Rogda tank was also completed during the Second Plan. One major scheme—that of the Hasdo is being executed in the district. A ceiling of Rs. 13·5 lakhs has been fixed for 7 minor irrigation scheme—3 in Mungeli tahsil, 2 in Bilaspur tahsil and one each in Janjgir and Sakti tahils. The irrigation capacity and potentials of the district are shown below :

By works prior to I Plan	183,027	acres
By works executed duriug I Plan period	1,629	acres
By works of II Plan Planned Scheme	21,716	acres
Small scale irrigation	1,073	acres
G.M.F. Schemes	548	acres
Block works	4,736	acres
III Plan schemes excluding Hasdo	4,417	acres
Area expected to come under the command of Hasdo Major Project	600,000	acres
	832,146	acres

Other Industries and Occupations

It will be seen from the table given earlier in connection with working force and occupation that after cultivation and agriculture labour, the largest number of persons are engaged in household industry with a close second in those engaged on other services. Though there is no direct comparability between 1951 and 1961 figures, they may be given here to indicate the trend :

Industry	No. of Persons engaged
	1951	1961
Livestock, fishing, hunting, mining and quarrying etc.	6,332	30,658
Manufacture including household industry	17,829	52,588
Construction	1,986	6,307
Commerce	11,326	18,497
Transport, Storage and Communication	5,711	9,880
Other Services	17,800	40,998

These figures reflect the development that the district has made during the last 10 years. In 1951, the number of persons engaged in mining and quarrying were 260 (73 males and 187 Females). This number has now increased to 4,979 (3993 males 986 females). This extraordinary increase is due to the opening up of Hirri dolomite mines and Korba coal fields. In spinning and weaving of cotton textiles (handlooms and powerlooms) the figures has gone up from 2,829 persons in 1951 to 9,547 persons in 1961, 7,587 of whom were engaged on weaving of handlooms only. The increase in the number of persons engaged in transport by road has not registered any great increase it has gone up from 1,524 in 1951 to 1,891 in 1961. The number of persons engaged in transport by rail has, however, almost doubled : from 3,848 in 1951 to 6,514 in 1961. This increase is to a very large extent due to Bilaspur being made the headquarters of a district of the South-Eastern Railway and consequent expansion of the railway colony. The increase in the number of persons engaged on construction is due to expansion of this sector of work and great pace of building and other constructions.

Arts and Manufacture

Bilaspur district has yet to make a headway in the field of manufacture and industries. The tasar silk or Kosa weaving industry of the district is the best in the State and the most famous centre of this industry is Champa. Other centres of Kosa weaving are Baloda, Khokra, Chhuri and Bilaspur town. As compared to the thirtees and forties of the present century, however, Kosa industry has declined, to a large extent due to the competition from the mill-made artificial silk and other fine cloth, Handloom cotton-weaving has continued to hold sway. It is carried on by the Koshtas, Gandas, Pankas and Maharas and in addition to the centres already mentioned, handloom weaving centres are Chandarpur, Takhatpur, Karnod, Bambidih, Nawagarh and Mungeli. Ratanpur has a bell metal industry and glass and lac bangles are manufactured at Ratanpur, Mungeli and other places. Besides these there are a number of rice mills and saw mills in the district.

Trade and Commerce

The chief wealth of the district consists in its agricultural and forest produce. The forest-produces exported consists worth of sal, teak and bijasal logs and sleepers, bamboo, tendu leaves, harra, myrobalams, mahua and lac. Rice and wheat as well as oil seeds also form items of export.

Mineral Wealth

From the point of view of mineral wealth, the district is best known at present from Korba coal-field. Dolomite deposits have begun to be exploited near Hirri by the Bhilai Steel Project. Iron ore found in the hills to the north is only worked by indigenous blacksmiths. Manganese is found here and there but no economic deposit has been discovered so far.

Communication

Bombay-Nagpur-Howrah railway line passes through the centre of district. Entering Bilaspur tahsil from the south, close to Nipania Station in Raipur district, it follows a northerly course to Bilaspur town where it takes a turn to the east to Raigarh. The length of this line within Bilaspur district is 65 miles. Between 1888 and 1890 Bilaspur was connected with Raipur and Raigarh and by 1900 connection with Calcutta was established. Bilaspur-Katni branch of the South-Eastern Railway was opened in 1891 and its length within the district is 74 miles. Thus Bilaspur district has 139 miles of railway.

