PREFACE

This is the supplement to Paper 1 of 1981 Census which was issued soon after the census operations in March 1981. It contains data on urbanisation and economic activity. The tables presented in the booklet broadly relate to population of towns and cities in the State, population classified as workers and non-workers and further classification of workers into cultivators, agricultural labourers, household industry workers and other workers. A brief analysis of these tables is made under two sections—I. Urban population and II. Working population. The need for data at a level lower than the district for planning purposes requires hardly any emphasis. A special table has, therefore, been prepared which contains comprehensive data on population, literacy and working population in each taluk.

The publication of this paper marks the completion of the release of provisional totals, the aim of which is to place before the Government and the public the most essential population data quickly, close on the completion of the census operations.

I take this opportunity to thank the Government of Tamil Nadu for the excellent co-operation extended at every stage of the census operations. I record my wholehearted thanks to the Hon. Chief Minister of Tamil Nadu, Shri M. G. Ramachandran and the Hon. Revenue Minister, Shri S. D. Somasundaram for their encouragement and guidance. My thanks are due to Shri V. Karthikeyan, Chief Secretary and Shri D. K. Oza, Chief Electoral Officer and Commissioner and Secretary, Public (Elections) Department for their unflinching help and support throughout the census operations. The District Collectors, in their capacity as District Census Officers, played a notable part in the organisation of the census operations. I am extremely thankful to them and their officers and staff. I also thank the Commissioners of the Corporation of Madras and Madurai for their co-operation. The Tahsildars, Municipal Commissioners and Executive Officers of Municipal Townships and Cantonments have spared no pains in arranging for a smooth and successful enumeration.

Shri P. Padmanabha, I.A.S., Registrar General and Census Commissioner of India has been a source of constant encouragement and his inspiring guidance stood me in good stead in organising this massive task. Shri K. K. Chakravorty, Shri V. P. Pandey and Shri N. G. Nag, Deputy Registrar Generals and other officers of the Office of the Registrar General, India, New Delhi have continuously extended their full co-operation. It is my pleasant duty to record my thanks to them.

My colleagues in the Directorate as well as in the regional offices have shown a missionary zeal and enthusiasm in their task throughout. A number of officials from our office were sent to the districts in connection with training of enumerators and supervisors and in assisting the charge officers to quickly tabulate the provisional results and communicate the same to our office on the due date. All of them worked diligently and I thank them. Last but not the least, it is the enumerators who patiently went from door to door to collect the census information. My thanks are due to them and the supervisors who overchecked their work.

The census message had to reach every individual and in this connection the press, the All India Radio and the Doordharshan Kendra, Madras, have extended their fullest co-operation and I gratefully acknowledge the extensive publicity given by them to census.

I also record my appreciation and thanks to the Manager, Government of India Press, Coimbatore and the Director of Stationery and Printing, Government of Tamil Nadu for printing the forms and instruction booklets.

It is my earnest hope that this booklet will be found useful by the laymen and the scholars alike. I however hasten to add that the results are provisional and one should await the final tabulation for an in-depth analysis.

SECTION–I

URBAN POPULATION

Census figures are generally compiled separately for rural and urban areas. On the basis of certain criteria, the urban areas are determined for census purposes. In the 1981 Census, the definition of an urban unit is more or less the same as in the 1961 and 1971 Censuses but for some minor variations. The urban areas of 1981 Census are :

(a) All places with a Municipality, Corporation or Cantonment Board or notified town area ;

(b) All other places which satisfied the following criteria :
  (i) A minimum population of 5,000 ;
  (ii) At least 75 per cent of the male working population engaged in non-agricultural (and allied) activity :
  (iii) A population of at least 400 per km^2 (or one thousand per square mile).

The above definition of urban area varies slightly from that of 1961 and 1971 Censuses in that the males working in activities such as fishing, logging etc. were treated as engaged in non-agricultural activity and therefore contributed to the 75 per cent criterion in the 1961 and 1971 Censuses, whereas in the 1981 Census, these activities are treated as on par with cultivation and agricultural labour for the purpose of this criterion. In 1971 and earlier censuses, urban areas included some places with population below 5,000 on the basis of certain considerations like density, social and historical importance. In 1981, however, the test was strictly applied and no area was included on local considerations. This was done with a view to presenting a correct perspective of urbanisation in Tamil Nadu vis-a-vis other States in India.

According to the provisional results of 1981 Census, the urban dwellers of Tamil Nadu State number 15.9 million out of the total population of 48.3 million which amounts to 33 per cent. Every third person in Tamil Nadu is an urban dweller. In 1971, the State's urban population was 12.5 million out of the total of 41.2 million which worked out to 30.3 per cent. The decadal increase in the urban population of Tamil Nadu during 1971–81 is 27.7 per cent as against the increase of 17.2 per cent in the total population of the State in the same period.

