PAPER 1 OF 1981—SUPPLEMENT

PROVISIONAL POPULATION TOTALS

Director of Census Operations, Rajasthan

PREFACE

This is the supplement to Paper-1 of 1981 Census which was released on March 23, 1981 soon after the close of Census Operations. In this publication we seek to supplement the information brought out earlier through the Paper-1. But the data presented herein, as in the earlier publication, is provisional and, therefore, subject to some variation as a consequence of tabulation which will be completed sometime in the middle of 1982.

I take this opportunity to convey our profound gratefulness to the Government of Rajasthan for the fullest cooperation and assistance rendered to the Directorate in organising the census operations successfully. In particular, I would like to express my deepest sense of gratitude to Hon'ble Chief Minister Shri Shiv Charan Mathur and Shri M. M. K. Wali, the Chief Secretary for their invaluable help and guidance extended to us from time to time. Several departments of the State Government among which General Administration, Education, Community Development, Economics & Statistics, Public Relations, Printing and the Department of Personnel deserve special mention have extended a helping hand at all the stages of work. The District Collectors have played a pivotal role in successfully conducting and supervising census operations despite their multifarious responsibilities. They have been ably assisted by ADMs/SDOs, Tehsildars and Municipal Officers and other Charge Officers. The Supervisors and Enumerators worked ceaselessly in the entire period of field operations to make 1981 Census a complete success.

I am beholden to Shri P. Padmanabha, Registrar General, India who has always enthused us to the core and whose sustained support has stood us in good stead in organising and shaping census work in all its phases.

Our grateful thanks are due to Shri V.P. Pandey, Shri K.K. Chakraborty and Shri N.G. Nag, Deputy Registrars Generals and their colleagues for their willing and timely administrative support to all of us.

My colleagues in the Directorate as well as in the Regional offices have displayed a rare sense of enthusiasm and devotion to duty which helped in organising the tasks smoothly and successfully. The officers drawn from the State Admininstrative Service and functioning as Regional Tabulation Officers worked whole-heartedly throughout the field operations, sometimes in very unfavourable circumstances, deserve a special mention.

We received the fullest cooperation from all the people of the state, the old and the young, the men and the women, the children and the handicapped in completing the decennial census when we count every-one and each one counts for us.

AN INTRODUCTORY NOTE

In our first publication, Paper 1 of 1981 Census, apart from the basic data relating to population, density, growth rate, sex-ratio and literacy at state level, the following district level tables were also included :

Table 1—Distribution of Population, Sex-ratio, Growth Rate and Density of Population.

Table 2—Decadal Variation in Population since 1901.

Table 3—Literacy (including population in Age-group 0-4).

Table 4—Statement showing Cities/City Urban Agglomerations with a population of 100,000 & above.

The publication of this "Supplement to Paper-1 of 1981 Census", marks the completion of the release of provisional totals, which will meet the immediate demands of various data users including State government departments and local authorities. It may take nearly two years or so to publish District Census Hand Books based on final figures being tabulated for the Primary Census Abstracts comprising basic population data of 37119 villages. Over 1500 Tabulators and other supervisory staff have been engaged in compilation and building up the firm and final population figures for various administrative units alongwith other necessary information.

In the present paper which is being brought out as "Supplement to Paper-1 of 1981, an attempt has been made to study and analyse the trends in urbanisation, growth-rates and literacy rates of our population at tehsil and town levels besides the rural and urban composition of our population. The economic data relating to working population and work participation rates have also been presented alongwith their comparison with 1971 data. It is hoped that the district-wise distribution of workers categorised as cultivators, agricultural labourers, workers engaged in household industries and others will be specially found useful by planners in various government departments and local authorities in projecting, broadly, the needs of the people living in various administrative units.

