PREFACE

THE 1971 CENSUS divided all persons into two broad streams—workers and non-workers—according to the main activity that the person returned himself as engaged in mostly. A worker was a person whose main activity was participation in any economically productive work by his physical or mental activity. Work involved not only actual work but also effective supervision and direction of work. The reference period was one week prior to the date of enumeration in the case of regular work. If a person had participated in any such regular work on any one of the days during this period and this had been returned as his main activity, the person was categorised accordingly. A person performing one's own household duties or who was primarily a student attending an educational institution, even if such a person helped in the family economic activity but not as a full-time worker, was not treated as a worker for main activity. A pensioner who did not have to work for receiving his pension was not treated as economically active unless he was also engaged in some other economic activity and returned it as his main activity. The statistical tables, which form the subject matter of this volume, provides information on the economically active section of our population.

Several persons in this office have laboured hard to prepare this volume. The main tables have been processed under the care of Shri S.R., Luhadia, Assistant Director and Shri R.C. Bhargava, Investigator. The brief Explanatory Note, which brings out the main observations, has been prepared in consultation with Shri S.P. Kashyap. Senior Technical Assistant. The list over-leaf mentions the names of such other staff which helped to bring out this volume.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

In this book are presented the two Economic Tables of 1971 Census which were prepared on full count basis. Others in this series, prepared on sample basis, ten percent for the rural and twenty percent for the urban areas, are being issued separately. Earlier in our Part II-A, General Population Tables, we have already presented the working and non-working breakups of our population and have also indicated the industrial categories of the economically active population. In this volume, we present statistics relating to the same subject by certain age-groups to make the data more useful and meaningful. While the first table gives information on the number of workers and non-workers according to the main activity classified by sex and age-groups for the State as a whole and for its various districts at the level of total, rural and urban areas separately, the second one deals with the workers and non-workers in cities and non-city urban areas according to the main activity classified by sex and age-groups.

Almost similar tables were also prepared in 1961. Information presented now is however not comparable with that of 1961 mainly due to a significant conceptional change. Briefly, at the 1971 Census, each individual was asked to indicate his main activity and the persons have been classified for their economic activity on the basis of what a person had returned as his main activity. Thus, those that had returned themselves as house-wives or students or retired persons, for example, for their main activity have been classified accordingly under the category of non-workers. At the 1961 Census, a person was treated as economically active, howsoever little his contribution to work was and even if the main activity of such a person was that of a full time student or housewife etc. Even the broad classification of workers between the Censuses of 1961 and 1971 are thus not comparable and wide variations can be observed in the proportions of workers in the two Censuses.

A look at these tables will indicate that among our total population of around 25,766 thousand in Rajasthan, there are 8,049 thousand persons who are economically active. By sex, of the 13,484 thousand males, some 7,025 thousand males, and of the 12,281 thousand females some 1024 thousand females can be classed as workers. Perhaps the significance of the detailed absolute figures presented in the tables of this volume will be brought home to the reader easily if we study this matter with the aid of the percentage figures given in the statement below :—

N—Negligible

To say now in other words what we have already stated earlier, 31 percent of our total population in Rajasthan consists of workers. 52 percent of our total male population and only a little over 8 percent of our total female population is primarily engaged in economic activities. Down at the district level, there are some districts having better participation rates. Of such districts, Bhilwara and Chittaurgarh districts are most prominent. In Bhilwara district over 39 percent of its total population is engaged primarily in economic activities. The corresponding figures for its male and female population are around 61 percent for males and about 16 percent for females. Chittaurgarh district too has around 39 percent of its total population, about 59 per cent of its male and 17 percent of its females, primarily engaged in economic activities, Jhunjhunun and Sikar districts are amongst those which are conspicuous by their positions down below in participation rates. In Jhunjhunun only a little over 25 percent of the total population is economically active. The percentage of working population amongst the males is over 44 percent but there are only 4.5 per cent of workers in its female population. In Sikar district, the corresponding figures of total, male and female participation in economic activity is 27 per cent, 47 per cent, and 6 per cent respectively. We have just observed about the female participation in Chittaurgarh (17 per cent) and in Bhilwara (15.5 per cent). Other districts which rank nearer to these are Ajmer (16.2 per cent) and Nagaur (15 per cent).

