DISTRICT CENSUS HAND BOOKS

District Census Hand-books for each of the 43 Districts in Madhya Pradesh

PREFACE

The publication of District Census Hand-books, which was begun in the 1951 Census, represents a significant step in the process of making census statistics available for the smaller territorial units basic to executive and developmental administration. Apart from the fact that the proper implementation of policy depends on the ability of the administrative authorities concerned to quantify accurately the variables involved, it is at these levels that policies get really thoroughly tested; also, policies can fail—and probably have failed—because their statistical basis was weak. It is undoubtedly necessary that gaps in statistics at lower levels be filled as rapidly as possible. It was not possible at this Census to base all census statistics on the development block as the unit mainly because in 1961 there were many areas not till then covered by blocks. The coverage had become complete by about the middle of 1963 and it is not unlikely that the 1971 Census will recognise the block as the basic field unit as much for purposes of presentation as for operational purposes.

2. What we have tried to do in the 1961 Census Hand-books is to make them more informative by the inclusion of as many categories of non-census statistics as possible; some of these are climate, agriculture, co-operation, industry, banking, education, health etc. There is also an introductory note to each Hand-book high-lighting the more striking features. It has not been possible for the Census Organisation to check the accuracy of the figures supplied by various authorities; it is to be hoped that some other organisation, better equipped for the purpose, will take up this task.

3. For the seventeen districts of Mahakoshal (Part of erstwhile Madhya Pradesh) and for Panna and Tikamgarh districts of erstwhile Vindhya Pradesh, which are part of the present State of Madhya Pradesh, the area figures for districts and tahsils furnished by the Director of Land Records and presented in Table A-I are internally inconsistent in the sense that the tahsil areas do not add up to the district area. This inconsistency arose from the fact that, in the case of these districts, the district area includes, but the tahsil areas exclude, 'forest' area for which the tahsilwise breakup was not then available. Later on, while this Hand-book was in the press, the Director of Land Records brought out revised area figures for the year 1962-63 for tahsils and districts, which among other improvements, do not suffer from the defect of internal inconsistency even in case of these nineteen districts. Revision of Table A-I on the basis of these area figures was not feasible at this late stage; the only alternative was to print these revised area figures also in this Hand-book.

4. One unfortunate fact about these Hand-books is that they became available to the users rather late in the decade. This is partly due to the considerable time required for the collection of information from various authorities and partly to difficulties in printing. Owing to the fact that State presses, with a heavy back-log of printing weighing down on them, would find it impossible to print all the District Census Hand-books themselves, arrangements have been made for printing them in private presses. If these Hand-books are to have a useful life of more than four or five years of inter-censal decennium, more expeditious methods for the collection of non-census statistics, for the preparation and checking of the manuscripts and for printing will have to be devised.

5. The Census Organisation is grateful to the Government of Madhya Pradesh for having been so kind as to undertake the publication of these Hand-books and to the Superintendent, Government Printing and his organisation—particularly the Assistant Superintendent, Printing, Government Regional Press, Indore and his staff—for the printing arrangements made. The inspiration behind this ambitious venture is that of our indefatigable Registrar General, Shri Asok Mitra, to whom we are all deeply grateful. Our thanks are also due to the various authorities who supplied us with all the necessary statistics.

NOTES AND EXPLANATIONS

This note gives the meanings and explanations of terms and concepts used in this Handbook. This is necessary because, without a proper grasp of the meanings of such simple concepts as building, house, household, worker, etc., it is not possible to appreciate the data presented in the Handbook. Thus, one who does not know that an unpretentious hut in the thick of Bastar forests with unplastered bamboo walls and a thatch roof and with space hardly enough for two cots is not a whit less of a building than the Indian versions of the skyscrapers in one of the metropolitan cities, or that a central jail housing all manner of criminals and shady characters is as much a household as the household of the most pious and god-fearing citizen in the State, may not be able to appreciate what exactly the figures represent. Besides explaining the terms and concepts, the note also contains brief notes on the salient and peculiar features of some of the Census tables presented in this Handbook.

Census.—The Census in India is a decennial operation taking place in February-March of the first year of every decade. It ensures coverage of all members of the population irrespective of age. The operations constituting a Census involve, besides counting of heads, the counting of numerous attributes of the person counted. These are demographic, social, economic and cultural in nature. The number of these attributes regarding which information is recorded has been increasing from census to census and is limited only by considerations of cost, time and organisation.

Population.—The important thing about a population is that it is dynamic. It is a constantly changing entity. These changes take place by the natural processes of birth and death as well as by migration. A statement of population has therefore little sense unless the point of time to which it relates is also stated. A population figure is correct only for a particular point of time; and, even though in practice one may omit to indicate this point of time, one should none the less be clear about it. The population figures presented herein refer to the sunrise of 1st March, 1961, unless otherwise stated.

Rural-Urban Classification:—Data collected at a Census is usually presented separately for the rural and urban areas. A 'town' or a 'town-group' constitutes an urban area. A 'town' in the 1961 Census was either (i) a municipality, cantonment or corporation; or (ii) a habitation with a population at least of 5,000 with atleast three-fourths of the adult male population being engaged in non-agricultural pursuits. The rural-urban classification, being operationally cardinal and prior in point of time to the census count, had to be tackled earlier and a list of 219 towns in the State was therefore, prepared much earlier than the census proper. This included 28 habitations which were tentatively treated as towns, the intention being that, after the 1961 Census data became available, their cases would be re-examined. Later on, however, no modification was made in the list, even though 7 towns did not satisfy either the minimum population criterion or the one based on the ratio of non-agricultural adult males being 75% or greater. These are Gogaon in West Nimar, Datla Bandhi in Chhindwara (both under 5,000 in population); and, Icchawar, Patan, Pendra, Akaltara, Arang respectively in Sehore, Jabalpur, Bilaspur, Bilaspur, and Raipur Districts (not satisfying the economic criterion). The reason for not disturbing the original list of towns was that as many as 14 habitations which did not satisfy one or the other of the criteria laid down earlier managed to sneak into the list of towns as municipalities, and inclusion of seven more such towns was not supposed to introduce greater demographic distortion than was already present. The cases of Chachaura-Binaganj town in Guna District and Sardarpur-Rajgarh in Dhar District are peculiar in that each of these two municipal towns consists of two distinct habitations separated by 2 miles in the first and 3 miles in the second case.

All areas, which were not urban were rural. They consisted of 'villages'. A very large majority of the census villages were 'revenue villages', which had well demarcated or recognised boundaries, and which included not only the inhabited portion (or portions) but also agricultural land and uninhabited waste (or other) lands. The census village was thus not synonymous with a habitation or a dwelling; in fact, a village could contain two or more distinct habitations separated by considerable distances known variously as 'tola' or 'mazra' or 'para'. Besides, in many districts there were forest villages, situated inside Reserved forests and without clearly demarcated boundaries. The areas entered against these villages in the Village Directory are thus only approximate. It is to be noted that being, as observed by Martin [Census Superintendent (old) Madhya Pradesh, 1911 and Census Commissioner for India, 1921] arbitrary and irregular units of area, carved out chiefly for revenue and administrative purposes, there are many revenue villages which do not have any habitation. They are not, therefore, of much demographic interest, and their inclusion in the Village Directory is only for a proper tally of area aggregates.

A—General Population Tables:

There are four main tables and three appendices in this series.

Table A-1.—This table presents the basic figures relating to area, houses and population separately for the rural and urban areas of each district, each tahsil, and for each city, towngroup or town. The area figures used in the table for the district and the tahsils are those furnished by the State Director of Land Records. In case of the district, the area figures furnished in 1962 by the Surveyor-General, India are also given. The Surveyor-General does not furnish area figures for tahsils. In case of cities and towns the area figures are furnished by the local urban authority (if any) in charge of the municipal administration, or by the local revenue authorities. Except in case of Raipur and Sagar districts, there is no agreement between the area figures for the district furnished by the Director of Land Records and the Surveyor-General, India. These differences arise principally from the differences in the methods adopted by the two agencies in measuring and computing the area.

In the case of eighteen districts (Bastar, Raipur, Durg, Raigarh, Bilaspur, Surguja, Balaghat, Seoni, Chhindwara, Mandla, Narsimhapur, Jabalpur, Sagar, Hoshangabad, Betul, East Nimar, Tikamgarh and Panna), only the district 'total' and 'rural' figures for area include the forest area; the figures for forest area were not available for individual tahsils in these districts, and hence the tahsilwise area figures for these districts do not include forest area. This fact is important particularly for appreciating the district and tahsil population density figures of these districts. The population density (i.e., persons per square mile) given in column 4 of the table is calculated on the basis of the figures of area supplied by the State Directorate of Land Records.

Occupied Residential House.—This is a Census house which was actually occupied at the time of enumeration for residential purposes either partly or fully. The concept of 'Census house' together with the allied concepts of 'building' and 'household' are dealt with later in this note.

Town Group.—The introduction of the concept of "towngroup" is a new feature of the 1961 Census. One kind of 'towngroup' has its basis in what may be called demographic prognosis, this being that a particular group of towns is situated in such a way, and exhibits some interconnecting features of such a kind, that they can be considered a single demographic entity whose organic nature is likely to become more and more evident in the future. Examples are: Bhopal City with Bairagarh in the West and Heavy Electricals Township in the East; and Durg Town and Bhilai Industrial Township. The other type of towngroup is a group only in name in the sense that it represents a group of localities which geography unites but definition separates. Examples are Sagar Towngroup consisting of Sagar Municipality and Sagar Cantt., and Jabalpur Towngroup (consisting of Jabalpur Corporation, Jabalpur Cantt. and Khamaria). In both these instances, the urban complex is single and continuous, but as each corporation or cantonment is a separate town by definition, it gets split up in the Census into more than one town. In Madhya Pradesh there are six towngroups in all; three of them belong to the first type: Bhopal in Sehore District: Murwara in Jabalpur District and Durg in Durg District; the other three belong to the second type, Pachmarhi in Hoshangabad District, Sagar in Sagar District and Jabalpur in Jabalpur District.

Houseless & Institutional Population:—"Houseless population" means those who did not live and were not enumerated, in Census-houses at the last Census. Obviously these swell the ranks of the social destitutes who, to speak in every day parlance do not have even a roof over their heads, but live under the shade of trees or bridges or on pavements. "Institutional population" means the population that was enumerated in institutions at the last census i.e., in hostels, jails, boarding houses, hospitals etc.

Class of Towns.—Towns are classified into six classes as below according to their population sizes:—

Class	Population range
I	100,000 and above
II	50,000—99,999
III	20,000—49,999
IV	10,000—19,999
V	5,000—9,999
VI	Below 5,000

Towns of Class I are also known as Cities.

"Status" of a town means the authority in charge of its local urban administration. Thus a town could have a Municipal Corporation; a Municipality, a Cantonment Board, a Gram Panchayat, a Town or Notified Area Committee, etc.