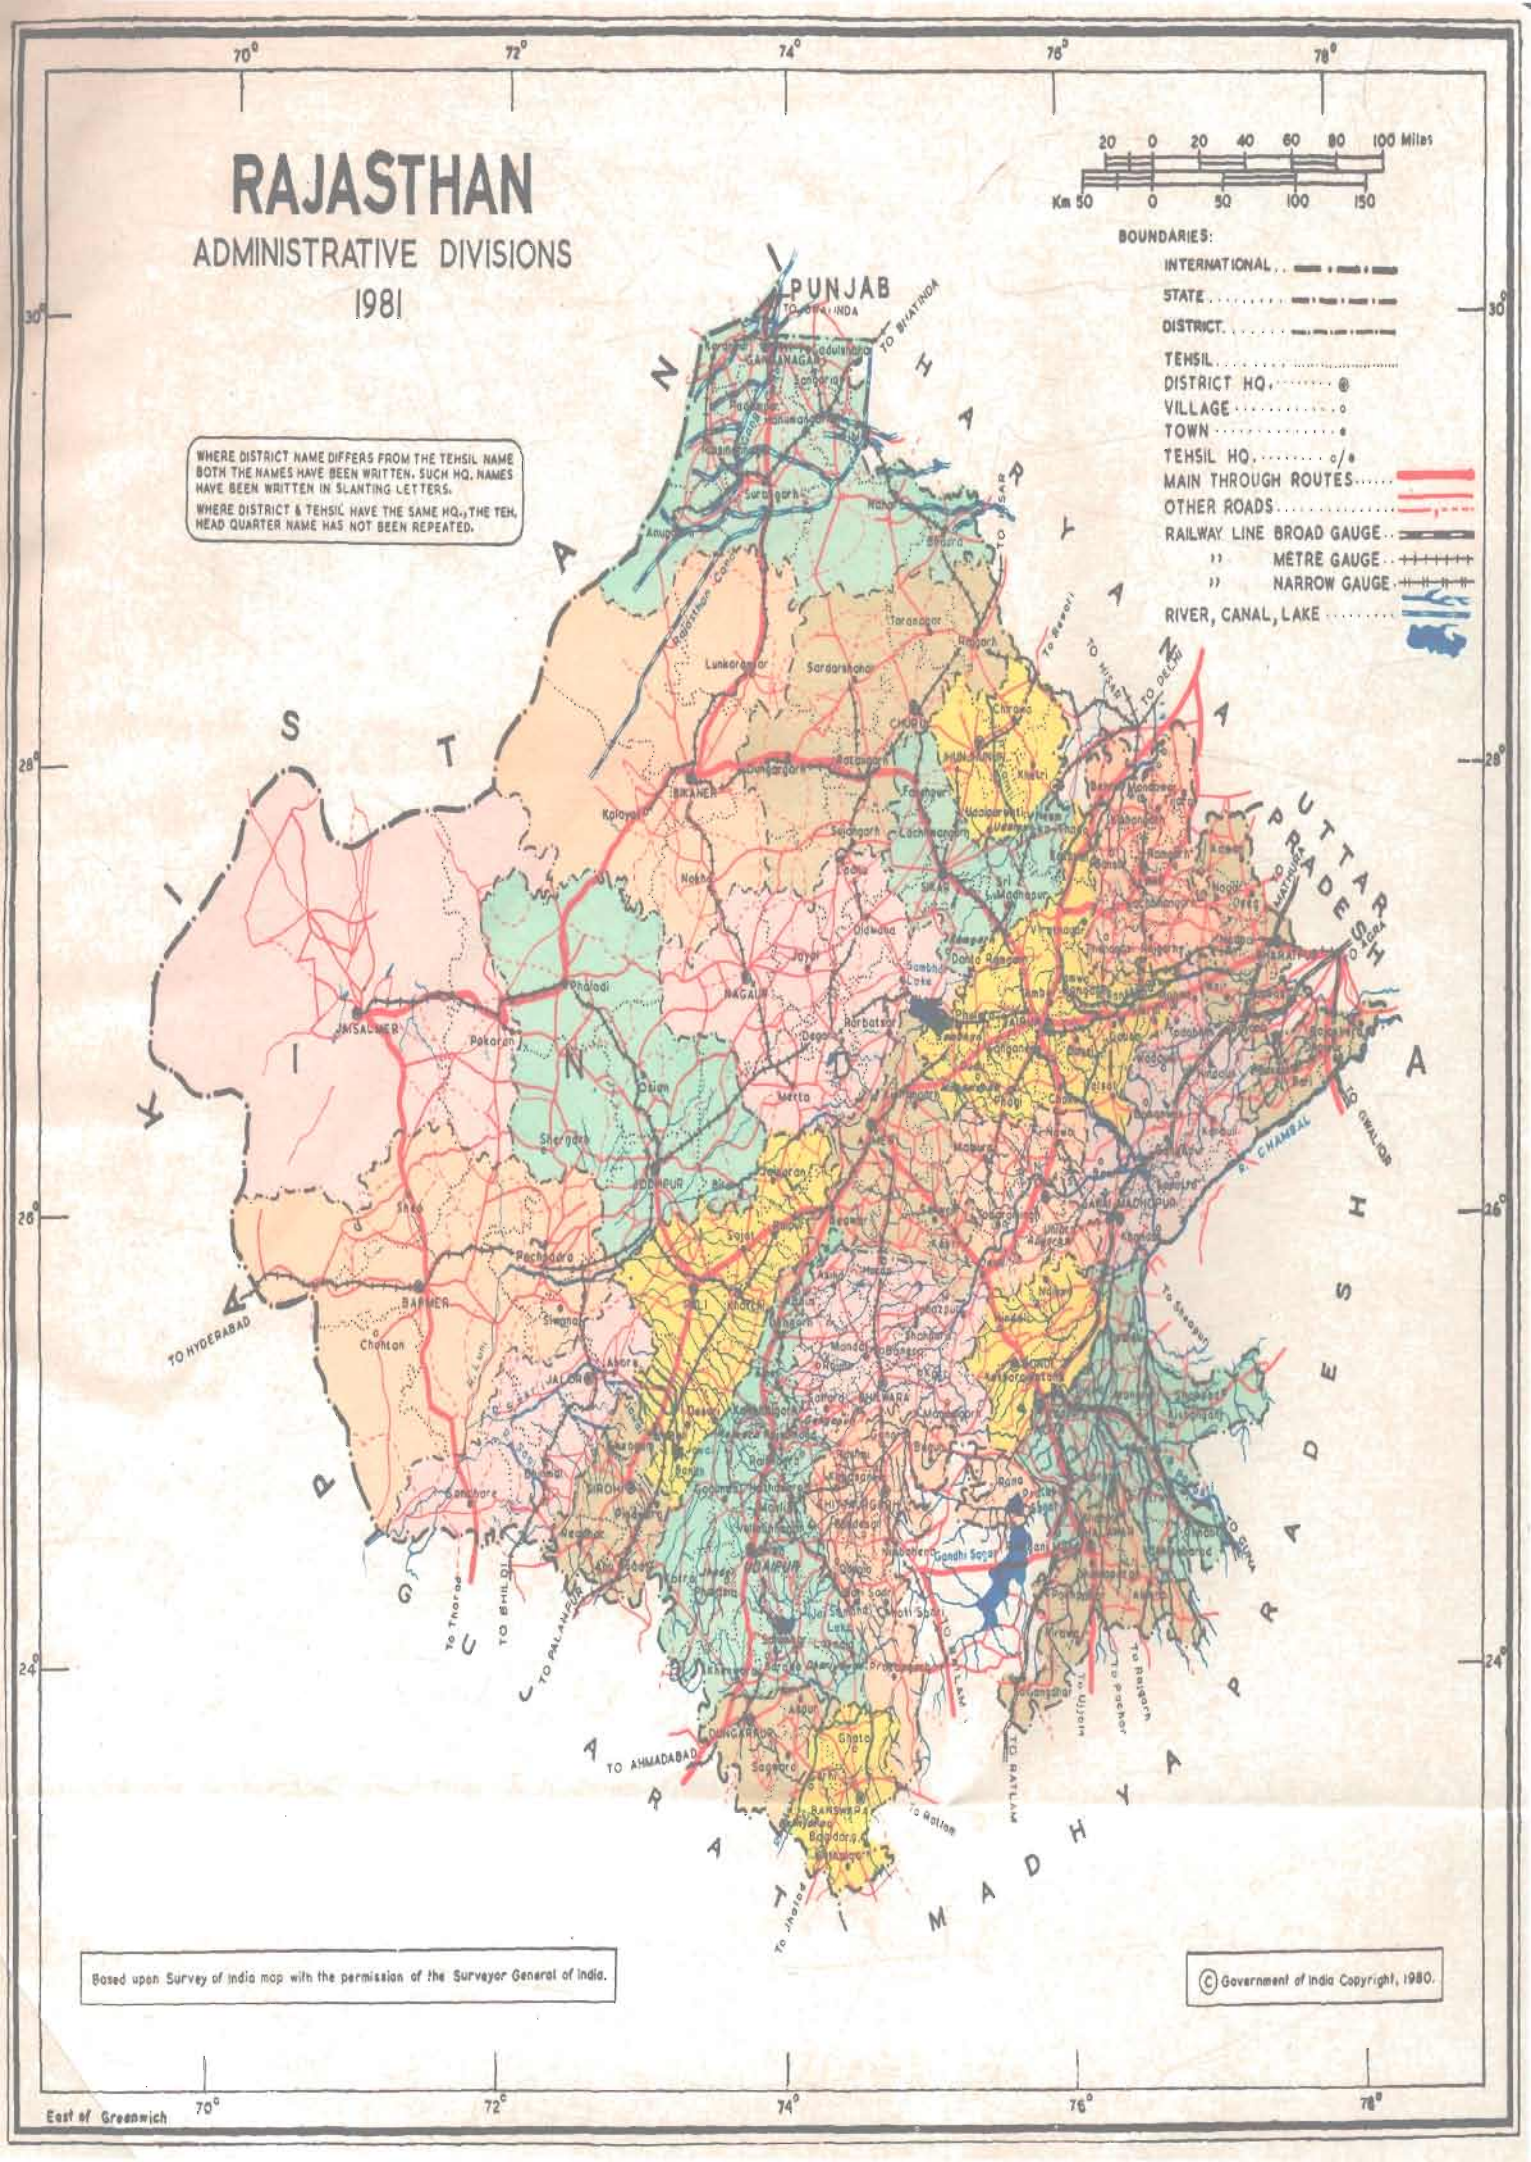

The information of the three categories of disabled population viz., totally blind, crippled and dumb has been collected de novo after a gap of fifty years, for the amelioration and welfare of the handicapped in the years ahead as well as in 1981, the year internationally dedicated to their cause. This information is being presented upto tehsil and town levels.

The analytical note preceding the tables will provide the necessary basis and backdrop for appreciating the detailed information presented in the form of tables. A few detailed maps and diagrams depicting the data have also been included to help the readers to follow the demographic characteristics of our people.

The Primary Census Abstract contains fairly detailed data for each district, tehsil and town and will, hopefully, serve as a ready reckoner for planners, administrators, research-scholars and other data users.

RURAL AND URBAN POPULATION

According to the final tally of the census count, as at the sunrise of March 1, 1981, over 341 lakh human-beings reside in the state. Of the total population, about 270 lakh persons were enumerated in rural areas and over 71 lakhs in urban areas.

The urban areas of the State encompass the areas lying in Municipal units, the Cantonment Boards and the Notified town area committees. Besides, a few places which fulfil the criteria—(a) a minimum population of 5000; (b) atleast 75 percent of the male working population engaged in non-agricultural (and allied) activities; and (c) a density of population of atleast 400 persons per square kilometre have been treated as census towns.