As on 1st April 1956, the district has 489 miles 1 furlong length of State roads, 345 miles of which is class I road. Most of the road length of the district is in the southern half of the district, the northern and especially the north-eastern part is more or less road less in the strict sense. Some of the northern parts of Katghora and Bilaspur tahsil become inaccessible during the monsoons and even otherwise are accessible with difficulty.

Important roads are those connecting Bilaspur to Kawardha via Mungeli, to Raipur and to Sheorinarayan. Of these Bilaspur-Raipur route is the busiest.

Hospitals, Dispensaries and Public Health.

According to the District Gazetteer, 1910, Bilaspur then had 10 dispensaries. The present position is—27 grades allopathic dispensaries and 20 Aryuvedic dispensaries. 27 allopathic dispensaries include the leprosy clinics and T.B. Sanatorium. There are 9 Family Planning Centres in the district.

The T.B. Sanatorium is situatad at Pendra in the salubrious climate of the Pendra Plateau at the foot of the Amarkantak hills. Well equipped hospitals are run by the Christain Mission at Mungeli and Bilaspur.

Education

At the 1901 Census, Bilaspur district was the least literate in the erstwhile Central Provinces and Berar, with only one exception. In 1900-01 there were only 8,594 pupils and 148 schools. The present position has been shown elsewhere in the handbook. In 1961 the literacy in Bilaspur district is higher than the State and Division percentages. These are shown below :

Region	Total Population		Males		Females
	Rural	Urban	Rural	Urban	Rural	Urban
M.P. State	12.73	43.52	21.81	56.51	3.36	28.35
Bilaspur Division	13.02	43.92	22.61	58.89	3.55	27.01
Bilaspur District	15.70	46.00	27.51	61.34	4.31	28.97

In respect of literacy, Bilaspur district is ahead of the nearby districts Raipur, Raigarh, Surguja, Mandla, Durg and Shahdol. There are at present 3 Colleges in Bilaspur town and one each in Mungeli and Janjgir. The Colleges in Bilaspur town are the S.B.R. Arts and Science College, the C.M.D. Arts and Commerce College and the Government Girls Degree College. The first two Colleges are run by benevolent donations and assisted by the Government. The S.B.R. Arts and Science College is governed by the Mahakosala Education Society which also runs the Colleges at Janjgir and Mungeli. In addition to these, there is a Law College and a Post-graduate Basic Training College at Bilaspur.

Local Bodies

The district now has 5 municipalities as against 1 existing in 1908. The oldest municipality is that of Bilaspur having been constituted in 1867 with 12 members. The other municipalities are those of Mungeli, Kota, Champa and Sakti.

From the point of view of general elections, Bilaspur is the largest district and had 19 constituencies in the last general election, 6 of which were reserved (3 for S.C. and 3 for S.T.). The results of the last two general elections are shown below:

Year	No. of Constiuencies		No. of Polling Stations	Seats won by parties for
	Parliament	Legislative Assembly		Parliament		Assembly
				Congress	Inde-pedents	Cong-ress	Jan Sangh	PSP	Ram Raj Par-ishad	Inde-pen-dants
1957	2	14 (5 Double Member)	1107	2	..	14	..	1	3	1
1962	2	19	1115	1	1	16	1	..	1	1

Crime—

The statistics of crime are furnished elsewhere in this handbook. Bilaspur is one of those districts where the incidence of murder is somewhat high and there are some police stations, for example, Hirri P.S., which are notorious for murders. The predominant causes of murder are land disputes and sex intrigues and the caste in which murder is a common phenomenon is the Satnami. Among the Satnamis, child-marriage has become established as a social institution and one of the ills of this institution is the high frequency of desertions and remarriages. This ill becomes more poignant because of the practice of bride-price. Desertions by women and failure of one party to pay compensation to the loser, is one of the common causes of murder. Among the Satnamis, again, disputes about land are quite common and frequently lead to murders. Below is given a table showing the murder by cause for 1959-63.

S. No.	Causes	Number of murders in
		1959	1960	1961	1962	1963
1.	Disputes about property	11	8	3	2	2
2.	Disputes about women and sex-intrigues	10	17	14	8	6
3.	Robbery	5	6	2	2	2
4.	Witch-craft	1	2	1	2	1
5.	Miscellaneous	26	29	32	30	42
	Total	53	62	52	44	53

As the above table would show, murders due to suspected which-craft, though less common, still prevail and every year there has been at least one murder on this account. The incidence of suicide and attempted suicide is also appreciable and in most of the cases, the cause is prolonged illness or domestic frustration. Number of suicides and attempted suicides for 1958-63 were ; 1958 (24), 1959 (38), 1960 (30), 1961 (38), 1962 (41), and 1963 (34). One interesting case of suicide took place in 1959. In a village under the jurisdiction of P.S. Janjgir, a Teli man jumped into the burning pyre of his wife at the funeral. He was somehow taken out but later succumbed to burn injuries in the hospital.