B—(i) General Economic Tables.—This series includes 22 tables containing information on certain economic aspects of the population. The concepts involved have undergone significant changes as compared with the 1951 and earlier Censuses. In the 1951 and earlier censuses or at any rate in the last few censuses income or economic independence (and dependence) were treated as the criteria for denoting the economic status of a person. Separate account used to be taken of all persons who were economically independent and of those who were economically dependent. An intermediate category of economic semi-independence was also introduced in the 1931 Census. This consisted of the 'earning dependents' of the 1951 Census and even there the element of income was present. This income-based classification seems to have not infrequently resulted in a suppression of information relating to those who worked in household economic activities but did not actually earn any income like men other than the head of the household and women of the family or children working at the family cultivation or cottage industry but not earning any incomes. The 1961 Census introduced the concept of work and totally abandoned the 'income' approach. Thus all people who worked (i.e., were "economically active") including family workers who were not in receipt of any income, & working children who did not earn enough for their maintenance were treated as workers. On the other hand such persons as a receiver of rents on immovable property, or of interest on securities deposited in a bank, and doing no other work, were treated as non-workers. Persons professionally engaged in anti-social activities (i.e., thieves, robbers, prostitutes, beggars, etc.) were, however, not treated as workers. The approach to the concept of "work" was pragmatic and numerous illustrations were given to clarify the concept. The basis of work was held to be satisfied in the case of seasonal work i.e., work at cultivation, livestock, dairying or household industry if the person has had some regular work of more than one hour a day throughout the greater part of the working season. In the case of regular employment in any trade, profession, service, business or commerce the basis of work was satisfied if the person was employed during any of the fifteen days preceding the day on which he was visited by the Census enumerator. A person who was working but was absent from his work during those fifteen days or for a longer period owing to illness or other causes was treated as worker. Work included not only actual physical work but also effective supervision and direction of work.

The Working Categories:—The primary classification of the population is by means of a simple dichotomy into workers and non-workers. The former is further sub-divided into nine sub-classes or working categories of the Census. These are listed below; the correspondence with the Standard National Industrial Classification is also indicated.

	CENSUS WORKING CATEGORY	CORRESPONDING DIVISION OR MAJOR GROUP OR MINOR GROUP OF NIC
I	Workers in cultivation	Minor Groups 000, 001, 002, 003, 004,
II	Agricultural Labourers ...	The same as in I above
III	Workers in mining, quarrying, livestock, forestry, fishing, hunting and plantations, orchards and allied activities	Major Groups 01, 02, 03 and 04 and Division 1; Minor Groups 005, 006, 007, 008, 009 (if not classifiable as household industry)
IV	Workers in household industry ...	Minor Groups 005 to 009, 013, 014, 015, 020 to 026, 031, 032, 040 to 048, 107, Divisions 2 & 3 (excepting Minor Groups 201, 217, 218, 232, 252, 260, 290, 324, 325, 338 and 380) if on a household scale
V	Workers in manufacturing other than household industry ...	Divisions 2 & 3
VI	Workers in construction ...	Division 4
VII	Workers in Trade and Commerce ...	Division 6
VIII	Workers in Transport Storage and Communications ...	Division 7
IX	Workers in other services ..	Divisions 5, 8 & 9

The only term requiring explanation is household industry, the others being self-explanatory. As regards household industry, a three-fold test was laid down, viz:—

(a) "Household Industry" should consist of manufacture, processing or servicing and may include sale but should not be confined simply to buying and selling. At least part of the goods offered for sale from the household should be manufactured or processed by members of the household.

(b) "Household Industry" should be on the household scale where the workers mainly will be the Head of the household himself and/or members of the household, the role of hired workers from outside being of secondary importance. Thus, in any Household Industry, members of the household should be in a position to lend a hand in the industry whenever they find the time in the course of their daily chores. Household Industry cannot, therefore, be on the scale of a registered factory but can use machinery and employ power like steam engine or oil engine or electricity to drive the machinery.

(c) Location also is important, for proximity decides participation by members of the household. In a village this participation is possible if the Household Industry is located at home or within the village because village organisation is such as makes it possible for members of the household to move about freely in the village to look after their work. In urban areas such free movement is not possible, and therefore, for household industry in urban areas we should consider only those industries which are located or at least the major part of whose work is located at home.

Class of Worker:—A worker, other than a cultivator, agricultural labourer or a worker at household industry could be: (i) an Employer, that is, who hires one or more persons in his work; (ii) an Employee, that is, who does his work under others for wages or salary in cash or kind; (iii) a Single Worker, that is, who is doing his work without employing others, except casually, and without the help of other members of the family, except casually (this includes workers working as members of a co-operative); and (iv) a Family Worker, that is, who is doing his work in his own family without wages or salary in cash or kind. A person could be an employee in a household industry also.

PRINCIPAL AND SECONDARY WORKER:

Table B-VII Part A and Part B involve the concepts of principal and secondary work. For every worker the principal work had to be indicated in the case of a person who was engaged in more than one work, and also the secondary work if he was engaged in two or more than two productive activities. The concepts of primary and secondary work had nothing to do with the income accruing to a person from his work. The principal work of a person was that activity which took up most of his time; similarly the secondary work (in case a person was engaged in two or more than two kinds of work) was that which took up less time than the principal work but greater than the other kinds of work. Unless specifically stated to the contrary in the table heading itself the tables in the Handbook are based on the principal work of a person.

Non-workers:—The non-working section of the population also was divided into eight classes according to the nature of their activities. Thus a non-worker could be (i) a full time student or child attending school, (ii) a person engaged in home duties (like a housewife or other adult female who does no other work) (iii) dependent including an infant or child not attending school, a person permanently disabled from work because of illness or old-age; (iv) a retired person who is not employed again, rentier, a person living on agricultural or non-agricultural royalty, rent or dividend, or any other person of independent means for securing which he does not have to work and who does no other work; (v) a beggar, vagrant or independent woman without indication of source of income and others of unspecified source of existence; (vi) a convict (not an undertrial who was to be recorded for the work he did before being admitted to Jail); (vii) persons who were seeking employment for the first time; and (viii) persons who previously had worked, but were out of employment, and were again seeking work.

Education Levels:—A person was treated as illiterate if he did not satisfy the test of literacy, this meaning the ability both of reading and writing. The test of reading was held to be satisfied if a person could read printed matter or easily legible manuscripts. The test of writing was the ability to write a simple letter. The minimum educational level is primary or junior basic, and this includes all persons who have passed this examination but have not passed the next higher level examination i.e., matriculation or higher secondary. Persons who had formal schooling but had not passed the primary or junior basic level examination were literates without any educational levels. A person belonging to any particular educational level means a person who has passed the examination denoting that level.

INDUSTRIAL AND OCCUPATIONAL CLASSIFICATION OF WORKERS:

Workers have also been classified according to their occupation and industry. The concepts of 'industry' and 'occupation' are of fundamental importance in connection with all economic activity and it is necessary that they should not be confused with each other. By "industry" is meant the sector of economic activity in which a worker is engaged e.g., the textile industry, mining industry, etc., whereas by 'occupation' is meant the exact function that a worker performs in that sector e.g., fitter, carpenter, typist, etc. Occupation thus is "a trade, profession or type of work performed by an individual independent of the worker's industry, status or years of experience".

THE INDIAN STANDARD INDUSTRIAL CLASSIFICATION (I. S. I. C.):

The industrial classification used in some of the economic tables of this hand-book is the 'Standard Industrial Classification' prepared by the Ministry of Labour and Employment, Government of India. Under this scheme of classification, the whole range of economic activity is divided into nine 'divisions', and a code number is given to each. The first digit of the code number of any specific economic activity stands for the 'Division' under which that activity is classified. Each division is then divided into a number of major groups not exceeding ten. The first and second digits of the code number represent the division and the major group into which an economic activity is classified. Each major group is again sub-divided into a number of minor-groups not exceeding ten, and the first, second and third digits in the code number of any economic activity represent the division, the major group and the minor group into which it is classified. To illustrate, the industrial 'code', '261', represents an economic activity corresponding to minor group 261 in major-group 26 of Division 2. A reference to the Standard Industrial Classification will show that the minor group code stands for the economic activity 'Dying and bleaching of silk' in the major group 'Textiles Silk' of the Division: 'Manufacturing'. The 'Divisions', 'Major Groups' and 'Minor Groups' of the Standard Industrial Classification are printed immediately after this note as Appendix I.

NATIONAL CLASSIFICATION OF OCCUPATIONS (NCO):

Table B-V gives the occupational classification by sex of persons at work other than cultivation. This classification is based on the 'National Classification of Occupations' prepared by the Ministry of Labour and Employment, Government of India. Each occupation is represented by a code number containing a number of digits (extending in the NCO upto 5). We have used only the three digit Code number for classifying occupation. All occupations are divided into ten divisons to each of which a digit is allotted. The first digit of the code number of an occupation stands for the 'Division' into which it is classified. Each division is then sub-divided into a number of groups not exceeding ten. The first and second digits of the code number represent the 'Division' and 'Group' into which an occupation is classified. Each group again is divided into a number of families not exceeding ten and the first three digits of the code number stand for the division, group and family into which an occupation is classified. To illustrate, the code number 911 stands for the family 911 (Cooks, cook-bearers, domestic and institutional) included in the Group 91 (Housekeepers, Cooks, Maid and related workers) included in the 'Division' 9 (Service, Sport and Recreation workers). The Divisions, Groups, and Families of the National Classification of Occupations are printed after this note as Appendix II.

It may be mentioned that the three digit industrial code can easily be extended into a four-digit code on the principles illustrated earlier to secure greater precision in the classification of the economic activitity of a worker. This has in fact been done in case of workers at household industry, and these four-digit code numbers have been used in Table B XIV Part B.

B—(ii) Household Economic Tables:—Tables belonging to this series differ from others in two respects: (i) they have been prepared from information recorded on the household schedules, while the other tables are prepared from information recorded on the individual slips; (ii) whereas the other tables are based on the total population, the tables in this series are prepared from the data contained in a 20% sample of all households. The instructions for selecting the sample are reproduced below:—

"Every fifth household from the starting random household will be selected to make a 20% sample. The sample household will be marked continuously for rural areas of a tahsil/taluka and for urban areas of a district i.e., houscholds left over in a household pad should be carried over to the next household schedule pad for the selection of sample households.

"Before making the sample households the household schedule pads should be arranged in the order of location code numbers of villages in a Taluka or Tahsil in the case of a rural area and in the order of location code numbers of towns in a district for urban areas. The first sample household should be chosen randomly among the first five households in the first household schedule pad and stamped (s) as selected. This random number (random start) should be chosen separately for rural areas of each taluka/tahsil and for the urban area of the district. From the first random household every fifth household should be continuously stamped as selected..... The sample should be continuously marked for all the pads of villages in a tahsil and urban areas in a district. If in a particular household schedule pad at the end, some households (these will be four or less) are left after marking of the sample household, the housedolds left over should be carried over to the next household schedule pad and the appropriate household in that pad should be marked as a sample household".

C.—Social and Cultural Tables:

This series contains 8 tables of which Table C-1 is prepared from data abstracted from the 20% sample of households.

Marital Status:—As regards marital status a person could be (i) never married, (ii) married, (iii) widowed and (iv) divorced or separated. The figures given do not necessarily indicate the legal position. Thus, persons who lived together as man and wife and who were regarded as such by society were treated as 'married' even though there might not be any legally valid marriage between them.

Age.—The age of a person was recorded in completed years as on the last birth day at the time of enumeration, so that a child who had not completed a year of its existence was recorded as of age '0' Inspite of the best efforts, distortion of ages is common phenomenon in Indian Census. This distortion is ascribable to the combined effect of a variety of causes like, for example, digit-preference, age-bias and estimation error and its most obvious manifestation is the heaping of the ages at digits ending in 0 or 5 and in even rather than in odd numbers.