There are, in all, 201 urban units in Rajasthan, of which 190 are Municipal towns/cities and one each under Cantonment Board, Notified Area Committee besides 9 Census towns. Among the municipal towns, nine have outgrowth, beyond their jurisdictional limits, spreading into their neighbouring rural areas. Since the areas included in the outgrowth have assumed urban characteristics, they have been labelled as urban and included in the core towns for the purposes of census.

A little more than 79 percent of our population still resides in the rural areas, while for the country as a whole this percentage comes to 76 27 percent. The percentage of urban population to the total population, as per 1981 census figures, works out to about 21 percent as against 17·6 percent in 1971 census. This marks a rise of more than 3 percent in the urban population during the last decade. Now every fifth person in the state is an urban dweller. The proportion of urban population to total population at the national level is 23·73 percent.

There are ten states in India having higher proportion of rural population than Rajasthan, the highest being 92 28 percent of Himachal Pradesh. Nine states have lower proportion, the lowest being 64 97 percent of Maharashtra. The proportions of rural and urban population to the total population in various states and Union Territories of India are given in Statement I appended at the end.

Within the State, twenty districts have bigger share of rural population, that is, higher than the State average and of these, the most notable is Banswara district (93·77) followed by Dungarpur (93·52), Jalor (91·94), Barmer (91·37) and Alwar (89·18) districts.

The districts of Ajmer, Bikaner, Jaipur, Jodhpur, Kota and Churu have recorded a higher proportion of urban population as compared to the state average. All of them except Churu have one major city. The highest urban growth of more than 7 percent has been returned from Kota district, thus raising its component of urban population from 24 05 percent in 1971 to 31·47 percent in 1981. Close on its heels, Jaipur district, has recorded a growth of about 6 35 percent. Although Bikaner retains its second place as the district with a large urban population, its urban population has declined by about 2.37 percent as compared to 1971 census.

The pattern of decennial growth rate in urban areas, brings out the highest urban growth rate of 146·49 percent in Jalor district, which is mainly due to the declaration of two new urban centres viz Ahore & Sanchore. Similarly in Pali district, the decennial growth rate works out to 115 72 percent. This is also mainly on account of six places, rural in 1971, being declared urban centres in 1981. These places are Ranikhurd, Khudala, Nimaj, Jaitaran, Takhatgarh and Raipur. Other districts which have recorded higher urban growth rate than the state average are Ganganagar (80 29), Kota (77 00), Barmer (70·97), Jaipur (66·23), Banswara (66·20), Chittaurgarh (65 96), Bhilwara (61·88) and Udaipur (58 67). In all these districts except Banswara, new urban centres have been declared resulting in the apparent and abnormal urban growth rate.

Kota, the premier industrial city of Rajasthan has registered a phenomenal growth during the past three decades. With a population of 65,000 in 1951 it has come a long way to have 346,928 in 1981. Its growth rates have been around 63 percent in 1971-81, 77 percent in 1961-71 and 85 percent in 1951-61.

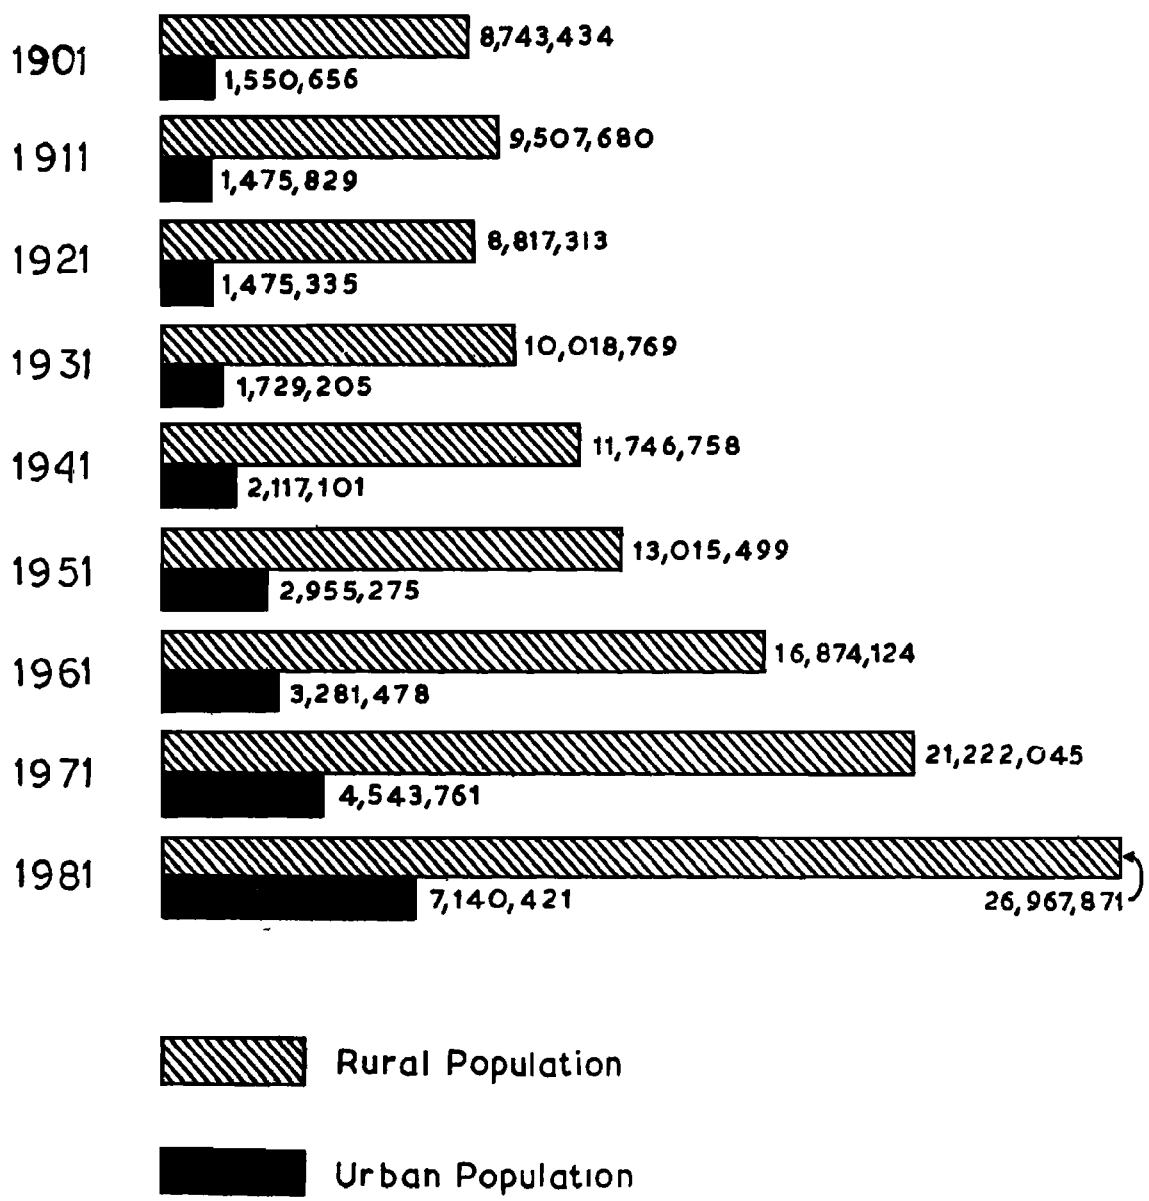

Jaipur the state capital has had a growth rate of 57·12 percent during the last decade. During the recent years it has also come up as an industrial town. Besides, seven new places in Jaipur district have been declared urban centres in 1981.