The bulk of the working population at the level of total workers and also at the level of both sexes, belongs to those working in cultivation. Thus, we find that over 20 per cent in the total 31 per cent working population is engaged in cultivation. About 34 per cent in the total 52 per cent of the male working population is in cultivation, and, around 5 per cent in the total 8 per cent of the female working population is engaged in cultivation. In districts Chittaurgarh and Bhilwara, the corresponding figures are around as much as 28 per cent in the total of 39 per cent working population; At the level of male and female population while there are a little over 43 per cent of males in cultivation out of the 59 per cent of total male workers and about 13 per cent females in cultivation out of the total of 17 per cent of total female workers in Chittaurgarh district, the comparative figures for workers in cultivation in district Bhilwara are 28 per cent persons out of the total of around 39 per cent, 43 per cent males out of the total of about 61 per cent and, 11 per cent females out of the total of about 15 per cent.

About 3 per cent out of the 31 per cent total workers in Rajasthan are engaged as Agricultural Labourers. The corresponding figures for males are 4 per cent out of the total of around 52 per cent, and, for females about 2 per cent of the total of about 8 per cent. Some of the highest percentages of economic participation by people as agricultural labourers are observed in districts Pali and Sirohi.

1.4 per cent out of the total of 31 per cent of working population of the State is engaged in Trade and Commerce. Ajmer, Bikaner and Jaipur districts have the highest proportions. Participation of women in this category of economic activity of the workers is either insignificant or negligible.

Household Industry and other industries have about 1 per cent each out of the total of 31 per cent of the total workers. Districts Jaipur and Pali have comparatively higher proportions in case of participation in household industry and districts Ajmer, Kota & Jaipur in other industries.

Although the share of other remaining categories in building up the total percentage of working population of the State is small, districts Sirohi and Bhilwara have comparatively higher proportions of workers in livestock rearing and district Ajmer has higher proportions in transport and communications.

The pattern of the share of workers in various economic activities is naturally different in the rural and urban areas of the state. The details are furnished in the following two statements one for rural areas and the other for the urban.

It may recalled that we had earlier mentioned that there are 31.2 per cent persons who are economically active and have thus, been classed as workers. It may now be observed that out of these 31.2 per cent workers, 2.3 per cent lie in age-group 0-14 ,11.4 in age group 15–29; 12.0 in age group 30-49 and the remaining 5.5 per cent in age-group 50 and above. While the percentage distribution is almost similar in the rural areas of the State, the pattern is different in the urban areas. As we have already seen, only 25.8 per cent of the urban population consists of workers. Of this urban working population, 0.6 per cent lie in age-group 0–14; 9.5 in age-group 15-29; 11.3 in age-group 30–49 and 4.4 per cent in age-group 50 and above.

We already know 52.1 per cent of our male population and only 8.3 per cent of our female population consists of economically active persons in Rajasthan. At the rural-urban levels, the corresponding figures are 53.6 and 9.3 for males and females in rural areas and 45.1 and 3.9 for males and females in urban areas.

The largest contribution to the male working force, both in the rural and urban areas, is made by the age-group 30–49. In the case of female working force, however, while the age-group 15-29 contributes the highest in case of rural areas, it is the age-group 30-49 which contributes the highest in case of urban areas.

It will also be observed that while the economically active children are mainly engaged in agricultural and animal husbandry activities in the rural areas, such workers are also engaged in other activities such as in household industry and other services in the urban areas of the State. The highest proportion of economically active children is observed in district Bhilwara and the lowest in Jhunjhunun district.