Religious Beliefs, Fairs and Festivals

As in Raipur district, the religion that is followed by the people in the rural areas of the district, is a mixture of the great Hindu tradition and the primitive tribal beliefs. Thakur Deo is the most important deity in the rural areas. The agricultural year begins on Akti or the third day of Baisakh (April-May). On that day a cup made of palas leaves and filled with rice is offered to Thakur Deo. On the Hareli, or festival of the fresh verdure, which falls on the 15th day of Shrawan (July-August), balls of flour mixed with salt are given to the cattle and and agricultural implements are taken to the tank, washed and worshipped, Before harvesting, Thakur Deo is propitiated with an offering. Bhainsasur is another deity associated with cultivation. Bhainsasur is worshipped when the rice is coming into ear and, if possible, sacrifice of a pig us made to propitiate him. When the standing corn in the fields is beaten down at night, it is believed that Bhainsasur has been passing over it. He is also believed to steal the crop while it is being cut and is lying on the ground. Other deities worshipped in the tribal areas are the Banjari Deo, Maswasi Deo and a host of others. Belief in witch-craft has considerably decreased now but is not yet extinct.

Some of the important festivals observed in the rural areas are Jawara, Hareli, Pola or Pora, Bhojli, Dasahra, Dewali, Sankrant, Holi and Sivaratri. In all, 31 fairs are held in the district of which those of Seorinarayon and Pithampur are attended by some 100,000 persons, other fairs are smallar. The fair at Pithampur is held on the second day of Holi and lasts for about 5 days The belief about this fair is that worshipping the idol of Shiva here cures stomach troubles. The fair at Seorinarayan was in the nature of a small fair upto the first decade of the present century but is now the biggest fair in the district. The fair at Ratanpur is usually attended by the Satnamis from the district and nearby districts, whereas the fair at Kudarmal is a fair of the Kabirpanthi sect. The grave of Churaman, the son of Dharmdas, Kabir's principal desciple and successor, is said to be located here.

Community Development and National Extention Service:

The district is divided into 24 development blocks one of which—Pondi Uprora block—is a Special Multipurpose Tribal Block (SMPT Block). Tahsil-wise these blocks are distributed as below:

Mungeli (4), Bilaspur (5), Janjgir (6), Katghora (5) and Sakti (4).

The Community Development Movement was launched in the district on 2-10-1953, i. e. a year after it was started in Raipur district and 2 blocks were established (Masturi and Lormi). At present there are 14 Stage-I Blocks 6 Stage-II Blocks, 2 Stage-III Blocks T.D. Block (II Stage) and SMPT Block (II Stage). Yearwise establishment of development blocks is as follows :

Important Places

Akaltara—(8,164) A big village in Janjgir tahsil, Akaltara has been classified as Class V town for the first time in this Census. It is the second railway station from Bilaspur on Bilaspur-Calcutta line and is an important business centre of the district. The name Akaltara may be a derivation from Akaldeva, the younger brother of Prithi deva II of the Haihayvanshi dynasty of Ratanpur. About 8 miles from Akaltara is situated the Dalha hill which forms a solitary prominent feature on the landscape.

Bilha—(2,973) The second railway station from Bilaspur towards Raipur, Bilha is a growing village, It is an important trade centre and has many rice mills. Quarrying of sandstone is also done here.

Champa—(16,258) formerly the headquarters of Champa Jamindari is a municipal town now. It was first classified as Class V town in 1921 and was upgraded as a Class IV town in 1951. It is famous for its tasar cloth industry. It is a big trading centre of the district and there is a leper asylum here.

Dhanpur—A village 5 miles to the north of Pendra. There are some archaeological remains here being mostly pieces of jain sculpture.

Janjgir—(6,842) Headquarters of tahsil of the same name, Janjgir is not yet classified as a town and is overshadowed by Champa, which is a railway station. There are two richly decorated old temples here. There is nothing certain about the origin of name Janjgir though it has very likely been derived from Jajalla-nagari or the town founded by Jajjala deva a king of Ratanpur.

Kharod—A large village about 2 miles from Seorinarayan on the Akaltara road and a mile from the Mahanadi. The village has some old temples of which that of Lakhneshwar is the largest and most important. Two inscriptions have been discovered here, one of the 8th and the other of the 11th century. Another temple worth mention is the Savari temple situated to the south of the village.