Chittaurgarh and Bhilwara are the other industrial towns having a large growth rate of 73·61 and 48·91 percent respectively during the last decade. Several new industrial units have recently come up in and around these towns. Besides, one town in Chittaurgarh and two in Bhilwara district have been added in 1981. Chittaurgarh has also got the advantage of a flourishing tourist industry.

In all 44 villages have been declared as urban centres during the decade 1971-81. This development has naturally affected, to some extent, the decennial urban growth of the state as also of the districts in which they are located. The new urban centres are listed below :

POPULATION IN RURAL AND URBAN AREAS 1901-81
RAJASTHAN

URBANISATION

The urban population in Rajasthan, as in other states, is growing at a faster rate than its rural component. The urban population in the state has gone up from 17 63 to 20 93 thus recording an increase of more than 3 percent which is slightly less than the country's urban growth of 3·8 percent. Among the states, Rajasthan ranks tenth in the level of urbanisation with Maharashtra on the top (urban component 35·03 percent) and Himachal Pradesh at the lowest rung (urban component 7.72 percent). Rajasthan still occupies a fairly low position in the country in the degree of urbanisation. The proportion of rural people living to the total population of the state being very small as compared to certain bigger states. But our urban population exceeds that of Haryana, Kerala, Orissa and Punjab.

During the past eighty years the urban population has multiplied four and a half times from 16 lakhs to more than 72 lakhs, while only about 14 lakh persons were added in the urban population during the first fifty years of the present century. The net addition during the last thirty years has been to the extent of 42 lakhs, which is three times the number of persons added to the urban population in the first half of the century. In the past ten years alone about 26 lakh persons were added in the urban population. Thus the rural/urban demographic balance has changed significantly, the percentage of the urban population having increased by a little more than 3 percent The following statement brings out the trend of urbanisation in Rajasthan since 1901 :

Year	Urban population	Decadal variation	Decadal percent variation	Percent variation over 1901	Percentage of urban population to total population
1901 . . .	15,50,656	..	..	..	15.06
1911 . . .	14,75,829	—74,827	—4.83	—4.83	13.44
1921 . . .	14,75,335	—494	—0.03	—4.86	14.33
1931 . . .	17,29,205	+2,53,870	+17 21	+11.51	14.72
1941 . . .	21,17,101	+3,87,896	+22 43	+36.53	15.27
1951 . . .	29,55,275	+8,38,174	+39.59	+90.58	18 50
1961 . . .	32,81,478	+3,26,203	+11 04	+111.62	16.28
1971 . . .	45,43,761	+12,62,283	+38.47	+193.02	17.63
1981 . . .	71,40,421	+25,96,660	+57.15	+360.48	20.93

The bigger cities of the state, having over one lakh population continued to grow both in terms of population size and area. Kota (62·9 percent of growth) and Jaipur (57 1 percent of growth) have maintained their place in the order of urbanisation during the last decade, their growth rates in 1961-71 census being 77 percent and 53 percent respectively. On the other hand, Jodhpur (55 percent) and Ajmer (41 percent) have recorded more rapid growth and attained third and fifth place as against their fourth and seventh place respectively in the dacade 1961-71. The table below indicates the growth rates of bigger cities in the past two decades :

Cities	1961-71	Rank	1971-81	Rank
Kota	77.0	1	62.9	1
Jaipur	52.5	2	57.1	2
Udaipur	45.1	3	42.5	4
Jodhpur	41.3	4	55.4	3
Alwar	38.1	5	39.5	6
Bikaner	25.3	6	30.4	7
Ajmer	14.3	7	41.6	5

According to 1981 census, there were 201 urban centres in the state—comprising municipalities, cantonment board, notified area and census towns while in 1971 census this number was 157. Thus there has been a net addition of 44 towns during 1971-81. Of these newly added towns, 26 are such as were considered urban in the previous censuses also, many of them since 1901, which were later declassified but have been treated as towns again for 1981 census. The remaining 18 places have been declared urban centres for the first time in 1981 census. Under the classification of urban agglomeration, a concept introduced in 1971 census, there are four cases where-in neighbouring cities and towns have got themselves mixed up through the process of continuous urban spread. These cases relate to Bikaner city which has combined, in its urban agglomeration, Gangashahar & Bhinasar towns; Jaipur city which has combined Sanganer and Amber towns; Sawai Madhopur which has brought within its fold Man town; and Pilani which is mixed up with Vidya Vihar township. For the purposes of classification of urban centres by population size groups these six places viz. Gangashahar, Bhinasar, Amber, Sanganer, Man town and Vidya Vihar, which have been treated as components of the urban agglomeration and named as such after their leading urban centre, have not been treated as independent units, thus leaving only 195 towns and urban agglomerations for further discussions.

For the purposes of census, the urban units are classified into six categories according to their size of population as under :

Class I—Population 1,00,000 & above;

Class II—Population 50,000 to 99,999;

Class III—Population 20,000 to 49,999;

Class IV—Population 10,000 to 19,999;

Class V—Population 5,000 to 9,999;

Class VI—Population less than 5,000.