Mother Tongue:—Mother tongue is the language spoken in childhood by a person's mother to the person, or mainly spoken in the household.

Religion:—Separate figures are given only for the six main religions: Hindu, Muslim, Jain, Sikh, Christian and Buddhist. Figures for persons professing other religions have been clubbed together under the head: Other Religions and persuasions'

Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes:—In view of the constitutional safeguards guaranteed to persons belonging to scheduled castes and scheduled tribes with a view to ameliorate their social and economic condition, basic census figures are for the first time being published separately for each scheduled caste and scheduled tribe. A scheduled caste or a scheduled tribe means a caste or a tribe included in the Order issued by the President of India under Articles 341 (1) and 342 (1) of the Constitution, amended, if necessary in accordance with Articles 341 (2) and 342 (2) thereof. It should be remembered that the population of a particular scheduled caste or tribe as given in the tables does not necessarily mean the entire population of that caste or tribe in the district. This is so because scheduling of a caste or tribe under the Constitution is territorial so that a caste or a tribe scheduled in a district, (or a tahsil or tahsils of a district) is not necessarily a scheduled caste in other districts (or other tahsils of the same district). Thus Gond is a scheduled tribe in all tahsils of Jabalpur District except Jabalpur Tahsil so that the figures for Gond population in Jabalpur District exclude the Gonds of Jabalpur Tahsil. Secondly, some of the scheduled tribes have not been given independent status in some parts of the State by the Order but have been clubbed together with some major tribe, while, in other parts of the State, they have not been so clubbed but have been included as distinct scheduled tribes. Thus, in the districts of the Mahakoshal region of the State, the tribe Agaria has been clubbed, along with many another, with Gond as the latter's sub-tribe. In these districts, therefore, figures relating to Agaria tribe, whose ethnic identity with Gond is controversial, do not appear independently in the tables of these districts, but are included in the figures for Gond. In the Vindhya Pradesh region, however, Agaria is Scheduled tribe in its own right and in the districts belonging to that region Agaria population appears separately in the relevant tables.

Religion of Scheduled Castes and Tribes:—A scheduled caste can exist only in Hindu and Sikh religions and in no other religion. A scheduled tribe, however, may be found in any religion.

E—Housing Tables:—The Handbook includes five tables on housing. In using these tables, it should be remembered that they are prepared from the data on households abstracted from the 'Houselists'. Tables E-I and E-III are based on the full count while table E-II, E-IV and E-V are prepared from a 20% sample of households entered in the Houselists. Houselisting was non-synchronous with census proper, having taken place in the month of September-October, 1960, about five month before the reference date of the Census. Also, the population of households entered in the houselists is not necessarily identical with the population of households in respect of which household schedules were filled at the time of the Census. Thus the samples of households drawn from the household schedule, and from the house lists are different samples.

The instruction for drawing the 20% sample of households from the houselists are reproduced below:—

"Before marking the sample households the Houselists should be arranged in order of location code numbers in the case of rural areas for tahsil etc., and in the case of urban areas other than towns with population of 50,000 and over. In the case of towns with population of 50,000 and over the Houselists should be arranged in order of blocks. The first sample household should be chosen randomly among the first five households in the first Houselist. From that every fifth household from the first random household should be continuously marked..... The sample should be marked continuously for all the Houselists. If in a particular Houselist at the end two households are left after the marking of the sample households then these households should be carried over to the next Houselist and the third household in that list should be marked as sample households".

Census House and Census Households:—The concepts of "building" "house" and "household" are important and differ somewhat from their connotations in common speech. A building refers to the entire structure on the ground. A census house is a structure or part of structure inhabited or vacant or a dwelling, a shop, a shop-cum-dwelling or place of business, workshop, school etc., with a separate entrance. A census house was thus a building, or part of a building with a separate entrance. A census house could have a variety of uses, residential as well as non-residential; or it might be vacant (at the time of houselisting).

A household was defined as "a group of persons who commonly live together and would take their meals from a common kitchen unless the exigencies of work prevented any of them from doing so." A household necessarily lived in a census house or part of a census house. The definition of a household was broad enough to include all persons living together in a census-house and dining from the same kitchen, even if they were not related to one another. Such were the institutional households, like jails, hostels, hospitals etc. The house in which a household lived could either be owned or rented. All census-houses which were not owned by the households living in them were treated as 'rented' even though no rent was being actually paid.

"Factory" and "Workshop":—As is clear from its definition, a Census house could be a workshop. A workshop is a place where some kind of production, repair or servicing goes on, or where goods or articles are made and sold. A bigger workshop which was either registered under the Indian Factories Act or was of the scale of a registered factory was returned as a factory. For a manufacturing, repairing or servicing establishment to be registered under the Indian Factories Act, it should have ten or more workers if using power and twenty or more workers if not using power.

VILLAGE DIRECTORY AND ITS APPENDICES:

Village Directory:—The Village Directory corresponds to the Primary Census Abstract of the 1951 Census. It gives for each village of the district: (a) information relating to area, census houses, households, scheduled castes and scheduled tribes and literacy; and (b) the classification of the population into workers and non-workers, and again 'workers' into their 'Industrial Categories' separately for both the sexes. For facilitating comparison with the Census Handbook of 1951 the serial number at which the village is to be found in 1951 Handbook is also given. A new feature introduced in this Census is the presentation of additional information about each village relating to schools, hospitals, child and maternity welfare centres, medical practitioners, electricity, post and telegraph offices etc. This has been done by entering symbols against the name of each village. Another novel feature is the presentation in eleven appendices of useful information relating to villages and towns i.e., industrial establishments, places situated on bus routes, or within five miles of a railway station, places having pucca wells, markets, public reading rooms, drains etc.

To enable the reader to locate the village in the Village Directory without much difficulty, an alphabetical index of village names is given. This gives for each village the 1961 location code number of the village (in the Village Directory, villages are arranged according to their Location Code Numbers); and its location code number in the 1951 Hand-book.

INTRODUCING THE DISTRICT

by

K. C. DUBEY

Dy. Supdt. of Census Operations, M.P.

Durg District was constituted in 1906 from portions of Raipur and Bilaspur districts, which at that time covered an area of 20,000 square miles. The areas constituting the new District comprised the whole of Durg Tahsil and parts of Simga and Dhamtari Tahsils of Raipur District and a portion of the old Mungeli Tahsil in the south-west of Bilaspur District. In this reconstitution, 3,444 square miles (8,919.96 sq. Km.) area of Raipur and 706 square miles (1,828.54 sq. Km.) area of Bilaspur District were transferred to Durg District. In 1907, four Zamindari estates were transferred from Chanda District to Durg, the area of these estates being 614 sq. miles. After the feudatory States were merged with the Districts, the area of Durg District was further increased and the States of Khairagarh, Kawardha, Rajnandgaon and Chhuikhadan merging in the district, were, except Chhuikhadan, formed into separate tahsils—thus raising the number of tahsils from 3 to 6.

In shape, the district is like a bullet with the nose pointed towards south-west with the length in the north-east south-west direction. Its greatest length from north to south is about 166 miles (429.94 Km.) and the greatest width in the east-west is 76 miles (196.84 Km.) The area of Durg District according to the Survey of India is 7,576 Square miles (19,622 Sq. Km.) and according to village-wise figures 7,500.3 Square miles (19,425.7 Sq. Km.) including 1,488.3 Sq. miles (3,854.759 Km.) of forest-area. The name Drug or Durg is derived from the vernacular word 'a fort' and the headquarters town contains the ruins, now almost obliterated, of a mud fort said to be of great antiquity, which the Marathas made the basis of their operations in 1741 when they overran the Chhattisgarh country.

The district is bounded on the north by Bilaspur and Mandla Districts; on the south by Bastar District and Chanda District (of Maharashtra State); in the east by Raipur District and in the west by Balaghat District and Bhandara District (of Maharashtra State). It is divided into 6 tahsils viz., Durg, Rajnandgaon, Kawardha, Bemetara, Khairagarh and Sanjari-Balod. Of these Sanjari-Balod Tahsil contains most of the forest area. Some relevant statistics of these tahsils are given below:—

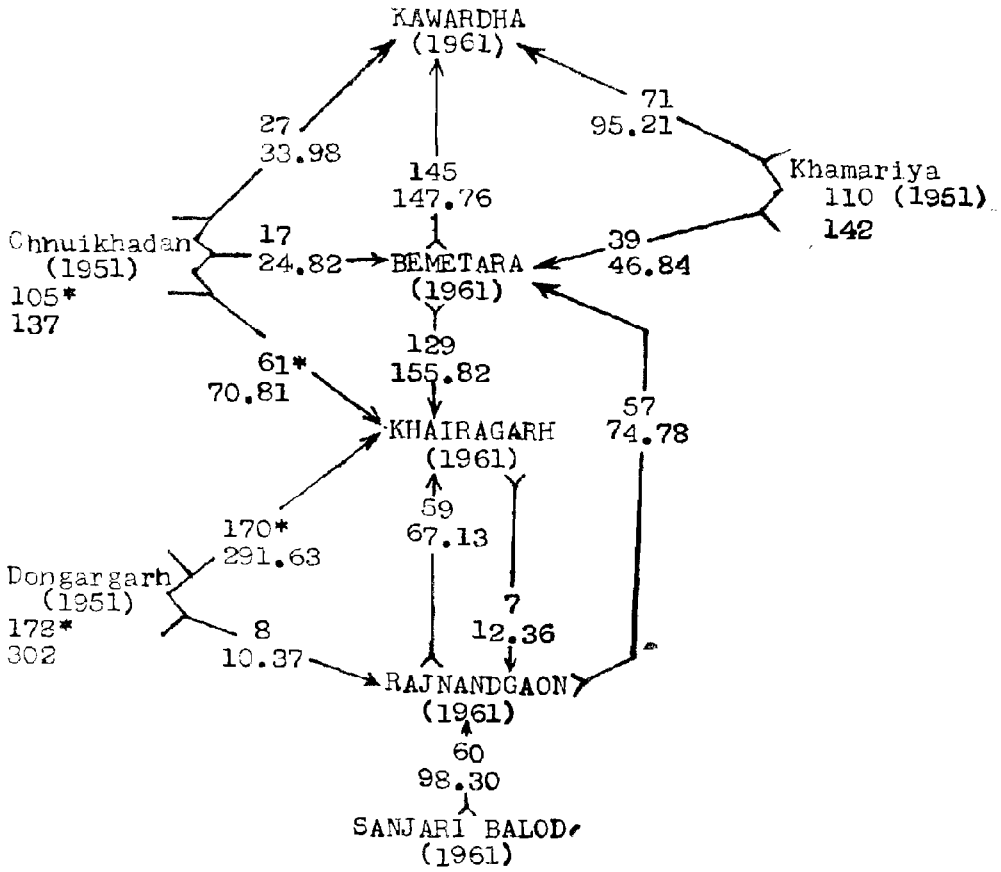

Name of the Tahsil.	Area in Sq. miles	1961 Population	No. of R.I.O.	No. of P.C.S.	No. of Police Stations	No. of Development Blocks

DURG DISTRICT	7,500.3	1,885,236	39	724	36	22

According to 1961 Census, there are 8 towns in Durg District. Of these Durg, the headquarters town (population 47,114), was the biggest prior to the establishment of the new and growing township of Bhilainagar—the Steel town. Other towns are Kawardha (population 10,117), Chhuikhadan (3,488), Khairagarh (6,576), Dongargarh (14,119), Rajnandgaon (44,678), Bhilainagar (86,116) and Rajhara-Jharandalli (23,346). The last two towns have grown up as a consequence of the Steel Project at Bhilainagar; the former of these two is the township of the steel factory and the latter is a mining town grown around the iron-ore mines that feed the steel factory.