The number of urban units in Tamil Nadu has been steadily increasing in every census till 1971 as can be seen from the following statement :

1941	257
1951	297
1961	339
1971	439
1981	434

Of the total of 434 urban units in the State in 1981, the largest number is in Chengalpattu district (66) which is spread around Madras City. In fact many residential colonies and industries have sprung up in the areas surrounding Madras City which form part of Chengalpattu district. The districts with large number of urban units are Tirunelveli (52) and Salem (44). The number of urban units and the urban population for 1981 and their percentages are given in the following statement :

Madras City being a district by itself is fully urban and accounts for about one-fifth of the State's urban population. The other districts which have sizeable urban population in Tamil Nadu are Madurai (1.6 million), Coimbatore (1.5 million), Chengalpattu (1.4 million), Tirunelveli (1.2 million) and North Arcot (1.0 million). These districts have together over 60 per cent of the State's urban population.

Urbanisation is considered to be an important index of economic growth. In the economically advanced countries like United Kingdom, Canada, France, USA, Japan and USSR, the percentages of urban population vary between 50 and 80. Over the last 80 years, the percentage of urban population in Tamil Nadu has increased from 14.2 in 1901 to 33.0 in 1981. From 1941 onwards, the urban population has grown considerably. During 1941–51, urban population increased by 41.8 per cent whereas the general population increased by 14.7 per cent. During 1951–61 the urban population went up by 22.6 per cent, as against 11.9 per cent for the general population. During the decade 1961–71, the urban population of the State rose by 38.6 per cent and total population by 22.3 per cent. During 1971–81, the State's population went up by 17.23 per cent and the urban population by 27.72 per cent.

Considering the districts of Tamil Nadu barring Madras which is entirely urban, the district of Coimbatore has recorded the highest percentage of urban population (50.49 per cent). Coimbatore City and a number of industrial towns surrounding it are located in this district. Nilgiri (48.79 per cent), Chengalpattu (38.91 per cent) and Madurai (36.31 per cent) are the other districts with a high proportion of urban population. The districts with very low percentages of urban population (below 20 per cent) are Dharmapuri (9.39), Pudukkottai (13.29), South Arcot (15.72) and Kanniyakumari (17.28).

A statement showing the percentage of urban population to total population for the States and Union Territories in India is given below:

Tamil Nadu occupies the second place among the States in the matter of urbanisation, the first being Maharashtra. In 1971 also, Maharashtra was the only State which had higher urban percentage than Tamil Nadu. When we compare urbanisation in Tamil Nadu with that in India as a whole, we find that the State has consistently had a higher percentage in the past decades also. The following table gives a comparative idea of urbanisation in the country as a whole and in Tamil Nadu from 1951.

Urban Agglomeration

The concept of urban agglomeration (UA) introduced in 1971 Census has been followed in the 1981 Census also. An Urban Agglomeration may be explained as follows : "It must form a continuous urban spread constituting a town and its adjoining urban outgrowth or two or more physically contiguous towns together with continuous well recognised urban outgrowth, if any, of such towns." In addition to the 32 urban agglomerations of 1971 census which have been continued in 1981 (with a few additional towns in some urban agglomerations), two entirely new urban agglomerations have been formed for 1981 Census. These are Neyveli and Karur.

Supplement Table 2 gives population particulars of all the 434 urban units of Tamil Nadu including urban agglomerations along with their constituent units. It also gives the sex break-up and the growth rate during the decades 1961–71 and 1971–81.

The Madras Urban Agglomeration which is the largest urban concentration of the State has 4,276,635 persons as per 1981 Census and it consists of the core town of Madras as also 48 other constituent towns. This urban complex recorded a growth rate of 63.02 per cent during 1961–71 and 34.91 per cent during 1971–81. It is the fourth biggest urban centre in the country, the first three being Calcutta UA (9.17 million), Greater Bombay City (8.20 million) and Delhi UA (5.75 million). In Tamil Nadu, Coimbatore UA comes next to Madras with a population of 917,155. This urban agglomeration has 17 urban units including the core town in its fold. Madurai UA has a population of 904,362 with 10 constituent units. Tiruchirappalli (607,815) and Salem (515,021) are the other important urban agglomerations having over 500,000 population.