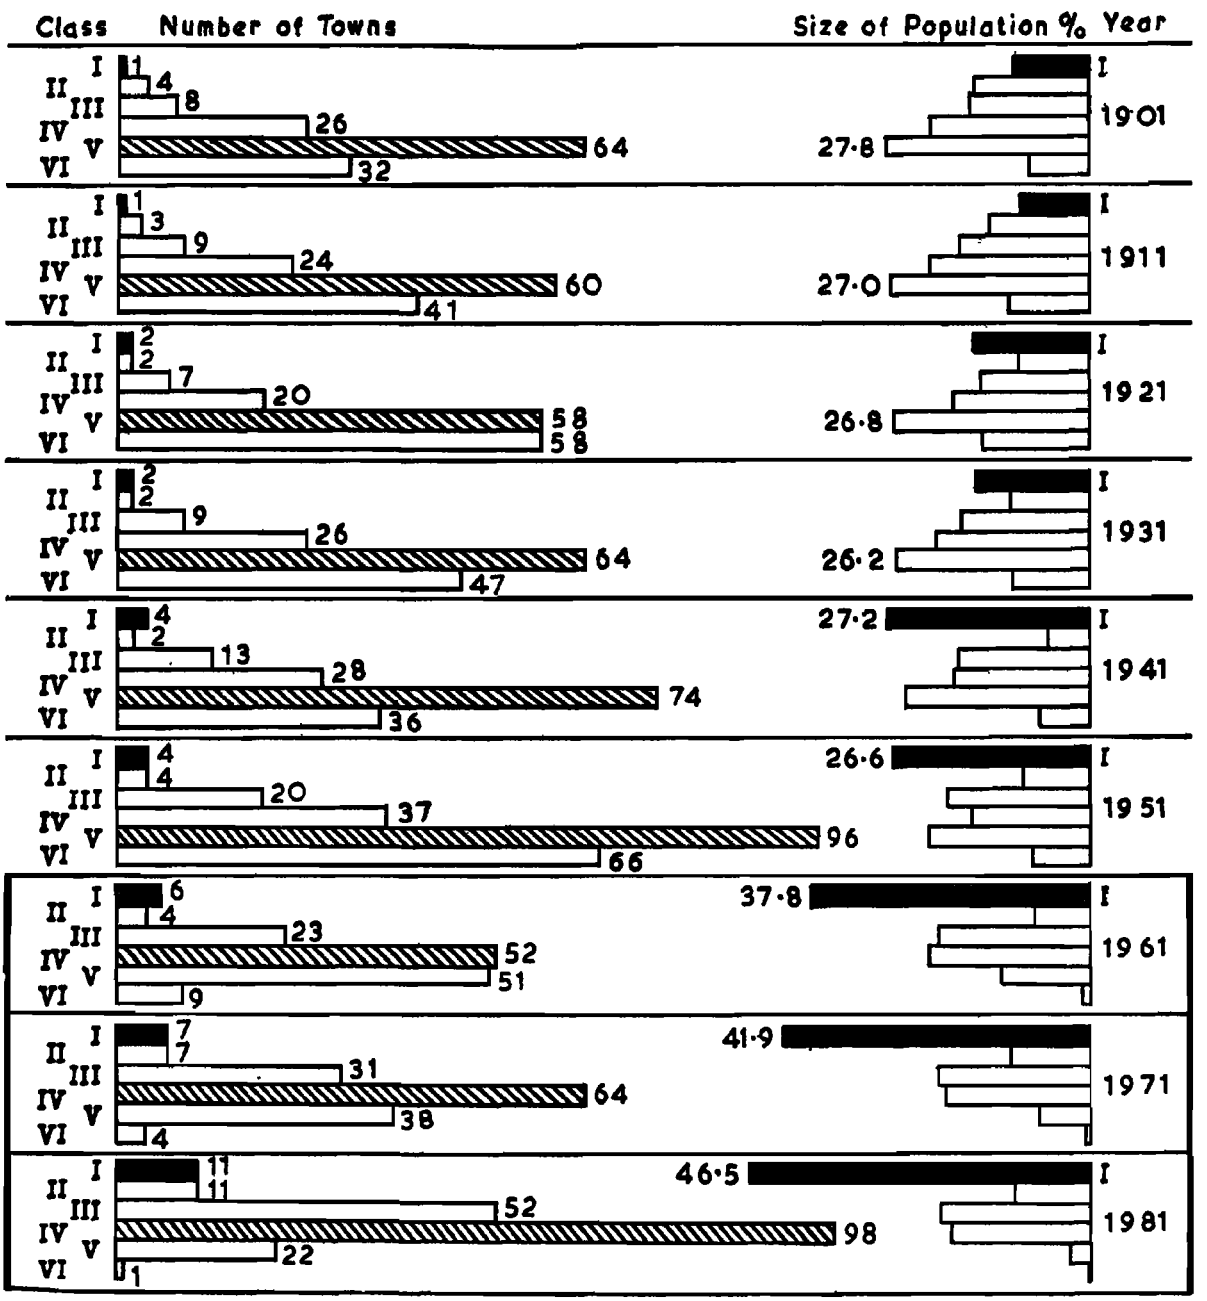

The following statement brings out the distribution of towns in various size classes since 1901 census. The percentage distribution of population in each class of town is also indicated in brackets beneath the number of town in each class :

Census Years	Size class of town by population
	I (100000+)	II (50000—99999)	III (20000—49999)	IV (10000—19999)	V (5000—9999)	VI (Less than 5000)
1901 . .	1	4	8	26	64	32
	(10.3)	(15.7)	(16.2)	(21 9)	(27.8)	(8.1)
1911 . .	1	3	9	24	60	41
	(9.3)	(13.6)	(17.7)	(21 6)	(27.0)	(10.8)
1921 . .	2	2	7	20	58	58
	(15.8)	(9.7)	(14 8)	(18.3)	(26 8)	(14.6)
1931 . .	2	2	9	26	64	47
	(15.2)	(10.5)	(17.0)	(20 8)	(26.2)	(10,3)
1941 . .	4	2	13	28	74	36
	(27.2)	(5.4)	(17.7)	(18.3)	(25.0)	(6.4)
1951 . .	4	4	20	37	96	66
	(26.6)	(8 9)	(19 1)	(15.9)	(21.8)	(7.7)
1961 . .	6	4	23	52	51	9
	(37.8)	(7 4)	(20.3)	(21.6)	(11.9)	(1.0)
1971 . .	7	7	31	64	38	4
	(41.9)	(10.7)	(20.5)	(19.7)	(6.8)	(0.4)
1981 . .	11	11	52	98	22	1
	(46.5)	(10.1)	(22.0)	(18 7)	(2.6)	(0.1)

The above statement indicates that the number of towns in the state in classes I to IV is steadily rising since 1901 while there has been a noticeable decrease in class V and VI. This is mainly due to the natural growth of population and industrial development during the last three decades, pushing up the towns in these classes to higher size classes. The extension in the municipal limits, which adds the population of certain rural pockets to the urban area also raises the class and size of that town.

The proportion of population to total urban population living in class I towns which was 10.3 percent in 1901 has come upto 46·5 percent in 1981. Only about 10 percent of our population lives in class II towns. While there is a slight fall in the proportion of population in class II towns since 1971, there is a little boost in the class III towns. The towns in classes IV to VI have generally shown decrease in proportions. The following statement gives a comparative picture of the rate of growth of urban population in different size classes of towns during the decades 1971-81 :

Class of Towns	Total Addition of population 1971-81	Percent Growth rate 1971-81	Percent Growth rate 1961-71	Net increase/decrease in 1971-81 over 1961-71(col. 3 minus col. 4)

Class VI . . .	— 12,322	—74.68	—46.42	—28.26

On the other hand, 26 towns and urban agglomerations have grown at the rate higher than the state average (57·15 percent). Among class I towns, Kota has registered the highest growth rate of 62·88 percent while the lowest growth rate of 34 21 percent has been recorded for Bikaner urban agglomeration. Among class II towns, Hanumangarh tops the list with 83 percent growth rate while the lowest has been recorded in Churu with only 16 69 percent. Nokha with a growth rate of 114·62 percent leads in class III towns while in the same class Nasirabad, a cantonment area has recorded merely 4 93 percent growth rate. Anupgarh which has recorded the highest growth rate in urban centres of the state falls in the category of class IV towns with an all time high growth of 184·23 percent. In the same class falls the town of Deoli, (Tonk district) which is the only town registering the negative growth rate. Deoli had registered a growth rate of 133·2 percent during the previous decade, 1961-71, which was on account of the establishment of a temporary camp organised to give relief to the refugees from Bangladesh. A large number of refugees having moved out of the town, the growth rate has fallen sharply and now it has recorded a negative growth of 9·25 percent. In class V towns, Kherli of Alwar district has grown at the fastest rate with 67 69 percent increase while the lowest rate of 13.4 percent was recorded in Pirawa town of Jhalawar district. Indergarh, the solitary town listed under class VI has come up a growth rate of 57 33 percent.

GROWTH RATE

Rajasthan is the ninth largest State in India. Nearly five percent of the country's population resides in the state which constitutes a little more than 10 percent of the total area of the country.

Rajasthan's population has been growing steadily and has more than doubled over the past thirty years, having risen from 1 59 crores in 1951 to 3 41 crores in 1981 census. The following statement indicates the decadal and the progressive growth rates since 1901 as compared to the national growth rates.

Except for a fall in the total population in the decade 1911-21, the state continued to register a higher growth rate than the national rate over the successive decades of this century. The highest growth rate however, has been recorded during 1971-81. In absolute terms, State's population has increased by 238 lakhs during the past 80 years (1901-81). Of this, about 57 lakhs were added during the first fifty years of the present century, while during the past ten years alone 83 lakhs persons have been added to the state's population. This increase is nearly 26 lakhs more than the addition to the total population over the first fifty years from 1901-1951.

In 1981 Census, Rajasthan has recorded a growth rate of 32·38 percent as compared to the national growth rate of 24 75 percent during the last decade 1971-81. In particular, the western districts of the state have registered an abnormal growth. Although no scientific analysis is available at present for this abnormal growth, some of the main factors could be high birth rates coupled with low death rates and immigrations.

If we look at the Birth and Death rates for the past nine years as revealed by the Sample Registration Scheme, a scheme run by the census organisation all over India, we notice that the Birth Rate of Rajasthan remained higher than the national rate except in 1976. It is further noticed that the Death Rates during these years have shown a declining trend, thus accelerating the overall growth rate. The following table indicates the Birth and Death Rates as revealed by the Sample Registration Scheme for the years 1971-79 at the state and national levels :

Year	Birth Rate		Death Rate

CENSUS DECADES

Migration which is another important factor influencing the growth rate, appears to have played an important role in raising the growth rate of population in the western districts of the state. These districts seem to have attracted migrating population from neighbouring districts/states because of :

(a) Allotment of land and developmental activities in the Rajasthan Canal area.

