INTRODUCTORY

Towards the end of August 1953, the Government of Mysore asked me to undertake the extraction of figures relating to Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, for submission of circle-wise statements to the Delimitation Commission. Just when the work was about to be taken on hand accordingly, the Prime Minister happened to announce in Parliament that a High-Power Commission was shortly to be appointed to go into the question of reorganisation of States. Since this meant that sooner or later there would be a demand for villagewise language data, at least in respect of bilingual areas in the State, I sought the permission of the Deputy Registrar General to extract the language figures simultaneously with the extraction of figures for Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes.

The Deputy Registrar General, India, readily fell in with my view but suggested that the extraction of villagewise language data be confined only to taluks lying 'on either side of a linguistic dividing line.' Accordingly, figures were extracted for the villages of the following 13 clearly bilingual taluks :—

Bangalore District	Tumkur District	Kolar District	Chitaldrug District
Hoskote	Pavagada	Malur	Challakere
Devanhalli	Koratagere	Kolar
Anekal	Madhugiri	Goribidanur
Dodballapur		Chikballapur
		Sidlaghatta

With villagewise language data compiled for the above taluks, I thought I had anticipated all possible demands. But just as I was flattering myself on this, there came from certain members of the State Assembly, a call for figures relating to twelve more taluks, in addition to those for which figures had already been abstracted. As this demand had necessarily to be complied with, I undertook villagewise language sorting for these additional taluks with the approval of the State Government and the Deputy Registrar General. While doing so, I decided to take in Sira Taluk also in my stride, as there was the possibility of eleventh-hour demands being sprung on me in respect of this taluk, on the plausible ground of its sharing its north-eastern boundary with the Anantapur District of Andhra State. Including this taluk, the additional taluks taken up for villagewise language sorting were the following :—

Bangalore District	Kolar District	Tumkur District	Chitaldrug District
Bangalore South	Srinivasapur	Sira	Molakalmuru
Bangalore North	Mulbagal		Chitaldrug
	Chintamani		Hiriyur
	Bagepalli		Jagalur
	Gudibanda
	Bangarpet

In compiling language data for the above 26 taluks, all possible precautions were taken to ensure absolute accuracy. The 20 Sorters and 2 Supervisors who were engaged on the job were specially picked men. The work of each sorter was checked by another and if the mother-tongue of either of them happened to be Kannada or Telugu the concerned figures were over-checked by one of the Supervisors who was a Tamilian. As a further measure of precaution, the figures were subjected to a random check by my Assistant. These precautionary measures, fool-proof though they were, would not perhaps have been sufficient in themselves to allay suspicions as to the genuineness of the figures, had not the figures been abstracted from the original 1951 enumeration records, namely the National Register of Citizens and the Enumeration slips. Since these records had emerged at the regular decennial census, at a time when the storm of linguistic controversy had not yet burst on the political sea, the figures extracted from them cannot but be regarded as authentic, particularly in view of the fact that differences between the 1951 sorting and the present language sorting, are altogether insignificant (vide statement of differences appearing on page iv).

I have stated above that the villagewise language figures have been abstracted from the National Register of Citizens and the Enumeration slips of the 1951 Census. It may not be out of place to add that while figures for the first batch of bilingual taluks were extracted from the National Registers, those for the second batch of 13 bilingual taluks were tapped from the Enumeration slips. Difference in source does not, however, affect the results in the least, as the information contained in these two records is identical.

The figures emerging from villagewise sorting are exhibited in the following pages. For obvious reasons, details are furnished here for the main languages only (viz.—Kannada, Telugu, Tamil and Hindustani) while figures for all other languages have been combined and shown under "Others". In order to enable the language position to be seen in sharper focus, percentages are also given along with absolute values. Preceding the villagewise data of each taluk will be found an abstract revealing the language position in each of the towns and Revenue Circles of that taluk.

For reasons we need not go into here, a separate brochure is published for each district. Each district brochure contains, apart from statistical data, a District Language map showing in colours the areas of dominance of each of the main languages (namely, Kannada, Telugu, Tamil and Hindustani) and taluk maps showing the predominant language in each village of the bilingual taluks dealt with in the publication. As these taluk maps are too small to accommodate village names, serial numbers have been given instead, corresponding to the village serials contained in the respective taluk language statements. It is hardly necessary to add that bechirak or uninhabited villages are left uncoloured in the taluk language maps.

Along with the maps and statements, it will be seen, each district brochure contains a review of the present position of the main languages in the district and the position each of them had occupied in the past.

In the work of abstracting villagewise data and in bringing out the Language Brochures, I was ably assisted by Sri G. Nanjundiah, my First Assistant. He has brought to bear on this subject the same sense of thoroughness which was abundantly in evidence in his Census assignment. It has become part of his nature to shoulder increasing responsibilities of a varied nature and to do the work entrusted to his care with energy, devotion and assiduity.