In the Supplement Table 2, all the urban agglomerations/towns have been presented under six broad classes based on their population. These classes are :

Class		Population size
Class I	...	100,000 and above
Class II	...	50,000 to 99,999
Class III	...	20,000 to 49,999
Class IV	...	10,000 to 19,999
Class V	...	5,000 to 9,999
Class VI	...	Less than 5,000

Towns falling under Class I are generally termed as 'cities'. There are 20 units in Tamil Nadu with over one lakh population and 14 of these are urban agglomerations while six others are cities. Four new units have crossed the one lakh population mark for the first time in 1981 and are given under Class I. These are Valparai City, Pollachi UA, Rajapalayam City and Karaikudi UA.

Supplement Table 3 gives the population of towns according to these six classes and also the proportion of population in each of these classes. It is observed from this table that 62.19 per cent of the State's urban population are now in cities (i.e. Class I towns). In 1971, this percentage was only 57.74. The percentage of urban population living in Class II towns is 15.99 in 1981 as against 14.16 in 1971. In the other classes of towns, i.e. III to VI, the percentages of population in 1981 are less when compared to 1971. It can be inferred from this that the urban population is increasingly getting concentrated in big urban centres of over 50,000 population than in the smaller ones.

When we consider the decadal growth of population of the six classes of towns, it is observed that higher growth is noticed only in the case of first three classes of towns. During 1971–81, the population of Class I towns has gone up by 37.62 per cent, that of Class II by 44.29 and Class III by 5.92 per cent. It is significant to note that 125 towns/urban agglomerations belonging to Classes IV, V and VI (out of 245 town/UA units in Tamil Nadu) have in them barely 9.3 per cent of the State's urban population as per 1981.

The sex ratio in the six classes is also given in Supplement Table 3. The sex ratio is the lowest in Class I and it increases in the subsequent classes. While in Class I cities, the sex ratio is 943, in Class II towns the ratio is 971. In Class III towns, the ratio is still higher, i.e. 976. There are comparatively lesser number of females in bigger urban units.

SECTION–II

WORKING POPULATION

Information on employment has been collected in successive Censuses of India from 1881 onwards. Each census, however, used a different concept to define a worker, making intercensal comparison difficult. The economic questions of 1981 Census have been so framed as to admit of comparison to a certain extent with the 1971 and 1961 Censuses.

The economic questions of 1981 Census have been modified from those of the previous Censuses so as to elicit full details of main workers, main workers with secondary work, marginal workers and non-workers. The economic questions are as under :

14A — Worked any time at all last year ?

14B — If yes in 14A, did you work for major part of last year ?

15A — Main activity last year ?

15B — If yes in 14B, any other work any time last year ? If no in 14B, work done any time last year ?

16 — If no in 14A or 14B, seeking/available for work ?

The 'work' concept of 1961 and 1971 Censuses, as opposed to the "income" or "economic independence" concept of the earlier Censuses is adopted in the 1981 Census. But the criterion for the classification of persons as 'workers' has been changed. While in the 1961 and 1971 Censuses, different approaches, viz. usual status and current status were adopted with reference period of one year and one week for seasonal and for regular work respectively, at the 1981 Census, the usual status approach is adopted uniformly for all work. In the 1961 and 1971 Censuses, classification as worker or non-worker was made through different criteria. In 1961, a person qualified as a worker if he had worked regularly during the last season or if he had worked at least for a day in regular (non-seasonal) work during the preceding fortnight. At the 1971 Census, a person was treated as a worker only if he spent his time mainly in work or if he worked at least for a day in regular (non-seasonal) work during the preceding week. The dichotomy of worker/non-worker of 1961 and 1971 Censuses is discarded in 1981 Census and instead, a trichotomy as main workers, marginal workers and non-workers is adopted.

For main workers, the time criterion of engagement in work for the major part of the year, i.e. at least 183 days is adopted while those who worked for some time during the last year but not for the major part are treated as marginal workers. Those who had never worked during the last year are non-workers. This trichotomy partially permits a comparability of 1981 Census economic data with that of 1971 as well as 1961. The main workers of 1981 Census can be expected to correspond to the workers of 1971 and the main workers and marginal workers of 1981 together to correspond to the workers of 1961.

Work has been defined as 'participation in any economically productive activity'. Such participation may be physical or mental in nature. Work involves not only actual work but also effective supervision and direction of work. The reference period is the one year preceding the date of enumeration. A person performing household duties only or is a full-time student without being engaged in any work whatsoever is treated as a non-worker.

A pensioner or a rentier who did not have to work for receiving his pension or rent was not treated as worker unless he was also engaged in some economic activity.