(b) Allotment of land to oustees from Pong Dam in the Rajasthan Canal area.

(c) Inflow of refugees from Pakistan after Indo-Pak War of 1971.

Thus, apart from the natural growth in the population and other factors mentioned above, a sizable reduction in the number of migrants from the famine affected western districts as a result of pasture and water-facilities developed over the past decade seems to have stabilised living conditions thus contributing in some measure to the spurt in population growth. A detailed study of this growth will, however be, possible only after the final population figures are available.

Among all districts, Bikaner district has returned the maximum growth rate of 46·57 percent. However, as we look into the growth-rates recorded at the lower levels in various districts of Rajasthan, we find that the pockets of largest growth, infact, lie elsewhere. At the tehsil level sharply varying rates have been returned. For example, Anupagrh tehsil of district Ganganagar has recorded an amazing rate of growth as high as 152 percent followed by Hanumanagrh (56 25) and Suratgarh (54 21) tehsils of the same district. The growth of population size in these tehsils apperas to be mainly on account of the opening up of new desert areas & allotment of land all along Rajasthan Canal.

In other districts too, certain tehsils viz. Jaipur tehsil of Jaipur district, Phalodi and Jodhpur tehsils of Jodhpur district, Sheo and Chohtan tehsil of Barmer district, Ladpura and Ramganjmandi of Kota district have registered higher growth rates during the last decade as compared to 46·57 percent of Bikaner, the highest among the districts. A total of 37 tehsils lying in the region of very high growth have recorded over 35 percent growth the highest being 152 percent in Anupgarh tehsil of district Ganganagar. In all, there are 53 tehsils which have recorded growth rate higher than the state average of 32·38 percent.

Analysing the growth rates in rural and urban areas separately, we find that there are 86 tehsils which have recorded growth rate higher than the state average of 27 00 percent for rural area. One tehsil Pipalda of Kota district has registered a growth rate equal to the state average while the remaining 110 tehsils have recorded lower than the state average. The statement below gives and idea of the distribution of tehsils by various ranges of growth rate separately for total, rural and urban areas of the state :

Ranges of Population growth rate	Number of tehsils
	Total areas	Rural areas	Urban areas
Very high (35.01 & above)	37	29	82
High (30.01 to 35.00)	46	38	15
Average (25.01 to 30.00)	64	44	15
Low (20.01 to 25.00)	39	47	7
Very Low (20.00 & below)	11	39	3
Minus Growth Rate	..	..	1

It is rather disconcerting that out of 197 tehsils 57 tehsil areas do not have a single urban centre, which implies that even their tehsil headquarters are not urban units. In the urban areas of the State the average growth rate works out to 57 15 percent. A total of 36 tehsils have higher proportion of urban area than the state average. On the other hand, in 17 tehsils urban areas have been declared for the first time during the decade 1971-81 with the result that no comparable urban figures are available for 1971.

Considering the growth rate of bigger cities & towns we find that the cities of Jaipur, Jodhpur, Kota, Udaipur, Sikar, Bhilwara and Bharatpur have grown at a very rapid pace—their population having been more than doubled during past two decades (1961-81). While there was no million-population—city in the state in 1971, Jaipur has now attained this status and ranks among the first twelve bigger cities of the country. Jaisalmer which is the headquarter town of the least populated district has also grown immensley after 1951. Its population since then has increased by two and half times. On the other hand, Indergarh (with a population of 4177) has also doubled its population since 1951.

Statement II, appended at the end of the note will help in identifying the tehsils and towns in each district, which have recorded the highest and lowest growth rates during the decade 1971-81.

SEX RATIO

The sex ratio in Rajasthan works out to 923 according to 1981 census as against the national ratio of 935. The sex ratio has been, over the decades, adverse to women i.e. the number of women per thousand men has generally been less at the national level. However, there is a marked improvement in the case of Rajasthan as would be seen from the following statement :

Years	Sex ratio
	India	Rajasthan
1901	972	905
1911	964	908
1921	955	896
1931	950	907
1941	945	906
1951	946	921
1961	941	908
1971	930	911
1981	935	923