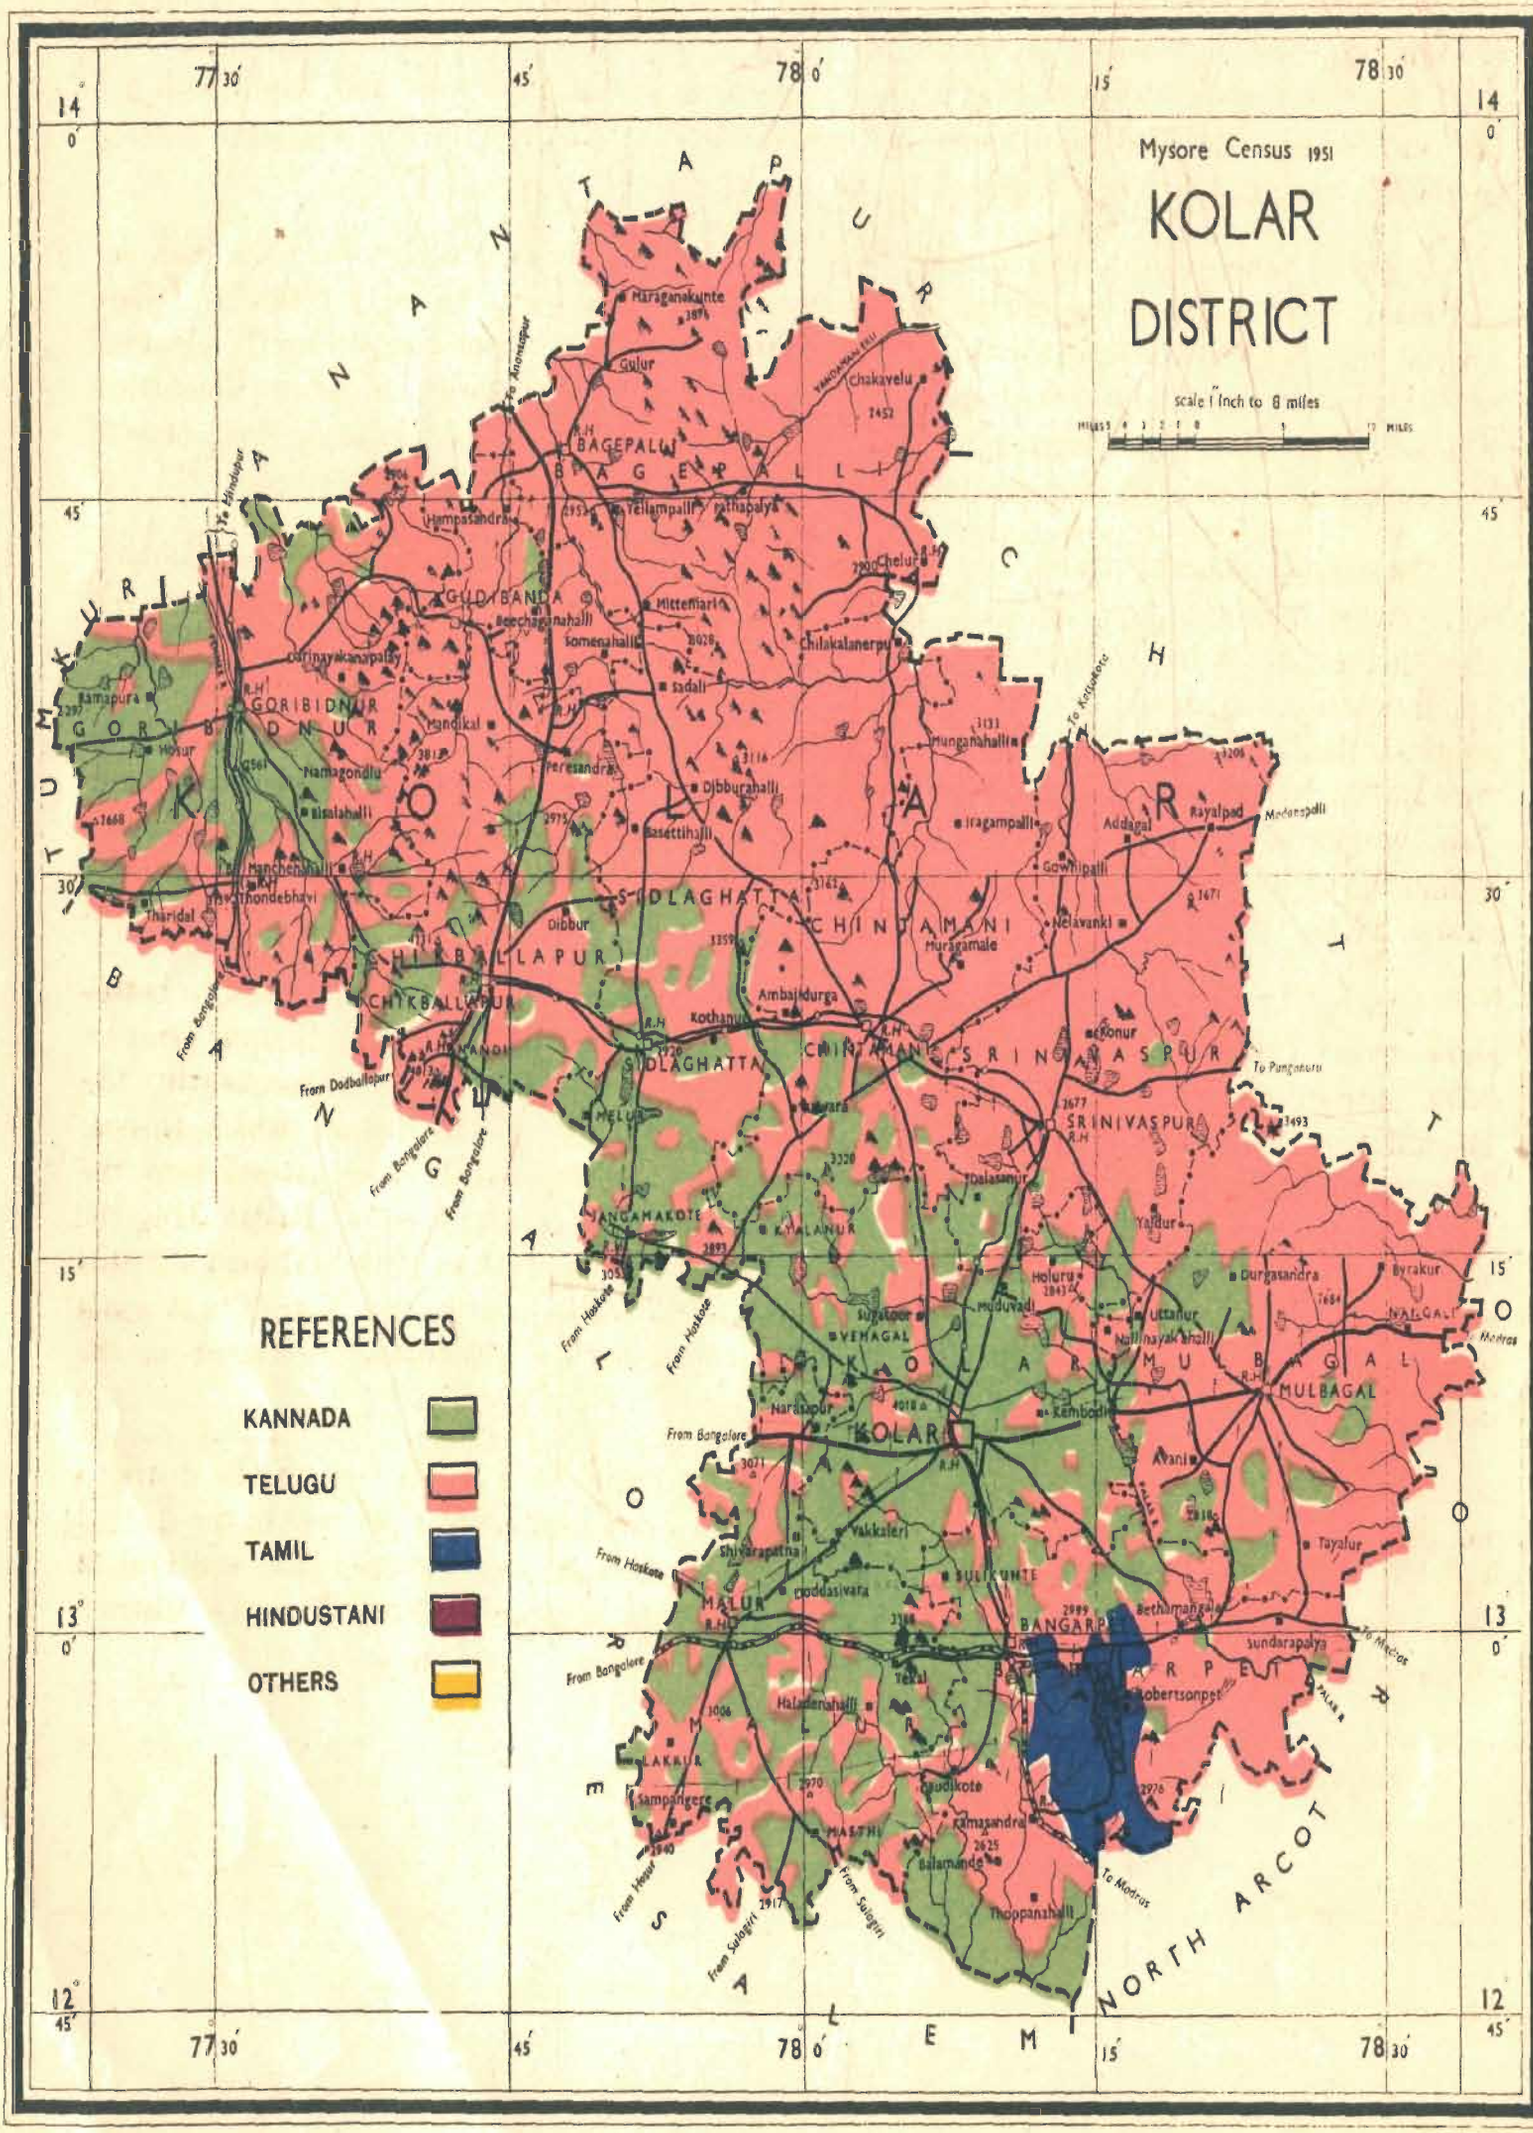

The staff recruited for language sorting did a splendid job and though for obvious reasons their names are not mentioned here individually, every one of them is entitled to my thanks. Special mention might, however, be made of the outstanding efforts of Sris. S. S. Krishna Murthy, V. S. Sreenivasa Iyengar and S. S. Ronald. In spite of his being saddled with the additional duties of Manager and Accountant, my Stenographer Sri U. V. Sreenivasa Rao cheerfully attended to the large volume of typing work connected with the publications. To him also my thanks are due.

The printing of the Language Handbooks was in the capable hands of Sri D. S. Gurubasavappa and his Assistants Sriyuths M. A. Sree Rama and B. P. Mallaraj Urs. They have bestowed personal attention to the work and with the assistance of Sri C. Seetharama Setty the General Supervisor, and Sri M. Nanjappa, Supervisor of the Photo-Zinco Section have made the publications outstanding in their get-up. And for that reason, they have all of them earned my thanks.

I am particularly indebted to Shri Rajeshwari Prasad, I.A.S., the Deputy Registrar General, for his unfailing courtesy and for the readiness with which he came to my aid in solving the hundred and one problems with which the work of villagewise language sorting was literally bristling.

LANGUAGE PATTERN OF KOLAR DISTRICT