Changes in jurisdiction, 1951-61

In 1951 Durg District was divided into 9 tahsils viz., Durg, Bemetara, Sanjari, Rajnandgaon, Khairagarh, Khamariya, Dongargarh, Kawardha and Chhuikhadan. At present there are 6 tahsils. Of the 1951 units, only Durg tahsil has remained unchanged from 1951; the remaining 8 tahsils of 1951 have been reconstituted into 5 tahsils by the abolition of three tahsils---Khamariya, Dongargarh and Chhuikhadan--and by the distribution of their villages among the rest. A diagram showing the changes is given below in which, in each set of two figures appearing one above the other, the upper one relates to the number of villages and the lower one gives the area in square miles.

Administrative changes in Durg District 1951-61

(*Each of these figures includes one town)

Physiography and Geography.

The general slope of the district is towards the north-east, towards which direction most of the drainage-system of the district is oriented. The ground rises towards the north in Kawardha Tahsil and towards the south in Sanjari-Balod Tahsil: the highest point in the District is Radba Hill (3,058 feet). The Kesmardha hill here has a height of 3,029 feet. There are some good ghats here in the Maikal hill extension of the Satpura Range; these are Kesmardha, Bel, Kilkila, Bijapani, Rajadhar and Chilpi. It is through the last named pass that the Bilaspur-Mandla road passes.

The hilly region of the district is in the north, covering half of Kawardha Tahsil and in the west bordering Bhandara District. The south and south-western area falling in the Sanjari-Balod Tahsil is also hilly. The tahsils of Bemetara, Durg and Rajnandgaon comprise the plain region of the district.

The drainage of Durg District comes under three systems—the Mahanadi, the Narmada and the Wainganga. Of these the Mahanadi system takes the water of most of the rivers and streams of this district. It is the Banjar river and its tributary streams in the Kawardha Tahsil that form part of the drainage system of the Narmada. River Bagh which rises in the Chichgarh area of the Rajnandgaon Tahsil forms a part of the Wainganga drainage and also forms the western boundary of the district for a considerable distance.

It is the tributaries of the Mahanadi that are the important rivers of the district. These are the Seonath, the Kharun, the Tandula, the Sukka, the Kharkhara, the Sonbursa, the Amner, the Sorhi, the Dotu the Kurna, the Muska and the Piparia. All these rivers are tributaries of the Seonath which itself drains its water into the Mahanadi. The Seonath river rises in the south-eastern hills of the district in the Panabaras tract and flows northwards receiving the waters of the Tandula and Palhra, flowing past the town of Durg to the north of which Batra, Sonbarsa and Amner join it. About 16 miles south-west of Bemetara, it makes a turn towards east where at the boundary of Durg and Raipur Districts, it joins with its tributary Kharun and then flowing north east forms the boundary of Durg District with Raipur. In the Bemetara Tahsil the Seonath receives the water of the Sorhi, the Dotu, the Hanp and the Kurroah rivers. It is from Seonath river that the town of Rajnandgaon gets its water supply.

Geology :

The geological foundation of Durg District may be classified as below :-

Deccan Trap	..	Basalt Lameta limestone
Cuddapah–	Chhattisgarh basin	Raipur Limestone and Shale Chandarpur Sandstone Quartzitic Sandstone
Archaens—Dharwar	..	Chilpi ghat series comprising of Schists, slates and gneisses. Basal gneisses and granites. ;

The oldest rocks are the granites and gneisses and these are found in the southern part of the district forming characteristic bouldery hills. Above these is a series of rocks known in Indian Geology as Chilpighat series. It is in this Dharwar system of rocks that the famous iron-ore body of Dalli, now being tapped for Bhilai Steel Project, is located. This Dalli ore is an enormous mass of almost pure haematite. The next younger rocks are those belonging to the Cuddapah system which comprises of the Chandarpur sandstone and Raipur limestone. Durg District occupies the western margin of the Chhattisgarh basin of the Cuddapah system. The limestone is quarried at Nandini for being used in the Steel Plant. Regarding Chandarpur Sandstone, however, there is some doubt if it really belongs to the Cuddapah system and not to next younger system-the Vindhyans.

The infra-Trappean limestone known as Lameta limestone is found in Kawardha Tahsil and overlying these is the basalt rock known as Deccan Trap which forms high hills in the west region of the Kawardha Tahsil.

Climate :

In its climate Durg District is more or less similar to Raipur District. The average rainfall is about 47-48 inches of which 66 per cent or so is received in the monsoon months of June, July and August-the last two months being practically wholly rainy. The climate of the district is hot but not unhealthy. Summer months are quite hot but the winter is of a mild nature.

Flora :

It is the northern, western margin and southern portions of the district that contain forest: the eastern and central region is almost destitute of trees. The forest in the north is of a better quality containing abundant Sal (Shorea robusta) and Bija (Pterocarpus marsupium) but the forest in Sanjari-Balod Tahsil is mostly of a mixed nature with Sal and other trees. It is actually a continuation of the mixed forests of the South Raipur Forest of the Raipur District. In Khairagarh Tahsil, the forests consist of Teak (Tectona grandis) Saj (Terminalia tomentosa). Bija (Pterocarpus marsupium) and some bamboo (Dendrocalamus Strictus). Other common trees found in these forests are Harra. (Terminala chebula). Tendu (Diospyros melanoxlon) Kusum (Schleichera trijuga), Char (Buchnania latifolia), Mahua (Bassia latifolia).

Babal and Renja (Acacia arabica and Acacia leucophloea) are the commonest trees found near the villages and on field embankments. Other common trees found near and in village-sites are Boir (Zizyphus jujuba), Neem (Melia indica), Imli (Tamarindus indica), Mango (Mangifera indica), sirsa (Albizzia lebbrek), and Karanj (Pongamia glabra). The last two of these line the roads and canal banks. Bar (Ficus bengalensis) and Peepar (F. religiosa) are also common in the villages, the former being more common. Munga (Moringa pterygosperma) is a very common tree grown in the village baris and inside the houses.

Fauna :

Tigers (Felis tigris) are found in the Kawardha, Khairagarh and Sanjari-Balod Tahsils but more frequently found than them is the Panthar.(F. pardus). Hyena (Hyaena striata), known as Rerwa, is quite common in the forest areas and village forests. The jackal (Canis aurens) and fox (Vulpes bengalensis) are quite common animals in the forests and near village sites. Chinkara is only found in the Sanjari-Balod Tahsil in the south-west. Spotted deer (Chital. Cervus axis) and Sambhar (C. unicolour) are also common but getting rarer. Bear (Melursus ursinus) is found in Sanjari-Balod, Kawardha and Khairagarh forests and it was a bear that molested and killed Sudhu Kotwar when he was on Census duty in the present Census. A tribute has been paid to late Sudhu in the State Administration Report (Enumeration).

Domestic animals are the bullocks, buffaloes, horses, cats and dogs. The district gets cattle-traders from the north every year from whom the cultivators buy buffaloes. These prove to be better plough-cattle in the high-rainfall area than the bullocks.

History and Archaeology :

Chhattisgarh was known as Dakshina Kosala or Maha Kosala to distinguish it from North Kosala. It seems to have been inhabited in the earliest times by Bhuiyas and other tribes of the Munda races who were subsequently driven to the hills by the Gonds. Samudra Gupta of the Gupta dynasty conquered this area in the middle of the 4th century and the Gupta rule continued till about the 6th century. An inscription found in Arang testifies to the sovereignty of the Guptas in this area. Who were the immediate seccessors of the Guptas is not known but when the famous Chinese traveller Hiuen Tsiang visited Maha Kosala in 639 A. D., a Buddhist King was ruling here. The parent line of this kingdom was probably at Bhandak in Chanda District (in Maharashtra) and the headquarters of the Maha Kosala branch was at Sirpur, now a village in Raipur District. The reign of this dynasty seems to have continued upto 8th or 9th century though the later kings changed over from Buddhism to Shaivism as is clear from various records of Mahasiva Gupta who built a number of temples dedicated to Siva.

At this time, a dynasty known as Shailvanshi (or the mountain dynasty) established itself in the north of Durg District and they extended their rule upto Gandai. An eighth century inscription found at Durg points to the rule of a king Shivadeva at Durg. The intervening period between the rule of this dynasty and the rule of the Haihayas is not historically clear and it can not be said as to when the Haihayas rose to power in Chhattisgarh. The inscription found at Ratanpur and dated 1114 A. D. mentions that the first chief of the Haihayabanshi line conquered Dakshina Kosala about the 10th century. A powerful chief known as Jagapal ruled the Raipur and Durg areas under the suzerainty of the upper branch of the Haihayas at Ratanpur. Some of the kings of the Raipur branch of the Haihayas lived in the present Durg District. Not much is known, however, of the separate fortunes of the Raipur house until shortly before the invasion of the Marathas.

The southern portions of Durg District were under the Kanker Chief who was a tributary of Haihayas and at about the same time another chief Yasah Karnadeva was ruling in the north in Sahaspur-Lohara. Dhamda had been given to the Gonds of Sardha and Balod had a separate king who was later overthrown by the Gonds, and, a Kalar chief ruled at Sorar. Thus the district seems to have been divided up into petty principalities, the remnants of which flourished upto 1951 in the form of a large number of Zamindaris and Feudatory States.

The invasion of the Marathas took place in the 18th century. In 1741, the Maratha general Bhaskar Pant, while on his way to attack Bengal, defeated and annexed the kingdom of Ratanpur but he did not disturb the Haihaya Chief ruling at Raipur. This chief, Amar Singh, was however, quietly ousted in 1750. The Maratha rule over this area extended from 1750 to 1818 and no tribute can be paid to their administration : it was of the most oppressive kind, having the sole end of extracting the maximum revenue from the people. After the deposition of Appa Saheb, this area together with other territories of the Bhonsla kingdom, was administered by the British (1818-1830) and in 1830, it was handed back to the Marathas who continued the administration of the area on the principles laid down by the British. In 1853 Chhattisgarh became British territory by lapse.

For purposes of Suba administration Durg was attached to Bhandara District (now in Maharashtra State) but in 1857 it was separated and made into a tahsil of Raipur District to which it remained attached till 1906.

Consequent on the merger of Feudatory States in 1951, the area of Durg District was expanded and 3 new tahsils were set up viz., Rajnandgaon, Khairagarh and Kawardha and the history of these ex-feudatory states may be given here in brief.

Nandgaon :—The name Nandgaon is said to have originated from Nand i. e., father of God Krishna and gaon meaning a village and the name was probably given by the Bairagi family who were devotees of Krishna and who ruled the state. There is another interpretation too. Nand means ant-hill in the local dialect and Nandgaon may mean: "the village of the ant-hills".