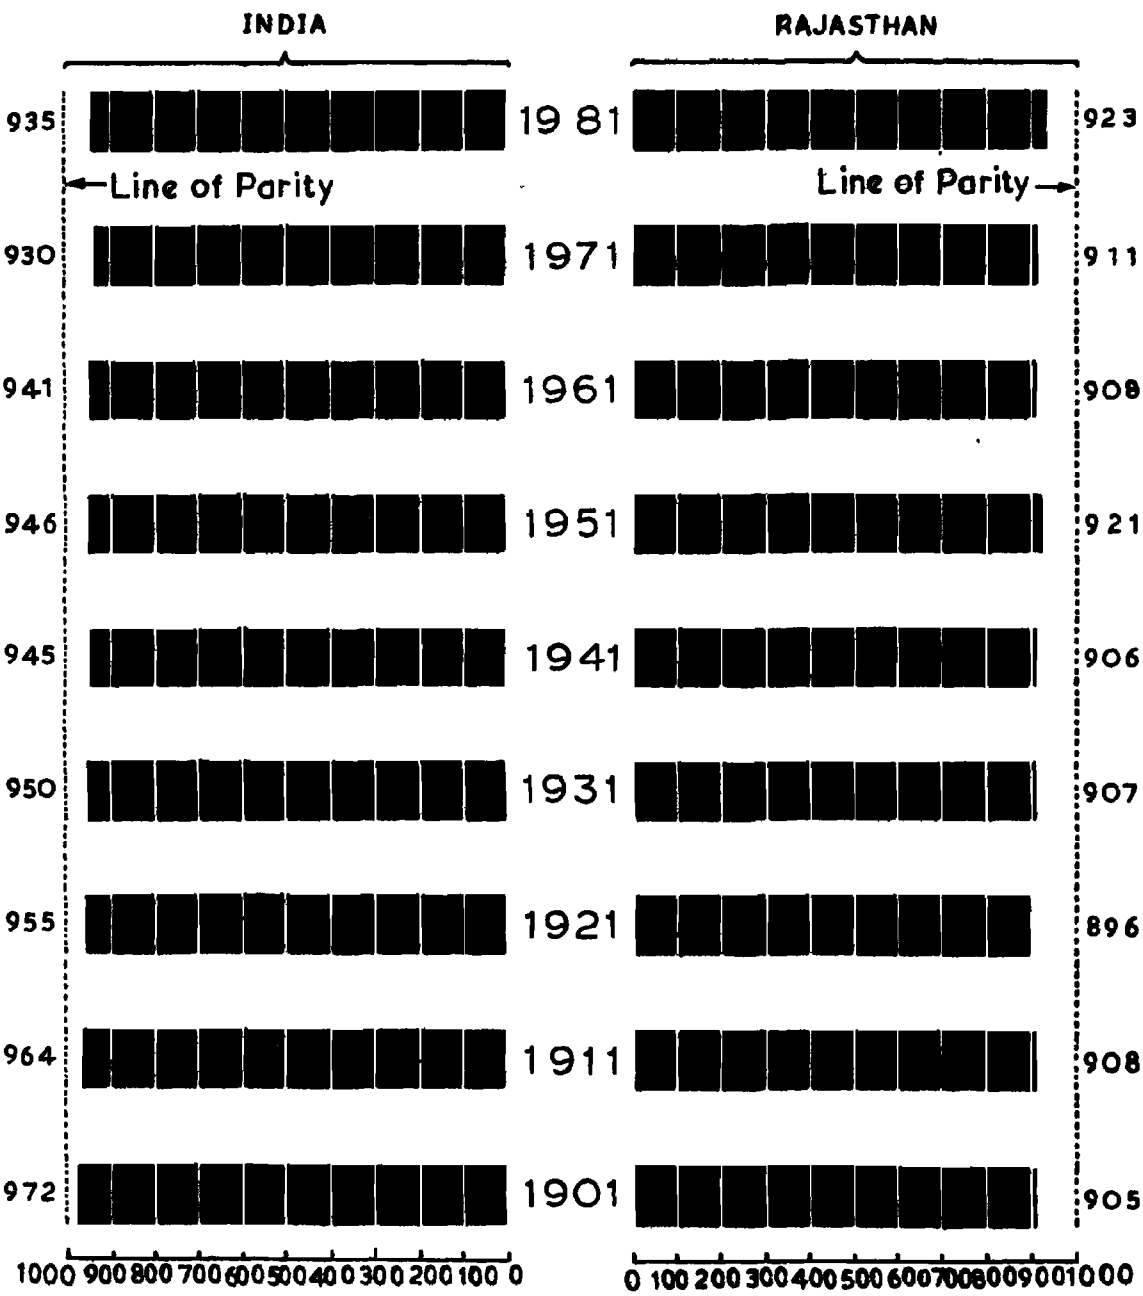

In Rajasthan the sex ratio as revealed from 1981 census results, varies from place to place. At the district level this ratio varies from 830 in Jaisalmer district to 1045 in Dungarpur district. At tehsil level we find a still lower sex ratio. The lowest sex ratio is found in Baseri tehsil (792) of Bharatpur district while the most impressive sex ratio is noticeable in tehsil Aspur (1100) of Dungarpur district. It is also observed that 94 out of 197 tehsils have recorded higher sex ratio than the state average (923).

Traditionally, the tribal areas have returned higher sex ratio as compared to non-tribal areas. If we look at the record of past 80 years we find that even at the turn of 19th century, Dungarpur district had an equal number of males and females in 1901. District Banswara at that time had an excess of females over males—the sex ratio being 1022. In 1911, both Dungarpur and Banswara districts had excess of females over males. In 1921, only Banswara had an excess of females while there was a sharp fall in the number of females in Dungarpur district lowering down the sex ratio from 1012 in 1911 to 987 in 1921. In 1931 Banswara continued to have an excess of females. In 1941 none of these tribal districts recorded an excess of females. In 1951, Dungarpur district made up its traditional excess of females—raising the sex ratio to the level of 1003. After some decline in 1961 it had a boost in 1971 and continued its upward trend in 1981 also. On the other hand, Banswara district could not attain its earlier status of having sex ratio favourable to women. It will also be observed that upto 1941 (except in 1921 when Jaisalmer district recorded the lowest) Ganganagar district had the lowest sex ratio amongst the various districts of Rajasthan. In 1951, the lowest was recorded in Jaisalmer, which continues to date.

Sex ratio for the rural and urban areas separately is 934 and 885 respectively. It is also observed that the sex ratio at district level is universally high in rural areas as compared to urban areas. The sex ratio in the rural areas of the districts varies from 830 in Bharatpur district to 1056 in Dungarpur district while in urban areas it ranges from 801 in Jaisalmer district to 952 in Sikar district. It will thus be seen that the rural area of Dungarpur district has recorded the highest sex ratio and is a solitary exception. In all other districts the sex ratio is adverse to women.

At the town level, 14 towns have recorded sex ratio ranging from 1067 in Mandawa town of Jhunjhunun district to 1000 in Ladnu town of Nagaur district. The lowest sex ratio of 744 was recorded in Gothra census town of Jhunjhunun district. The statement III appended at the end of the note gives the details of tehsils and towns which have returned highest and lowest sex ratio in each district.

LITERACY

The broad stratum of literates in Rajasthan forms a little more than 24 per cent of the total population as ascertained during 1981 Census. In 1971 and 1961 the literates constituted 19.07 and 15.21 percent respectively of the total population of the State. Thus there has been an overall increase of about 5 percent during the decade (1971-81) while the previous decade (1961-71) had registered a little less than 4 percent increase among literate population. The corresponding increase at the national level was 6.7 percent (1981) and 5.4 percent (1971). A comparative picture of national and state levels of literacy is revealed as under :

Year	Number of Literates (In thousand)		Literacy Rate
	India	Rajasthan	India	Rajasthan
1901	12680	358	5.35	3.47
1911	14851	377	5.92	3.41
1921	17912	336	7.16	3.25
1931	26251	467	9.50	3.96
1941	N.A.	760	16.10	5.46
1951	60189	1282	16.67	8.02
1961	105472	3066	24 02	15.21
1971	161436	4914	29.45	19.07
1981	237992*	8204	36.17	24.05

*Excludes Assam and Jammu and Kashmir.

Compared to other states, the percentage increase over 1971 literate population, of Rajasthan during the last decade comes to 26.11 percent which is much better than the progress made in several advanced states including Madhya Pradesh (25.65), West Bengal (23.13), Gujarat (22.24), Karnataka (21.86), Andhra Pradesh (21.86), Punjab (21.00), Maharashtra (20.90), Tamil Nadu (16.02) and Kerala (14.48).

Looking at the trend of past eighty years, we observe that at the beginning of the present century, the literacy rate as recorded in 1901 Census was only 3.47 percent, which has gone upto 24.05 percent thus indicating a net increase of about 20.58 percent. That the pace of increase during the first fifty years was only 4.55 percent appears to be rather depressing. The efforts made in the post independence decades (1951-81) have raised the literacy levels to 24.05 percent which denotes a net increase of 16.3 percent over 1951 level. In terms of absolute figures, whereas a net addition of mere 9 23 lakh literates was recorded during the first fifty years of the century, during the period of last thirty years i.e. 1951-81, over 69 lakh persons were added to the number of literates, which is about 60 lakh more literates than the corresponding figures during the first fifty years. Interestingly, among these 69 lakhs literates about 32-89 lakhs have been added during the past 10 years alone.

The literacy rate in the State has thus certainly improved over the decades. However, there is a marked difference in the literacy rates as between the two sexes. Female literacy rates are falling behind male literacy rates in all parts of the State. A similar pattern is observed in the case of rural areas. A comparative picture has been brought out in the statement below :

Although there is a marked improvement over 1971 position, the increase being nearly 4 percent, literacy level of rural Rajasthan still ramains distressingly low as compared to its urban counter part. It will be observed that literacy rate is rural areas is about 18 percent only. Fifteen districts have lower percentages, the lowest being 9.11 in Barmer district. The remaining eleven districts have a higher level that the state rural average, the highest being 24.81 percent in Jhunjhunun district.

The male literacy rate of rural Rajasthan has gone upto 29.24 percent. Of the eleven districts having higher rates, Pali district is on the top with 29.55 percent males being recorded as literate. Among the remaining fifteen districts which have recorded lower rates, Barmer is at the bottom with 15.83 percent.