Altogether 24 languages have been returned as mother-tongue in this district. Telugu is the dominant language and it claims 59.7 per cent of the district's population. Kannada with a 23.7 per cent claim comes second while Hindusthani with 9.6 per cent and Tamil with 5.6 per cent, occupy the third and fourth places respectively. The rest of the languages make a combined contribution of 1.4 per cent.

Of the 11 taluks in this district, nine boast of Telugu majorities while two, namely, Kolar and Malur have Kannada majorities. It is noteworthy that even in these two taluks, Telugu was the dominant language at the turn of the century, with proportions almost exactly identical with the present Kannada percentages. We have it on the authority of Lewis Rice* that Kannada was the original language of this district. But Telugu incursions during the days of Vijayanagar and since have hoisted the language to its present commanding position.

Considering that this district was under Chola rule (then known as Nikarilichola Mandala) for over two centuries, and continued to be included in the Tamil provinces for some time even after their expulsion by the Hoysala King Vishnuvardhana in 1117, it seems odd that the district's Tamil contribution should be a piddling 5.6 per cent. But then its ties with Tamil were more political than cultural and when once the political ties were severed, it was only a question of time for the influence of this language to wane. One other reason for this district's relatively low Tamil proportion is that except for a narrow strip in the south, it has no common frontier with Tamilnad. Understandably enough, therefore, the largest Tamil concentrations occur in areas closest to the Tamil country.

Although of the four principal languages Hindusthani was the last to come, it puts up a better show than Tamil in this district. The subjugation of the district by the Bijapur army in 1639, introduced into it the Hindusthani language for the first time. Subsequently, the Moghul army under Khasim Khan conquered the greater part of the district which thenceforward became a part of the Moghul Province of Sira. The district then passed into the hands successively of the Mahrattas, the Nawab of Kadapa and then of Baslat Jang the brother of the Nizam. Baslat Jang ceded the district to Haidar Ali in 1761. Although it was taken first by the British and later by the Mahrattas subsequently, the district was again recovered by Haidar. These events naturally strengthened the Hindusthani element in the district.

The remaining 20 languages, as already stated, account for 1.4 per cent of the district's population. Marathi claims the lion's share of this with a contribution of 1 per cent to the district tally. Considering that it was under Mahratta sway more than once between 1639 and 1791, it is not altogether surprising that among the less important languages returned in the district, Marathi should be taking the lead.