The history of the establishment of the state is interesting. A shawl merchant from Punjab, Prahlad Das Bairagi by name, came to Ratanpur in Bilaspur towards the end of the 18th Century. He became a wealthy man and on his death his property devolved on his disciple Hari Das, who, in addition to being the spiritual guide of the seven Ranis of the Maratha Chief Bimbaji, started money-lending and in this business, he secured the Zamindari of Pandadah. After Hari Das's death, his disciple Ram Das continued the money-lending business and he secured Nandgaon Zamindari in satisfaction of a loan advanced to the Mohemedan Zamindar thereof. Mohgaon was conferred on the fifth Mahant by the Bhonsla of Nagpur and Dongargaon was part of the territory of a Zamindar who rebelled against the Bhonslas and whose estate was divided between the chiefs of Nandgaon and Khairagarh as a reward for their help in putting down the revolt. These various acquirements i. e., Pandadah, Nandgaon, Mohgaon and Dongargaon formed the Feudatory state of Nandgaon in 1865. Ghasi Das, the seventh Mahant was married and the Government decided that his son could succeed him to the Feudatory state throne. His son was Raja Balram Das who contributed to the constructions of Raipur and Rajnandgaon water-works.

Khairagarh :—The ruling family of this ex-feudatory state claimed descent from the Nagvanshi Rajput king of Chhota Nagpur and the first in the line, Laxminidhi, came here and established himself at Kholwa; Shiamghan was the Zamindar of Kholwa in 1740. Other territories were acquired as follows: Khamaria on the north-east was seized from the Kawardha Chief at the end of the 18th century in lieu of a small loan. Khairagarh tract was received at an early date from the Mandla Rajas, Dongargarh was received from the Bhonslas because, the chief helped the Marathas in suppressing the revolt by the Zamindar.

Chhuikhadan :—The name of this ex-Feudatory State, means 'the quarry of white clay'. The nucleus of this ex-feudatory State was formerly the Khondka tract which was acquired from the Zamindar of Parpodi in satisfaction of a loan by Mahant Rupdas, a Bairagi, who was the founder of this State about the middle of the 18th century. The status of feudatory chief was conferred on the chief in 1865. It is said that Rupdas was a near relation of the Maharaja of Udaipur who, owing to some ill feeling arising in the family, turned a bairagi and settled at Panipat where he attracted a following. He came to Bhonslas at Nagpur as a trader in horses and was made a cavalry chief in which capacity he suppressed the revolt by the Zamindar of Khondka.

Kawardha :—The name has originated from the word Kabirdham i. e., residence of Kabir, a religious reformer and Kawardha is still the headquarters of the Kabirpanthi sect. The State was given to Mahabali Singh, a brother of the Zamindar of Pandariya (Bilaspur District) by the Bhonslas for military services rendered in putting down the revolt by the king of Sagar.

Archaeology :—The most ancient archaeological remains in the district appear to be the large upright stones arranged in rows and surrounded by stone circles or heaps of stones. These are apparently the graves and tombs of the Dravidian tribes and may be seen in villages Sorar, Chirchiri, Karhibhadar, Majhgawan and Kakrabhat. Some iron implements were found in excavation near these graves in Karhibhadar. There is a sati pillar inscription, probably of the 4th century, at Balod. This pillar has served thrice as a sati-stone and one of the inscriptions on it belongs to the 11th century. Other archaeological remains are the temples at Deo Baloda, Deokar, Nagpura, Banbarad, Balod, Sorar, Gurud, Sahaspur and Durg.

Other places of interest in the district are the Patta area of Rajnandgaon Tahsil where there is a cave in a precipice and in this cave there is a big stone sword which is said to have been wielded by the local Gond Raja. There are two ancient temples in Khairagarh Tahsil—one at Khairagarh and the other at Dongargarh. About 11 miles from Kawardha is the temple of Bhoram Deo and some inscriptions relating to the 11th century are found here. Sculptured images of males and females in amorous postures are seen here. Near Boria in Kawardha Tahsil there is a temple of Kankali.

The population and the people:--

In 1901 the population of the district was 1,038,375. Percentage decade variation between 1901-61 has been as below :—

	1901—61	1951—61	1941—51	1931—41	1921—31	1911—21	1901—11
Total	+ 81.56	+ 27.23	+ 4.68	+12.15	+13.00	—8.55	+17.63
Rural	+ 63.28	+ 17.55	+ 3.54	+11.53	+12.83	—9.56	+17.88
Urban	+739.38	+200.53	+30.39	+28.19	+17.69	+30.82	+ 8.53

During the decade 1901-1911, the population of the district increased by 17.63%. Following mention is made in the Census Report of 1911: "The decade was on the whole healthy in Chhattisgarh. The birth rate averaged fairly high and the death-rate low, except for a rise in 1908, owing to the failure of the 1907 rice crop which caused some distress and was followed by a serious outbreak of cholera and by high mortality from fever and other diseases. As in most other instances the increases have been most marked in the remoter and less densly populated tracts." During the decade 1911-21, there is a decrease in the population by 8.55% though the urban population registered an increase. As is well-known, the decade 1911-21 was not a happy sailing for, firstly, there was a scarcity in 1918-19 due to failure of monsoons and secondly, there occurred a fulminating epidemic of influenza in the same period. The Census Report of 1921 states in respect of Durg District : "The vital statistics show the population to have increased by 31,000 since 1911, while actually there is a fall of 32,000. It appears that the difference is to a large extent due to the effects of emigration". (p. 23). From 1921 onwards there has been, in the succeeding decades, continuous increase though the increase in 1941-51 was only 4.68%. The greatest population increase in 1901-61 has been in the decade 1951-61 when the district recorded an increase of 27.23% in the population and 200.53% in the urban population. This abnormal increase in the urban population is mainly due to the establishment of Bhilai Steel Project and consequent establishment of Bhilai Industrial Township and the mining township of Rajhara-Jharandalli.

Age and Sex Composition :

The Age and Sex structure of the population of the district is presented in the following table; for comparison corresponding data for the State is also given :—

The age-data given above is based on ungraduated ages and though the quinquennial groupings adopted suppress to some extent the distorting effects of age-heapings at multiples of 5, still the data is not fit enough to permit anaysis by quinquennial age-group unless corrected or smoothed. It would, therefore, be safer to confine the scrutiny of the age-data to the broad age-groups 0-14, 15-34, 35-59 and 60+ which may be described as children, young persons, middle aged persons and old persons.

As in the case of the State, in Durg district too, the proportion of children under 14 years is the maximum and the next maximum proportion is that of young persons. In concrete terms it may be stated that roughly 4 out of every 10 persons in the district are children below 14 years, 3 are young persons in the age-group 15-35, 2 are middle-aged persons and 1 old person.

The preponderance of younger persons in the population of the district may also be seen from the fact that 71.8% of the population is below 35 years of age while 87.4% are below 50 years of age. It may thus be said that the population of the district is youthful as against old and is therefore likely to be a growing population. In this respect the population pattern of the district more or less closely follows the State pattern.

Changes in Age-Distribution since 1951 :

Changes in the age-composition of a population, if measured satisfactorily, are the likely trends of its growth. The table-inset below gives the percentage distribution of 100 persons in the district by broad age-groups in 1951: the relevant proportion for 1961 are also given in order to focus attention on the changes that have occurred. It may be remembered that the 1951 data is based on a 10% sample of the population, and in making the comparison with 1961 Census data, which is based on total population, we are making the assumption that the age-composition reflected in the 1951 sample represented the universe.

Percentage distribution of 100 persons in 1951 and 1961 into broad age-groups

Age-group	1951			1961
	P	M	F	P	M	F
0-14	38.8	40.4	37.2	38.3	38.4	38.2
15-34	30.1	30.7	29.6	33.5	34.6	32.2
35-64	27.3	26.1	28.4	24.6	24.2	25.0
65+	3.8	2.8	4.7	3.6	2.7	4.6
Age not stated	0.0	0.0	0.1	0.0	0.1	0.0

In 1961, children and young persons are more towards having an equal frequency than in 1951. The proportion of children in 1961 has remained more or less the same as in 1951 but in 1961 there has been an increase in the proportion of young persons; this is probably due to the new township of Bhilainagar where, because of the Steel Project, there has been an influx of young persons. As compared to 1951 there has been a decrease in the proportion of middle-aged persons in 1961 whereas the segment represented by age-group +65 has remained more or less the same.

Proportion of Sexes and Sex distribution by age :

The table-inset below gives the proportion of sexes since 1901 :—

Females per 1000 males

	1961	1951	1941	1931	1921	1911	1901
Total	993	1.057	1.070	1,089	1,097	1.079	1.098

Urban	706	1,017	1.004	978	1,048	1.039	1,064

Durg district is situated in a region where high sex-ratio appears to be the rule in demographic pattern. The highest sex-ratio in the State, considering the population as a whole, is to be found in Raipur division, which position it has consistently held throughout the last six decades.

In the district, sex-ratio has consistently been high during the period 1901-1951—but there is a reversal of position in 1961. This is mainly due to the establishment of Bhilai Steel Project. As is well known, in an industrial area, the sex-ratio is generally low—particularly when it is new. In the rural areas, however, the sex-ratio is high even in 1961 though it is lower as compared to preceding periods 1901-51. In the urban areas the reversal of sex-ratio is very much pronounced : it is 706 against 1,017 in 1951. As stated before, this reversal is mainly due to the establishment of Bhilai Steel Project. Bhilainagar Industrial Township (Population 86,116) has a sex ratio of only 486. The sex-ratios obtaining in the tahsils of Durg District are Kawardha (1,030) Khairagarh (1,035) Bemetara (1,051). Rajnandgaon (1.032), Durg (892) and Sanjari-Balod (1,022).

In the table below is given the sex-ratio in various age-groups ; for comparison the State figures are also given :—

Females per 1,000 males

70+	1,705	1,373
60+	1,550	1,190

It will be seen from this table that in the State, except in the age-group 20-24, masculine excess is the rule in all the age-groups below 60 years. In Durg district also, sex ratio is high in the age-group 20-24 corresponding to the State pattern. But in the district the sex-ratio is higher in the age-groups 0-4, 5-9, 40-44, 50-54 and 55-59; in this respect there is a significant deviation from the State pattern. It would be a matter of common observation in the district that there are more female children than male. It would also be noticeable that women in this district, and for that matter, in the whole of Chhattisgarh, have a comparatively greater degree of freedom than women in many other parts of the country. Here the women associate with men in the pursuit of economic activities. This can well be seen in the figures for cultivators (Male 330,099, Female 349,469) and agricultural labourers (Male 100,171 Female 105,100). The sex-ratio among total population, total workers, each category of worker and among non-workers in rural and urban areas of the district are given in the inset table below; for comparison corresponding figures for the State and Division are also given :—

In the scheduled castes and scheduled tribes population of the district, the sex-ratios are 1,018 and 1,034 respectively.

Population Density :

As mentioned in the District Gazetteer of 1910, the density of population of Durg District then was 146 persons per square mile as against 120 found for the British districts of the erstwhile Central Provinces and Berar. In 1891 the plain country of Durg was about the most thickly populated rural area in the province, but it suffered acutely in the famine of 1897 and the density of population in 1901 in Durg tahsil was found to be 209 persons per square mile that of Bemetara tahsil was 154 and the density of Sanjari-Balod Tahsil was 106. In the erstwhile Kawardha State (now constituting Kawardha Tahsil) the density of population according to 1901 Census was 81 per square mile and in the erstwhile Khairagarh State it was 147 persons per square mile. The density of population per square mile at present is 251.3 for the district as a whole and for the tahsils as follows :

Kawardha (270.3), Khairagarh (256.4), Bemetara (287.6), Rajnandgaon (359.1), Durg (447.9) and Sanjari-Balod (257.9) The population density in the towns is higher for obvious reasons, though, taking the total area into consideration, it works out to be rather low in case of Bhilainagar. This does not, however, represent the correct picture so far as the density of population from the point of view of congestion is concerned, because, a substantial proportion of the area of the Industrial Township is either covered by the Factory or is open. The population density for the urban areas of the district is 3,304 and for the towns it is as follows :--

Kawardha (6527.1) Chhuikhadan (3260), Khairagarh (6779), Dongargarh (5957), Rajnandgaon (9137), Durg (6071), Bhilainagar (2145) and Rajhara-Jharandalli (1862).