Kota (6,591)—Kota is the second station from Bilaspur on the Bilaspur-Katni railway line. It is a class V town now and was first created a town in 1941 when it was in class VI. A match factory was started here in 1902 but has since been closed. Quarrying for road metal is done in the nearly hill. Kota is also a municipality.

Kotgarh—The village is famours for an old fort and remains of some sculptured temples. Several inscriptions were discovered here but they have all been removed. There is a mutilated statue of the goddess Mahamai and the legend about it is that a human sacrifice was offered to this deity for the prevention of cholera but when the desease did not abate, the image was mutilated.

Kudarmal—This is a village is Janjgir tahsil famous for the fair of the Kabirpanth sect. The village is situated 17 miles north of Champa station and contains the grave, of Churaman son of Dharamdas, a disciple of Kabir and the first Mahant of the Kabirpanth sect.

Laphagarh—Situated 30 miles north of Bilaspur, the hill of Laphagarh is 3,240 feet high and there is an old fort on the top of this hill with decorated pillars. An image of goddess Mahamaya is enshrined in a temple here. The image is broken and is said to have so become by the entry of on European in this temple. There is also a natural cave here with a small Linga within. Colonel Vertue, one of the former Deputy Commissioners of the district, built a banglow on the top of the hill but it is now destroyed. There are four tanks on the summit of the hill, two of which retain water all the year round. Laphagarh is a very pichuresque place to visit.

Mallar—A large village 16 miles to the north-east of Bilaspur town Mallar is a very important place from the archaeological point of view and contains ruins of old temples. Many inscriptions were also discovered here.

Mungeli (12,431)—Mungeli is the heanquarters of the tahsil of the same name and an important trade centre of the district. It is the wheat granary of the district. The town is some 31 miles from Bilaspur and is situated on the bank of river Agar. Mungeli has a well equipped hospital managed by a Christian mission.

Pali (972)—A village of archaeological interest is situated 22 miles north-east of Bilaspur. There are remains of several old temples here and the one which was better preserved, has been described in the 1910 Gazeteer as "one of the finest in the Central Provinces."

Pandatarai—A village in Mungeli tahsil, situated on the border between this district and Durg near the foot of the Maikal range. The place appears to have been of considerable importance in ancient times and cut stones and other remains of buildings are often found below the surface of the ground in the neighbourhood. Some old temples also exist in the village.

Pendra (6,081)—Pendra has been recognised as a class V town for the first time in 1961. It is situated 5 miles from Gaurella station on Bilaspur-Katni railway line. The name of the place is supposed to be derived from Pindari or highway robbers, as several bands of these used to have their headquarters in the area in former days. Being situated at a high altitude at the fort of the Maikal range, Pendra has a fine, salu-brious climate and a T. B. sanatorium has been established here.

Pithampur (1,040)A village in Janjgir tahsil on the western bank of the Hasdo, 4 miles south of Champa railway station, the village is known principally for the big fair that is annually held here on the full moon of the Phalguna month. The belief about this fair is that people troubled with disorders of the stomach are cured if they come here and make offerings to the idol of Shiva.

Ratanpur (7,448) Situated 16 miles north of Bilaspur, Ratanpur was for many centuries the capital of Chhattisgarh under the Haihayvanshi dynasty and is believed to have been founded by king Ratandeo I in the 10th Century. The settlement lies at the base of the Kenda range and is situated in a physiographic depression surrounded by isolated hills so that nothing is seen of it until one actually enters the precincts. It is said that at the height of its importance the town extended as far as Pali. A small fair of the Satnamis is held here.

Seorinarayan 39 miles south-east of Bilaspur in Janjgir tahsil, village is situated at the confluence of the Mahandi and the Jonk and the confluence of the former with the Seonath is one mile upstream from here.The village name is supposed to be a corruption of Sawar Narayan, and it is said that a Sawar lived in the forest here and worshipped Jagannath. Another popular belief is that this is the place where Rama and Laxmana met Savari during their exile. Until 1891, seorinarayan was the headquarters of Janjgir tahsil. The headquarters was shifted from here because of its distance from the railway line and also because of constant danger from the floods. There are some Vishnuite temples here and a big fair is held here on the last day of Magh.

Takhatpur(6,075) A large village on Bilaspur—Mungeli road 18 miles west of Bilaspur, The village is situated on the Maniari river. It is said to be named after its founder Takhat Singh, a Haihaya prince. Takhatpur is an important trade centre and is famous for its guava. It is a development block headquarters now.