In this analysis, we are confining ourselves to main workers and marginal workers, the provisional data for which are compiled from charge abstracts. The number of main workers in 1981 as per provisional results is 18.9 million. Main workers are those who have returned themselves as cultivators, agricultural labourers, household industry workers and other workers in question 15A. Other workers include the following workers : Livestock, forestry, fishing, hunting and plantations, orchards and allied activities, mining and quarrying, manufacturing, processing, servicing and repairs other than household industry, construction, trade and commerce, transport, storage and communications, and other services. This figure in 1971 was 14.7 million. Thus the number of additional workers as recorded in 1981 is 4.2 million over that of 1971 in the State. The overall participation rate for Tamil Nadu was 45.6 per cent in 1961, 35.8 per cent in 1971 and 39.2 per cent in 1981. It should be borne in mind that the conceptual variations in the three Censuses are not taken into account here.

The male participation rate in 1981 for the State works out to 55.4 per cent and this is slightly less than the 1971 figure of 56.0. In the case of females, the participation rate has increased in 1981 when compared to 1971 ; the rate was 15.1 per cent in 1971 and 22.6 per cent in 1981. The increase is rather significant.

The following table gives the percentage of workers to population by sex for rural and urban areas for 1981 and 1971 Censuses.

Percentage of workers by sex for rural and urban areas, Tamil Nadu, 1971–1981

Year	Percentage of main workers to population
	Persons	Males	Females
(1)	(2)	(3)	(4)
1981
Total ...	39.2	55.4	22.6
Rural ...	43.0	57.8	28.1
Urban ...	31.3	50.4	11.2
1971
Total ...	35.8	56.0	15.1
Rural ...	38.2	58.6	17.6
Urban ...	30.2	50.3	9.1

The work participation rate is higher in the rural areas of the State when compared to the urban areas and this is so both in the case of males as well as females. The female participation rate in rural areas has significantly increased in 1981 to 28.1 per cent from the 1971 figure of 17.6 per cent. In spite of the widespread increase in the employment opportunities for women in the urban areas, the participation rate is still quite low, viz. 11.2 in 1981.

Due to variations in the definition of workers, females who had returned their main activity as housewives were treated as non-workers in 1971 even though many such females would have in addition contributed to economic activity by working as cultivators, agricultural labourers or household industry workers. On the basis of their contribution to economically productive work, many among them, particularly in rural areas, would have now fallen in the category of ' workers ' in 1981.

Supplement Table 4 gives the variations in participation rates of main workers in 1981 as well as in 1971 by sex. The highest percentage of main workers is recorded in Periyar district with 49.3 per cent and this is a newly formed district from Coimbatore. In 1971 Census, Coimbatore district had the highest percentage of main workers. As per the provisional figures of 1981, Periyar, Salem and Coimbatore districts have recorded higher percentages of workers when compared with the other districts. Very low participation rates are noticed in Madras (27.4 per cent) and Kanniyakumari (26.9 per cent) ; these two districts had lower worker ratios in 1971 too. Male workers form high percentages in 1981 in the districts of Periyar (65.2), Salem (60.3) and Coimbatore (60.0). Less than half the male population are workers in Nilgiri, Madras and Kanniyakumari districts. Female participation rates are very low (below eight per cent) in the districts of Madras and Kanniyakumari ; these districts had very low rates during 1971 also. Female participation rate is the highest in Periyar district (32.6). Of the total main workers of 18.9 million in Tamil Nadu as per 1981, 13.5 million are males and 5.4 million (forming 28.5 per cent of total workers) are females.

Supplement Table 5 gives the particulars of main workers as also their distribution among the four major categories : cultivators, agricultural labourers, household industry workers and other workers. The data are presented district-wise for persons, males and females and the percentage of workers in each category to the total workers is given for 1981 as well as for 1971.

For the State as a whole, the cultivators form 29.40 per cent of total workers in 1981. This is slightly lower when compared to the 1971 rate of 31.26 per cent. In the other categories, the ratio of workers in 1981 is higher than the corresponding 1971 ratio. Agricultural labourers form 31.45 per cent of total workers. Thus, about 61 per cent of workers in the State have agriculture as their main occupation and are engaged either as cultivators or agricultural labourers. The provisional results also show that about five per cent of total workers of the State are engaged in household industry and 34 per cent in other work.

Among the male workers, 32.0 per cent are cultivators and 23.2 per cent are agricultural labourers ; 40.4 per cent are ' other workers '. Only 4.4 per cent are engaged in household industry. Considering female workers of the State, an important feature is that 52.3 per cent of them are agricultural labourers. Such a predominance of agricultural labour among female workers was observed in 1971 also (54.4 per cent). Cultivators among female workers form 22.9 per cent in 1981. Female workers under household industry form 6.8 per cent and ' other workers ' 18.0 per cent.