In 1951 the population density per square mile in the district was 196.2. This increased density is seen from the population increase (27.23%) and by the increased population of villages. Below is shown the number of villages in 5 population-ranges in 1951 and 1961.

Year	No. of villages with population
	Less than 500	500-999	1000-1999	2000-4999	5000 and over
1951	3206	753	98	23	1
1961	2883	960	172	24	2

In the first group i. e., villages with less than 500 population, there are 283 villages less than what they were in 1951. Because of the population increase, these have upgraded themselves registering increases of 207, 74, 1 and 1 in the four higher ranges respectively. It is in these 4,041 villages that 1,649,682 rural population of the district resides.

Religion :

Hindus are most numerous in the district constituting 96.22% of the population; next to them are Muslims 1.38%, Buddhist 0.81%, Christians 0.43%, Sikhs 0.41%, Jains 0.38% and others 0.37%.

Mother-tongue :

There are in all 92 languages/dialects spoken as mother-tongue in the district. Chhattisgarhi dialect is the commonest mother-tongue being spoken by 80.39% of the population. Other languages/dialects are Hindi (11.22%) Marathi (1.84%), Gondi (1.65%) Telugu (1.03%) Urdu (0.67%) and Punjabi (0.56%). The figures given in brackets represent the percentage of speakers of each mother-tongue to the total population.

Scheduled Castes and Tribes :

Under the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes Lists (Modification) Order, 1956, 15 castes (with the synonymous groups) have been scheduled in the district and 32 tribes (with their sub-tribes and synonymous groups) have been scheduled in Durg and Sanjari-Balod Tahsils only.

The scheduled caste population of the district is 206,872 or 10.97% of the total population. Numerically important castes are--Chamar (including Satnami and Surjyabanshi) 168,728 Mehra 17,343 and Ganda 8,680. The scheduled tribe population of the district is 208,777 or 11.07% of the total population in the two tahsils, where they are so scheduled, the percentage of the scheduled tribes population is--Durg 6.83% and Sanjari-Balod 45.43%. Gonds are numerically the most important tribe followed by Halbas and Kawars.

Some of the important castes in the district, mention of which may be made here, are—the Satnamis, Telis, Halbas, Gonds, Kurmis and Rawats Other castes are Ganda, Panka, Mahara, Kawar and Lodhis. Apart from this one finds the multi-ethnic population that is so characteristic a feature of industrialisation.

Satnamis : Satnamis are the dominant scheduled caste of the district and according to 1931 Census constituted 12.7 per cent of its population and in the present census are found to be 8.18 percent. The Satnamis are an emergent caste from the Chamars who adopted Ghasidas's teachings in 1820-1830. They attained the status of an independent caste in 1927 or so and formed an endogamous caste disclaiming all association with the Chamars. They are generally of good complexion and have good features. In the villages the Satnamis would be generally found to be living separately from other communities. They put the sacred-thread like the Brahmins and refrain from taking non-vegetarian food. In the district, the Satnamis are mostly met with in the Durg, Kawardha, Bemetara and Rajnandgaon Tahsils.

Gonds : Gonds are found chiefly in the Sanjari-Balod, Khairagarh and Kawardha Tahsils and they are also met with in other tahsils. The feudatory States Gazetteer records that "the peculiarity about the Gonds of Nandgaon is that they employ cows and she-buffaloes as their plough-cattle". The Gonds here are of 3 endogamous groups --the Raj-Gonds, the Dhur-Gonds and the Kurtaya Gonds. The last-named are mainly found in the Khairagarh tahsil and their peculiarity is that they have given up the eating of fowls. The Raj-Gonds regard themselves to be the highest among the Gonds. In fact, the Gonds all over Chhattisgarh claim of having migrated from Dhamdha in Durg, which is thus more a legendery home than the actual.

In many villages, the Gonds are to be found employed as 'Baiga' or the village-priests. In other parts their chief occupation is cultivation and Hemmingway wrote about them in his Settlement Report of 1905 : "In the jungle, curiously enough, the Gonds are intelligent cultivators and very hardworking. They take great care of their fields, turn nullahs into jhils with large masonary sluices and take the trouble to replough their rice-land for the second crop."

Baigas : Baigas are met with in the Kawardha Tahsil in the areas adjoining Mandla District which is the real Baiga country. They rank below the Gonds in tribal hierarchy and their economy and material-culture are not as advanced as those of the Gonds. The Baigas live mostly in thatch-bamboo huts with grass roofs and their houses are usually arranged in the form of a quadrangle.

Telis: The telis, or the oil-presser caste, are found mainly in Rajnandgaon tahsil and have two subdivisions—the Jheria and the Halia or also as Ekbaili and Dobaili. The former yoke one bullock to their ghani while the latter yoke two. Many of the Telis have now abandoned their traditional occupation and taken to cultivation.

Other castes are the Halba, Rawat, Ganda, Panka, Mahar, Lodhi, Kurmi and Brahman. Halbas are an aboriginal tribe, scheduled in Durg and Sanjari-Bald Tahsils. They are chiefly concentrated in the latter tahsil, and their population in the district is 79,000. Their main occupation is agriculture and they are more advanced than many other tribes. The Rawats are the village-graziers, herdsmen, milkmen and household servants. They have a dance during Diwali when they go out dancing in parties from house to house singing doha and dadariya. Ganda and Panka are usually employed as village-watchmen. The Pankas are followers of Kabirpanth faith and their headquarters is Kawardha. Mahara or Mahar are a weaving caste ranking equally with the Ganda and the Panka. Lodhis are probably immigrants from Balaghat and they have a legend to tell that their first ancestor was created by Mahadeo. They now claim to be Rajputs and some of them have come to occupy posts in the Government. Kurmis are the best agriculturists having substantial holdings and most of them were village-proprietors prior to 1951. The Brahmins in the district, except those in the urban areas who have come from U. P. in recent times, belong to the Chhattisgarhi endogomous caste. They are said to have come to these parts from the north with Kalyanshah, a Haihayvanshi Chief who had gone to Delhi.

In practically all the castes, except Brahmans and some Kurmis, widow-remarriage and remarriages are socially approved. Divorce and separation are common features among the Satnamis and Rawats and also among other castes but since remarriages in Choori form are equally common, the figures of 'widowed' and 'separated' do not show any swelling in the returns and it is only in the higher age groups that these figures appear in the tables. Pre-puberty marriages are quite common amongst all the castes and also amongst some of the tribes that are coming under the sway of acculturation.

Working Force and Occupation

Out of the total population of the district 1,103,430 persons are workers and 781.806 are non-workers. The percentage of workers to the total population in the district is 58.53 : the percentage of male workers to total males is 63.26 and of female workers to total females works out to 53.76.

Out of the total workers, 80.19% are enaged in agriculture (61.59% as cultivators and 18.60% as agricultural labourers). The percentage distribution of workers in the other Industrial categories is—

III	IV	V	VI	VII	VIII	IX
4.17	3.07	3.71	1.54	1.83	1.10	4.39

As seen from the above, agriculture is by far the most important economic activity absorbing 46.9% of the total population and 80.1 per cent of the working population. Establishment of the Steel Project at Bhilainagar has brought about a reorientation of economic activity and the most noteworthy change is in the figures for Mining etc., and Manufecture other than Household Industry. In the latter category, 92.2 percent are working only in the Steel Project and the rest may be in the B. N. C. Mills and elsewhere. The role played by women in the economic activity may be illustrated here. In the main economic activity viz., agriculture 1,059 females are engaged for every 1,000 male as cultivators and 1,049 females are engaged for every 1,000 male agricultural labourers.

Cultivation :

Like elsewhere in Chhattisgarh, the soil-names common in the district are Kanhar, Matasi and Dorsa. Kanhar is a black soil, good for wheat but not good for rice-cultivation because of its water-logging qualities. Matasi is a yellow soil, not very retentive of moisture but with heavy rainfall giving a far-better outturn of paddy than any other soil. Dorsa is a mixture of Kanhar and Matasi. Double crops are sown in Kanhar and Dorsa fields but less commonly in the Matasi ones, which are known as dhanha. Other soil-names which may be encountered in the district are Bhata i. e., lateritic waste, good only as murrum quarry and hardly able to grow even grass. Chhalpa, is a soil intermediate between bhata and matasi. These bhata and bhalpa fields are cultivated but they require to be rested once in three years.

There are, broadly speaking, two methods of double-cropping. One of these is very common and is known as Utera. Often the crops are also known as Utera crops and these Utera are Urad, Mung, Masur, Gram, Linseed Lakhadi and Batra. In this Utera cultivation the first crop of rice is the main crop and the after-crops are just sown in a casual way without any preparation of the field. The Utera crops i. e., urad, mung, masur, etc., are sown broadcast in the field in the month of September (after Dasahra but before Diwali) when the paddy crop is still in the field. After the paddy is harvested these crops come up giving a small outturn. In the other method the second crop, linseed or gram, is the substantial crop. Early ripening variety of paddy is first sown broadcast and is reaped early after which the field is prepared for the second crop.

The double-cropped area shows great fluctuations because it depends entirely on the rainfall of the second half of September and beginning of October. If this rainfall is substantial, the double-cropped area is large, but in a year of light rainfall it is small. With the increasing pressure on land, the area under double-cropping has been showing regular increase in the district.

Situated in the Chhattisgarh plain, Durg district is also an important rice-growing area and a number of varieties are grown here. These may broadly be classified into 3 groups viz., harauna or early-ripening paddy grown on light soils like matasi (ripening period within 90 days); maihola or ardhana (medium-ripening paddy) grown on richer soils and mai variety which takes the longest time for ripening. The reaping of these 3 varieties of paddy is generally as below :—

Harauna	..	10th to 31st October.
Majhola	..	1st to 15th November
Mai	..	15th November to 8th December

It is the mai veriety that is mostly grown in the district.

The methods of rice-cultivation may be classified very broadly into 2 types--the chhitka or broadcast-sowing and the ropa or transplantation. The latter method is of course the more elaborate method of cultivation, but it is not very popular with the cultivators, a great majority of whom carry on with the broadcast method. In this method, a larger quantity of seed is required and some subsequent operations become imperative. One such operation is biasie, a method peculiar to Chhattisgarh, for thinning the sprouts. This operation is carried on when the plants are 3 to 6 inches in height and consists in passing a plough or serrated-plough (datari) and uprooting many of the young shoots. Field-embankments are repaired beforehand and there must be 2-3" water in the field when this operation is carried out. Biasie is a very important operation and its postponement due to seasonable want of rain is fatal to the broadcast paddy. It is absolutely necessary that heavy rain should have fallen before biasie can be attempted.

There may be another classification of rice-cultivation method. These methods are batar, hadgum, lei or lahi and khurra.