Tuman A small village in Bilaspur Tahsil but of considerable historical importance. According to Hiralal, Tuman was the first capital of the Haihaya kings when they came to Chhattisgarh.

Summing up—

Looked at from the point of view of tradition and history, Bilaspur is undoubtedly the most important district in the eastern M. P. for it was here that the ancient capital of Chhattisgarh was situated. Not only was the district the seat of the entire Chhattisgarh region during all historic time, but the capital existed here throughout the four cosmic periods of the world. However, the close of the glorious period of Haihayvnashi rule brought decay and disintegration and the district fell on evil days which followed the wave of Maratha conquest, and began to be dreaded, along with the rest of Chhattis garh, as a land of barbarians, witches and evil spirits.

The district is the biggest in the state in respect of population and fourth largest in area. The over all density of population per sq. mile is 260 as against 162 for the State and also for the Division. In the plains area in the southern half, the population density grows to as much as 481 and 535. A very large segment of the large population of the district is dependent on agriculture which has yet to keep pace with modern developments. Nature has not endowed the district with any mineral wealth worth the name except coal and limestone which have been begun to be exploited only very recently. The agricultural sector is also not as fortunate as that of Raipur, in having facilities of irrigation, though efforts are afoot to increase the area under irrigation. Nature has been somewhat kind in endowing Mungli Tahsil with heavy black soil which receives less rainfall. This feature makes this part of the district amply suited for the cultivation of wheat.

In respect of the population—trend during the decade 1951—61, the district presents a paradox : it has the largest population in the state but the population growth during the decade has been the least. During the period 1901—61, the district has registered the least population growth in Bilaspur Division. This may on the one hand be due to the fact that the district is already oversaturated to invite further immigration and on the other due to is lagging behind in the field of industrial development.

Compared with the State, the district has 2 persons less per 100 in the age—group 5—34 which is and is likely to be the fertile age—group, whereas in the higher age-groups the district has larger proportions than the state. As compared with the 1951 figures, the proportion of persons in the age—group 0—14 has increased whereas in the next age-group i.e. 15—34, there is a decrease. These features may probably indicate that unless the pace of industrial development is increased, the trend of population may remain as it is. Whereas this foretells a lag in the population growth in the district as compared to the State, it may also be regarded to be a fortunate trend for there are already too many mouths to feed.

Historically speaking, this part of the State has been the seat of various movements which have attempted to retrieve members of castes regarded to be lower in the social hierarchy. The effects of these currents and cross-currents become perceptible in the returns of scheduled castes in this census as compared to earlier periods. The sex-ratio in this district, as elsewhere in the rice-belt of the State, is high : 1,024 as against 953 of the State. Divorce and remarriages are common phenomena and are socially-approved. Child-marriages are also common among some sections of the people though the extent of these is not reflected in the tables.

The district does not have any important household industry except weaving. Tasar weaving, for whice the district was once noted, has undergone decay. Without any significent arts and manufactures, the main wealth of the district lies in its agriculture and forests. Communications are satisfactory in the southern half of the district but poor in the northern hilly and forest belt. The total road-length is less than that of Durg District which is smaller in area. The road-length per square mile is lower in the district as compared to the State average.

Literacy has improved significantly—in 1901 the the district was one of the least literate in erstwhile C. P. and Berar. Now the percentage of literacy is higher here than in the State and in the Division and the district seems to have shaped better in this respect than its neighbours.

Though the district does not have as bright an industrial future as Raipur or Durg, the completion of the Hasdeo Project and the development of Korba coal-field may have an important role to play in the economic life of the district in times to come.

APPENDIX 1

INDUSTRIAL ESTABLISHMENTS

Note:—This appendix has been prepared from information abstracted from the houselists. It is arranged first districtwise; that is, under the name of the district have been arranged the industries in ascending order of minor groups, showing the total number of establishments within brackets next to each minor group. The information has been shown by total, rural and urban separately. The figures for the tahsil follow the figures for the district as a whole. The total, rural and urban figures for each tahsil for each minor group of industry showing the number of establishments in each in brackets have been presented first. Then follows the list of the villages in the order of their location code numbers with the location code number appearing first, followed by the name of the village. Against each village is shown the minor group or minor groups of industry found in the village with the number of establishments in that minor group shown within brackets against each minor group. For towns, figures have been presented separately for each ward, the number of ward being given first, followed by the industrial code numbers etc. as in the case of villages.

The following examples will make the above Note clear :—