The following statement shows the rural-urban differentials among the categories of workers in 1971 and 1981 for the State as a whole.

Percentage of workers in each category to total workers, 1971–1981, Tamil Nadu

(iii) Household Industry Workers	3.6	7.1	4.1	8.0
(iv) Other Workers ...	18.0	79.7	17.6	80.0

When the rural areas are considered, we notice that the ratio of agricultural labourers and household industry workers has increased in 1981 over that of 1971. The ratio of cultivators and other workers shows some decrease. In the urban sector, there is an improved percentage of workers in 1981 under 'household industry' and 'other workers' over 1971. No large variation in the percentage distribution is noticed among the rural and urban areas as between 1971 and 1981.

Cultivators form over half the working population (as per 1981 Census) in the districts of Dharmapuri (55.56 per cent) and Pudukkottai (55.82 per cent) and in the remaining 14 districts, it is less than 40 per cent. The districts with very low proportion of cultivators among workers is found in Madras City (1.16 per cent) which is wholly urban. The other districts with low cultivator ratio are Nilgiri (3.03 per cent) and Kanniyakumari (12.10 per cent). In the 1971 Census also, we find that the above districts have similar rankings.

Agricultural labourers form 46.01 per cent of workers in Thanjavur district and it is the highest among districts. Madurai (39.09 per cent) and South Arcot (38.65 per cent) have also recorded very high ratios of agricultural workers. At the other end, the lowest percentage is in Madras (0.63 per cent). Nilgiri district with 5.99 per cent and Pudukkottai with 20.69 per cent have also lower ratios of agricultural labourers when compared to rest of the districts.

Household industry workers form the highest per cent (11.01) of total workers in Tirunelveli district. Salem district has the second highest ratio (8.57 per cent) in this regard. Chengalpattu, North Arcot and Periyar districts have also comparatively higher percentages ranging from 6.00 to 6.51.

Other workers, i.e. workers engaged in other than cultivation, agricultural labour and household industry form the highest (94.54) per cent in Madras. This is so in view of the highly industrial and commercial character of the city which is also the capital and seat of administration of the State Government. Nilgiri district has also recorded a high ratio of 90.55 per cent of workers under ' other work ' and this is due to the classification of workers engaged in plantation, vegetable and fruit growing as also those engaged in forestry under the category of 'other workers' in Census. In the 1971 Census also, Madras and Nilgiri had 94.54 per cent and 90.55 per cent under other workers respectively. Coimbatore (48.53 per cent) and Kanniyakumari (46.42 per cent) districts also indicate a good percentage of 'other workers' among workers while all the remaining districts have less than 40 per cent of workers of this type.

There are wide variations in the districts among male/female distribution of workers in the above four categories and these may be seen from Supplement Table 5. It is significant that a majority of female workers in many districts are agricultural labourers. In the predominantly agricultural district of Thanjavur – granary of Tamil Nadu – nearly 74 per cent of female workers are agricultural labourers. Sizeable percentages of female workers working in household industry are noticed in the districts of Tirunelveli (22.43 per cent), Kanniyakumari (18.45 per cent) and Madras (10.89 per cent).

The Primary Census Abstract (PCA) is given at the end of the Supplement Tables in two parts. In part I of PCA, the data on population and literates by sex as also certain indices like density, sex ratio and population growth rate (in per cent) during 1971–81 are given. Data are given here separately for total, rural and urban areas of the State and each of the districts as also for each city or urban agglomeration of 100,000 persons and above. In Part II of the Primary Census Abstract, details of workers, percentage of workers and data on the number of the workers of each of the four categories of cultivators, agricultural labourers, household industry workers and other workers are given. The number of marginal workers and non-workers as at 1981 is also given here. These details are also given for districts separately for total, rural and urban areas as also for cities and urban agglomerations with one lakh and above population.

As mentioned already, marginal workers are those workers who have engaged themselves in economically productive work for some part of last year but not as main work (i.e. for less than six months). This is a new concept in 1981 and details of such workers of comparative status for previous Censuses are therefore not available.

There are 1,666,597 marginal workers in Tamil Nadu as reported in 1981 Census and of this, 511,606 are males and 1,154,991 are females. The marginal workers form 3.5 per cent of the total population. While the marginal workers among male population account for 2.1 per cent, female marginal workers form 4.8 per cent. A large number of females, particularly in rural areas engage themselves in marginal work in their leisure hours and this is apparently reflected in the number of females among marginal workers. Of the 1,350,183 marginal workers in rural areas of the State, 1,029,928 are females. The marginal workers in urban areas are 316,414.