Batar : Hot-weather ploughing is little practised in the district. After the first few showers are received, the seed is scattered broadcast and the field is ploughed once immediately afterwards where the soil is black and the surface fairly clear of weeds. This method is practised in fields having black soil (Kanhar).

Hadgum : When the soil is matasi, one ploughing is necessary before scattering the seeds and after the seed is broadcast a cross-ploughing is done to cover it up.

Lei : Lei method is taken resort to when there is extensive rain which does not permit sowing at the proper time. In such cases, the seed is germinated before putting it in the field. It is done as below : The seed is steeped in cold water for 4-5 hours and then taken out and placed in a heap over which hot water is poured and the heap is covered with straw for the night. Next morning it is spread out on the ground and allowed to germinate. As soon as there is break in the weather, the sprouted seed is sown.

Khurra : Lei method is adopted when the rains are heavy and early. Opposed to this is what is known as the Khurra method which is practised when the rains are late. The seed is simply scattered on Kanhar and dorsa land before the rains and then it is ploughed in. The seed germinates when the rains come.

Standard outturns :

Generally speaking, there is a ten-fold outturn. Seed requirement per acre for paddy is 85 to 90 lbs., and the outturn on the average is 900 lbs. In the Matasi soil and in the gaurasa fields (i. e., where the sweepings of the village get drained) seed requirement may be 10-15 lbs. less.

Crop Diseases :

Local names of some of the paddy diseases may be given here. Banki, name for Bhedi pest (Nymphula depunctalis) is the pest of the leaves. It is believed that banki affects poor-manured fields. The disease is fatal to crop sown on the Lei system. Phapha and Tirri phapha are the green locust and bigger red locust (Cirphis unipuncta). These nip off the young shoots which then fail to flower and seed. These attack the crop in deficient rainfall.

Other Crops

Kodon-Kutki (Paspalum scrobiculatum and Panicum psilopodium) are also important crops. Two varieties of Kutki are known-Bhadai and sitahi. The former is sown in June and reaped in August (Bhadon) from which it derives its name. The latter is sown in August and ripens in December or the cold season (seet) from which season it derives its name. Agia (Striga lutea) is an injurious weed for these crops. Other Kharif crops are Urad, Moong, Til and Arhar. Rabi-crops are wheat, Linseed, Gram, Tiwara and Lakhadi. The fields where wheat is sown are known as bharri and these fields usually compose of Kanhar soil. Some important diseases of wheat are Sendri and Khairi. Both of these are the local names for wheat-rusts Sendri is a fatal scourge and the infected plant yields no grain at all; the stem becomes dark brown. Khairi is said to attach itself to the stem and its presence can be detected by a yellow stain on hand when the infected plant is touched. Kanua (Nongria Uniformis) is the name for the wheat-stem borer which eats the young plants. Sawarkira (Cirphis unipuncta), an ordinary caterpillar nips off the roots and kills the plant outright, affecting the plant in cloudy weather.

Linseed, gram and tiwara are usually sown both by the utera system, as well as in the usual way. Bhong is an insect which attacks linseed and gram crops. Bhong (Chlorodea obsoleta) is the common gram-pod borer.

Agricultural Cattle :

The cattle in the entire Chhattisgarh region are usually underfed and of a small breed and a large number of them do not seem to be of any other use except for cattle-dung which is still the most important manure for the fields as well as a fuel. Village graziers (of the Rawat Caste) are called bardiha.

Buffaloes are valued more than bullocks for purposes of cultivation. It is said that they stand the rigours of monsoon season more effectively than bullocks. Apart from purely agricultural considerations, the possession of buffaloes is a source of considerable income and is also supposed to be an index of prosperity. Most of these cattle are imported from the northern areas of the State and large herds may be seen moving towards Chhattisgarh from the northern districts. This cattle trading is usually carried on by the Banjaras and Basdevas. Because of underfeeding, the cattle succumb to climatic rigours and diseases and there is a quick turn-over.

Local names of the common cattle diseases may be given here: Mata is the name for the common rinderpest, chhapka and Khurha for foot and mouth diseases, Chhai for anthrax, Chhatbhoj for black quarter, Saunahi for Hemorrhagic septicaemia.

Other Occupations :

The occupational and industrial pattern of Drug district has undergone a great change after the establishment of Bhilai Steel Project. For example, figures of workers in Industrial Category III i. e., 'Mining, quarrying etc;' (46.007); Category IV i. e., 'Manufacture other than Household Industry' (40.978)

Category VIII, i. e., Transport and Communication (12,187) and category IX i. e., other services (48,465) show a steep rise as compared to cultivation and Agricultural labour. A major part of workers in category V, i. e., Manufacture other than Household industry (37,803 out of 40.978) are located in the urban areas. In the table below is shown the position with regard to the change in industrial and occupational pattern.

Item.	1951	1961	Net variation.	Percentage variation.
Total Population	1,481,756	1,885,236	+403,480	+27.23
Mining quarrying etc.	15,777	46,007	+30.230	+191.61
Household Industry Manufacture other than Household Industry.	21,802	74,817	+53,015	+243.17
Construction	1,231	16,985	+15,754	+1,279.77
Trade & Commerce	10,542	20,135	+9,593	+91.00

Other Services	9,085	48,465	+39,380	+433.46

While comparing these figures, it may be remembered that concept of work in the 1951 Census and 1961 Census was different. The figures given against 1951 relate to self-supporting persons in non-agricultural classes classified according to their secondary economic status viz. employer, employee and independent worker. The figures relating to 1961 are those of primary economic activity of the persons. A detailed study can be made by referring to 1951 and 1961 Census Reports.

Bhilai Steel Project :

The Government of India and the Government of the USSR signed an agreement on the 2nd February 1955 providing for Soviet technical and economic assistance for the construction of a modern integrated iron and steel works with an initial capacity of one million tons of steel ingots. This agreement was the seed that has finally grown into one of the most mechanised iron and steel works in the world. Bhilai was selected as the site for this plant on the 14th March 1955. The detailed Project report was summitted by the Soviet organization in December 1955 and was accepted by the Government of India with a few modifications on the 8th March 1956.

The selection of Bhilai as the site for steel plant was influenced primarily by the availability of good quality iron-ore in the Dalli-Rajhara hill only about 90 Km. away. The richness of ore here has been found to be 69% of iron-content in certain layers. Unexploited coal—reserves of Korba and Kanhan and limestone and dolomite of Nandini and Hirri were also important factors in the selection.

The construction of the steel works began in May 1957. The production of Pig iron commenced on the 4th February 1959 when the then President of India, Late Dr. Rajendra Prasad, inaugurated the Blast Furnace No. 1. The production of coke had started a few days earlier when the Coke Oven Battery No. 1 was commissioned. The Open Hearth Furnance No. 1 was declared open on the 12th October 1959 by the Soviet Ambassador. Rolling of steel was commenced on the 7th November 1959 when the Blooming Mill was commissioned. The Billet Mill was inaugurated by Sardar Swaran Singh on 24th December 1959. On 27th October 1960 the then Prime Minister of India, late Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, inaugurated the half-mile long Rail and Structural Mill. The last of the three Coke Oven Batteries and the last of the three Blast Furnaces were commissioned in December 1960. The Merchant Mill, the last of the four Rolling Mills was inaugurated by the Governor of Madhya Pradesh on 2nd February 1961. The Open Hearth Furnance No. 6, the last of the major production units was commissioned on 22nd February 1961. This marked the end of a journey which began with the commencement of the 2nd Plan period.

The one-million-ton steel plant achieved its rated capacity of production of one million tons of ingot steel per annum during January 1962. Bhilai has thus been a story of remarkable human endeavour. The authorised capital of Hindusthan Steel Limited

(a Company owned entirely by the Government of India) is Rs. 6,000 million divided into 3 million equity shares of Rs. 1,000 each. Bhilai Steel Plant is one of the three Steel works managed by Hindusthan Steel Ltd., the other two being those of Rourkela and Durgapur. The cost of Bhilai Steel Project in 1962 was estimated to be Rs. 199.32 crores including the cost of the equipment and machinery supplied by the Soviet Government and ancillaries like development of mines and quarries, custom duties and townships etc.

The township, known as Bhilanagar, is one of the most modern of its kind. It will have 10,700 permanent residential quarters, the whole area divided into ten sectors. Besides, there is the Bhilai House (Hostel) with 120 rooms, the Bhilai Hotel with 124 single rooms and 32 apartments and hostels for trainees of the Bhilai Technical Institute. In addition 6 bungalows for Directors and 32 other bungalows for senior officers have also been constructed. The old Supela Station has been developed and renamed as Bhilainagar. This is going to be developed as a first class railway station in due course. The Project has also constructed a Vishramgrah (Guest House) opposite the station to provide accommodation to casual visitors and businessmen.

Many smaller industries are bound to develop in the district as a result of the Steel Project. These would mainly be those that use the bye-products of the Steel Factory. The roadside between Bhilainagar and Raipur is more or less studded with sites of such factories.

A chemical and Fertilizer factory—the Dharmsi Morarji Chemical Company Ltd., is producing about 44,000 tons of fertilizers and a number of steel re-rolling mills have also started production and a cement factory is likely to go into production by 1964 : its rated annual production would be 2 lac tons of Portland Cement. In fact the industrial pace of this district is so fast now that by the time this note goes to press, things would have greatly changed.

Other Manufactures :

The earliest semblance of industrialization in the district is found in the Bengal Nagpur Cotton Mills at Rajnandgaon, which was started in the year 1892 under the name of Central Provinces Cotton Mills during the administration of Raja Balram Das. A large portion of the capital was contributed by the Chief himself. After 3 years the mill was sold to the present company. The average daily workers engaged in this mill is 1,833 with 1,445 adults and 388 juveniles. At the present time the mill engages about 2,400 persons and its rated annual production is about 15,000 bales of finished cotton.

Other manufactured items are bidis, handloom cloth, country-shoes and blankets and ghee. These industries are mostly in the nature of household industries. The ghee of Kawardha is supposed to be of good quality and has a market in other districts also.

Trade and Commerce :

Agriculture is still the mainstay of the economy of Durg District. As shown earlier, paddy is the main crop grown and it is estimated that on an average about 300,000 tons of rice-equivalent of paddy is produced annually in the district out of which about 10 per cent to 20 per cent is exported to non-rice producing districts of the State and to Gujrat and Maharashtra States. Processing of paddy into rice and its bye-products like Poha, Murmura or Murra and lai provide employment to a significant proportion of population in Durg and Rajnandgaon towns.

Forests play an important role in the economy of the district. About Rs. 200,000 accrue to the State Treasury every year from auctions of timber, tendu leaves and other forest products. Timber and tendu leaves are mainly exported outside the district. Other manufactured items like handloom cloth, shoes, blankets and basketry are more or less consumed within the district. Ghee is exported to Bhilaspur and Raipur districts from Kawardha. 20,135 persons (15,759 males; 4,376 females) have been found engaged in Trade and Commerce out of whom 11,291 persons (9,454 males and 1,837 females) belong to urban areas.

Communication :

The railway from Bombay reached Rajnandgaon in 1883 and Raipur in 1888 passing via Durg. Through communication between Durg and Calcutta was opened in 1892. The Great Eastern Road enters the district from the west and from a point about 16 miles south-west of the place from where the railway enters this district. The Great Eastern Road and railway then converge at Rajnandgaon and from here their course is more or less parallel.

The total length covered by roads at present is 1477, miles and 4½ furlongs and the progress of this work during I and II Plan phase is as below :—

Length black-topped from 1951 to 1961	185 M 7 F
Raised from Class 2 to Class 1 ..	233 M 1 F
Raised from Class 3 to Class 2 ..	36 M 1 F
No. of culverts & bridges constructed in I & II Plan	52 M
No. of culverts and bridges constructed in 1961-1963	26 M

Prior to the construction of the railway, the Great Eastern Road was the great highway of commerce and it still maintains that position. The road is black—topped in its entire distance upto Nagpur. Other roads in the district are Durg-Bemetara Road (47 miles) passing through Nandkathi, Dhamda, Deokar and Deorbija. First five miles of this road were metalled in 1900 as famine works.

Kawardha-Simga—Joins Kawardha with Simga and Tilda Railway Station of Raipur District. This is an important road for Kawardha.

Rajnandgaon-Kawardha in Khairagarh (70 miles) Rajnandgaon-Dondi (50 miles) In the open season, the road leads upto Bhanupratappur and Narainpur of Bastar District.

Durg-Balod (About 48 miles). This road further goes upto Kusumkasa and then as a 2nd class road upto Panabaras in the south-west.

Balod-Dhamtari : Balod is joined with Dhamtari of Raipur District and is of importance because Dhamtari is a big business centre of Raipur district.

Education : In 1951 Census, the percentage of literacy in Durg district was 8.50 and this has gone up to 17.95 in 1961.

The percentage of literacy in 1951 and 1961 for the total population and for males and females is shown below :—

Percentage of literacy (Absolute figures)—

Year.	Total Rural Urban	Persons	Males	Females
1951 ..	T	8.50	15.18	2.18
	R	7.19	13.45	1.42
	U	30.74	45.70	16.04
1961 ..	T	17.95	29.34	6.26
	R	14.09	24.56	4.03
	U	44.20	57.32	25.62

There was no College in the district prior to 1958. Now there are 2 colleges and 2 Basic Training Colleges. The colleges are the Arts and Science College Durg and Digvijay Arts and Science College at Rajnandgaon. In addition to this, there is a University : the Indira Sangit Vishwavidyalaya at Khairagarh. The Basic Training Colleges are located at Bemetara and Khairagarh and there is a Basic Training School at Rajnandgaon.

The position of Durg District in regard to primary, middle and High Schools as to-day may be compared with that of 1909-10. The figures for 1909-10 are, however, only approximate and have been totalled from the figures of institutions situated in the erstwhile feudatory states :—

Year	Number of Primary Schools Boys	Girls	Middle Schools	High Schools
1909-10	199	10	6	4
1960 ..	1,286		147	26

Local Bodies : Theere are 6 Municipal Committees in Durg district now viz., those of Durg, Rajnandgaon, Dongargarh, Kawardha, Khairagarh and Chhuikhadan. Out of these the oldest committee is that of Rajnandgaon which was constituted in 1889. Khairagarh Municipality was constituted in the year 1900 and Durg was constituted as a "Notified Area" with effect from 1st October 1956. It consisted of 6 nominated members with the Civil Surgeon as its President and an E. A. C. (now this post is known as Deputy Collector) as the Secretary.

Its population in 1891 was 1,800; in 1901 it decreased to 1,200; in 1951 the population was 2,916 and in 1961 has been found to be 6,121. The village is of some antiquity and has several temples reduced to ruins. A group of 7 temples stand on the bank of a small square tank called Kapileshwara. There are numerous sati pillars and one of these is on the roadside about a mile east of the village. This pillar contains 3 inscriptions of separate immolations. One of these was read by Shri Hiralal as 1005 A. D. A third and still older inscription was dated by Princep to the second century and if he is correct, this would be the earliest sati monument in existence. Ruins of an old fort can also be seen here.

Banbarad : Situated 14 miles north of Durg. Banbarad is a big village with a population of 1,684 in 1961. Its population in 1901 was 600 as against 800 in 1891. Two weekly markets are held here. The tahsil building was constructed here about the year 1908 at a cost of Rs. 22,000

Chandkhuri : 8 miles from Nandghat and 27 miles from Bemetra. There is a leper asylum here run by the American Evangelical Mission.

Chhapri : A village 11 miles west of Kawardha, has a well-decorated Vishnuite temple which contains numerous inscriptions relating to the 11th century. The Vishnuite affiliation of this temple is more or less forgotten and the temple is now dedicated to Bhoramdeo. There are some male and female statues in amorous postures. The temple also finds mention in Cunnigham's Archaeological Survey Report. An inscription in what is known as Madwa Mahal describes the Nagvanshi line of Kings. Close to the village there is a hill-Diyabar (lamp-burning) where, it is said, a light was kept burning by some supernatural power during the time the temple was under construction.

Chhuikhadan : This was the headquarters of the Feudatory State of the same name and is situated 31 miles from Rajnandgaon and equally away from Dongargarh. Etymologically the name of the town means clay-mine.

There are the remains of an old fort which belonged to the Gond chief of the place. These chiefs, who may or may not be the descendants of the founders of Dhamda, are said to have been five brothers known as Panchbhaiya, because, when attacked by the enemy, they fought in a circle standing back to back. Dhamda was once an important place and in fame next to Ratanpur. Raipur (now the Commissioner's headquarters) was itself known as Dhamda-Raipur to indicate its position. The population of this village in 1891 was 3,000; in 1901 it was decreased to 2,600 and in 1961 has been returned as 4,268.

The etymology of the town-named is from Durg meaning fort and ruins of the fort may be seen at one or two places.

The town appears to have been founded about the 10th Century by one Jagpal who came here from Badhal Desh in Mirzapur (U. P.) and became officer of the Treasury of the Raja of Ratanpur, who being pleased with his management, gave him Durg and 700 villages as a reward. In an inscription found here, the name of this place appears, as Shiva Durg which may mean the 'fort on Shivanath river'.

This place was made the basis of Maratha operations when they overran Chhattisgarh in 1741. There is a tank here named Sarna-Bandha, which is said to have been constructed by nine lakhs of Uriyas in one night.

An English middle school was opened here in 1906. After the constitution of this district, the District Court Building, where the office of the Collector is lodged, was constructed at a cost of Rs. 2 lakhs.

Durg has become an important place now after the establishment of Bhilai Steel Project. Its population in 1901 was 4,002; in 1951 it was 20,485and is 47,114 in 1961.

It was once the chief seat of the Kabirpanthi sect and still is an important place for that religions sect. The name 'Kawardha' has probably originated from the words 'Kabir-dham' meaning place or residence of Kabir.

Khairagarh : Headquarters of the erstwhile Feudatory State and of Khairagarh Tahsil, Khairagarh town is situated 23 miles from Dongargarh and Rajnandgaon. Its population was 4,656 in 1901; 5,524 in 1951 and 6,576 in 1961. A municipality was constituted here in 1900. Khairagarh has a Music University named Indira Sangit Vishwavidyalaya.

It had a population of more than 1,600 in 1891; less than 1,300 in 1901 and 1,981 in 1961. Here is located an old Jain temple and the tradition is that the temples at Arang, Deo Baloda and Nagpura were built on the same night.

Nawagaon : The village-name means 'new village' It is a village in Kawardha Tahsil, 6 miles from Kawardha. It was the capital of the erstwhile Kawardha State during the time of Thakur Rajpal Singh and the remains of the Chief's palace can be indistinctly seen here.

Nawagarh : Meaning 'new fort', this village is a large village in the Bemetara Tahsil about 15 miles north of Bemetara on the eastern bank of the Morangia river and 63 miles from Durg. Nawagarh was at one time the capital of Gond Rajas who ruled over a considerable extent of the surrounding areas. Nawagarh was also one of the 36 forts of the Haihayvanshi Rajas, from which the term Chhattisgarh has probably come to be named. It was the headquarters of a tahsil under the Marathas and under the British Government until 1862. There is an old temple here which is said to have been constructed in 648 A. D. Red sandstone found here is used for making stone bowls and other items of domestic use.

Pandadah : A village in Rajnandgaon tahsil lying on the banks of river Jharjharaghat. There is a temple of Jagannath here where an annual fair is held.

Patan : A large village in Durg tahsil 20 miles south-east of Durg. The population in 1901 was 1,850 and in 1961 it has increased to 2,390. This village was also one of the 36 forts of Chhattisgarh and its old name is said to be Bhangpur Patan meaning 'the town of Injustice'. The village has 22 tanks. The Agar tank is an old one and is also known as Buddhinasha or 'the Destroyer of Wits' and it is said that people become mad by drinking the water of this tank. There is a police station house and the weekly market is held on Tuesdays.

Pondi : A village in Kawardha Tahsil eight miles from Kawardha town. The village is famous for its cattle market where Basdevas and Banjaras from the northern areas of the State come for selling their cattle.

Rajadhar : A village in Kawardha Tahsil situated on the borders of Mandla District and inhabited by the Baigas. It is so named because at one time one of the Rajas halted here while on his way to Mandla.

Rajnandgaon : The headquarters of Rajnandgaon Tahsil and formerly the headquarters of erstwhile Feudatory State, Rajnandgaon is a better town than Durg. There are good public buildings here. The palace of the ex-Chief covers an area of 5 acres. There are two gardens Rani Bag and Baldeo Bag. One of the palace buildings has been donated to the Digvijay College. The water-supply of the town is from Seonath river at a distance of $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles. The water works were constructed in 1894 at a cost of Rs. 125,000/- There is a cotton mill here named as the B.N.C. Mill. Rajnandgaon has the oldest municipality of the district and is at present an important commercial centre.

Sahaspur : A village in Bemetara tahsil and formerly headquarters of the Sahaspur-Lohara Zamindari, is a medium-sized village which had a population of less than 300 persons in 1901 and 1,014 persons in 1961. Sahaspur and Lohara are two villages separated by a large tank about 2 miles long. The village is said to have derived its name from Sahasra Arjuna, said to be the founder of the Haihaya dynasty. There is a statue here, said to be that of Sahasra Arjuna, and beneath it an inscription, dated 934 of the Kalchuri era i. e., 1182 A. D.

Sanjari : A village in the Sanjari-Balod tahsil about 29 miles from Durg. The name of this village was chosen for the tahsil, the headquarters of which are at Balod, the name Balod being rejected for its similarity with Baloda-Bazar, a tahsil of Raipur.

Somni : A village in Rajnandgaon Tahsil 7 miles from Rajnandgaon. The village is sometimes called Mahantpur in honour of Mahant Ramdas, the first chief of Nandgaon State, who originally settled here in this village.

Sorar : A village in Sanjari-Balod Tahsil about 9 miles east of Balod. Ruins of temples and other buildings found here show that it was a place of some importance in the past. Here may be seen a number of stone pillars standing in a row and surrounded by stone circles. Hiralal thinks that these tombs are ancient. This is the solitary exemple of such stones in the whole of Chattisgarh.

Wararbandh : This is a village in the Rajnadgaon Tahsil, 14 miles west of Rajnandgaon. There is a large tank here surrounded on three sides by hills. The tradition is that, like the tank in Durg, this tank was constructed in one night by a hundred thousand Uriyas, in order to drown themselves and their beautiful Rani, Dasmat Urnin, in order to save her from Raja Mohan Deo of Durg, who had become enamoured of her and was trying to carry her off by force of arms.