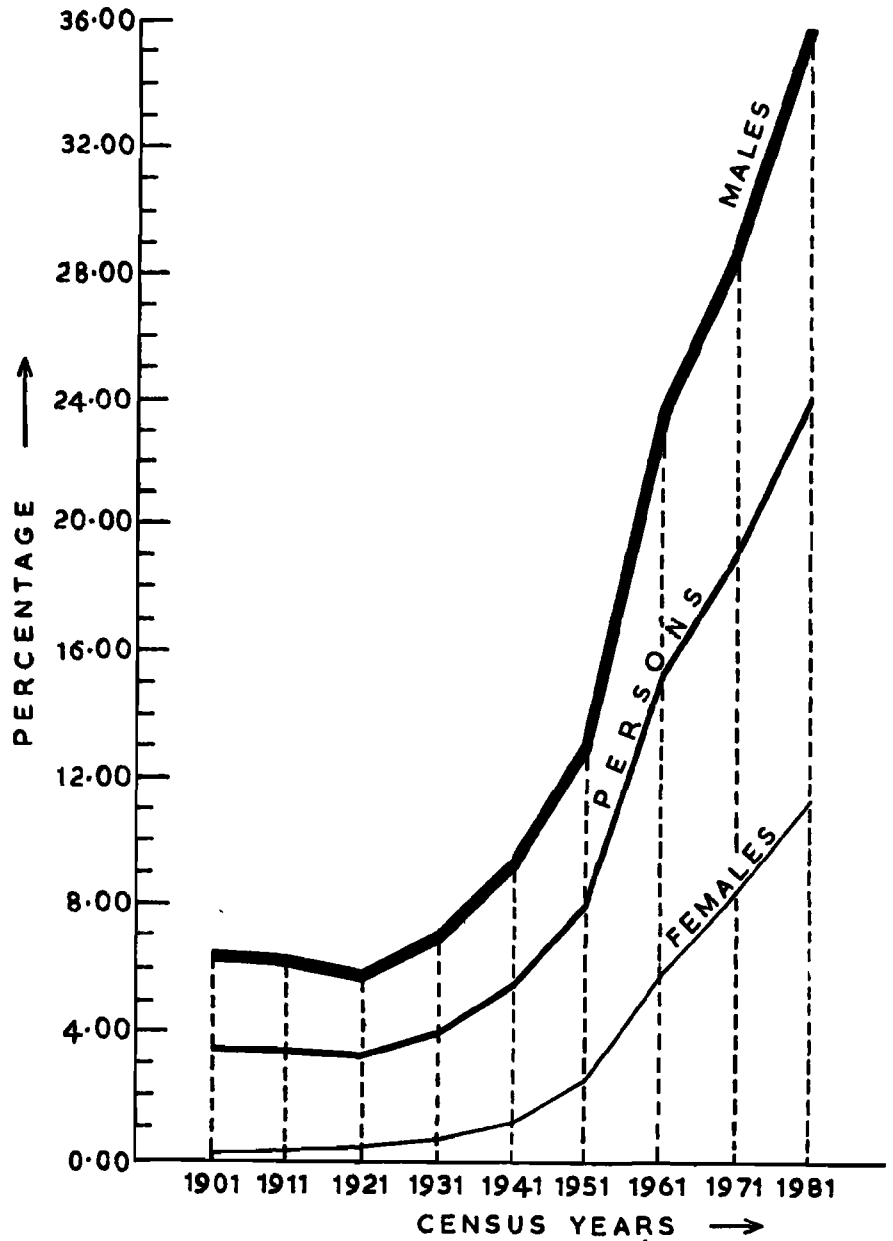

Very low, rather depressing female literacy rates have been returned from the rural areas of the state, the average being about 5.4 percent only. Twelve districts do have a slightly better record, the highest, being 8.50 percent in Ganganagar district. Fourteen districts have lower than the state average, the lowest percentage being 1.64 in Jaisalmer district.

The urban areas of Rajasthan, have on the other hand, returned high and rising literacy rates. Eleven districts have registered more than 49 percent as literate in their urban areas. These include Jaisalmer in desert area and the tribal district of Banswara which has 59 percent literacy, the highest among the districts. The remaining fifteen districts having lower literacy rate in urban areas include Ganganagar, Bikaner, Bharatpur and Nagaur with the lowest 36.12 percent.

In the cities having one lakh population and above the highest literacy rate has been recorded in Udaipur City (around 62 percent) closely followed by Ajmer City (60.5 percent.). As between male and female urban population, the literacy rate of about 60 percent for the urban males is far in excess of the urban females which is little more than 34 percent.

The Statement IV appended at the end of the note, identifies the places recording the highest and lowest literacy rates at the district level. Considering the state as a whole, we notice that at the district level the highest literacy rate is found in Ajmer district (35.01) and the lowest in Barmer district (11.97). The same pattern is visible in case of male and female literacy rates. At the Tehsil level, however, Jaipur Tehsil has recorded the highest rate of literacy while Kotra Tehsil of Udaipur district has returned the lowest. This is true in relation to male literacy also. But in female literacy while tehsil Jaipur has recorded the highest, the lowest rate has been brought out in Tehsil Chohtan of Barmer district. If we look at the literacy rates as recorded in individual urban centres of the State, we find that Vidya Vihar Town of Jhunjhunun district has recorded the highest literacy rate with 82.15 percent while the lowest is recorded in Nimaj Town (20.74) of Pali district. The same pattern is seen in the case of female literacy. While the highest male literacy has been recorded in Vidya Vihar Town the lowest has been returned from Rawatsar Town of Ganganagar district.

WORKING POPULATION

The collection of information on economic activities has been considered an integral part of census taking in the country. But the concept of 'work' and 'worker' as evolved through past censuses being divergent in nature made intercensal comparison of data rather difficult. In 1981 Census, however, the economic questions have been so designed that it would be possible to have comparison with 1961 and 1971 censuses.

The 'work' concept of 1961 and 1971 censuses, as opposed to the 'income' or 'economic independence' concept of the earlier censuses is adopted for 1981 census. But the criterion for classification of persons as workers has been changed. In 1961 census a person qualified as a worker if he had worked regularly during the work-season or at least for a day in regular work during the fortnight preceding census taking. At the 1971 census this period of fortnight was reduced to a week and the difinition of work remained more or less the same.

The dichotomy of worker/non-worker of 1961 and 1971 censuses has been rightly discarded at the 1981 census and a trichotomy of main workers, marginal workers and non-workers adopted. This trichotomy partially permits a comparability of 1981 economic data with that of 1971 as well as 1961. Thus the main workers of 1981 census would correspond to the workers of 1971 and 1981 main workers and marginal workers together may be comparable to the workers of 1961.

'Work' has been difined as participation in any economically productive activity which may be physical or mental in nature. 'Work' includes not only actual work but its effective supervision and direction as well. For this purpose, a reference period of one year preceding the date of enumeration has also been fixed. Certain types of work such as agriculture and household industry are carried on either throughout the year or during certain seasons or parts of the year depending on local circumstances. In such cases the broad time-span of the full cycle of agricultural seasons preceding the enumeration is taken as the reference period.

If the combined work participation rates* of both workers and marginal workers of 1981 and workers and non-workers with secondary work of 1971 together are taken into consideration, we find the participation rates of 1981 to be higher both in rural and urban areas of the state, than those recorded in 1971. But when we compare the main workers of 1981 (excluding marginal workers) with the workers of 1971 at the state level, we find that while participation rates have registered a slight fall in 1981 in the total as well as rural areas, there is a slight rise in urban areas.

While the combined participation rate of males (including marginal workers) has slightly gone down at the state level, there is, on the whole, a sharp increase in the female participation rate, in all areas. As against the total female work participation rate of 14·05 percent in 1971, this rate has gone up to 21·15 percent in 1981, which denotes a rise of 7 percent—a healthy and significant growth indeed. While in the rural areas, this participation rate has gone up from 15·98 in 1971 to 25·01 in 1981 (a net increase of 9 percent), in urban areas this rate has increased from 4·81 to 6·14 percent.

If we exclude the marginal workers from the total number of workers and then compare only the main workers of 1981 with workers of 1971, we find that as against the slight fall in the total male work participation rate by 2·5 percent in the case of females this has marginally increased from 8·34 percent in 1971 to 9·44 percent in 1981. Correspondingly, there is a visible improvement in the female participation rate both in rural and urban areas. This appears to be a healthy sign for the economy of the country. The slight fall in the male participation rates may partly be due to the fact that in 1981 both main & marginal workers are categorised strictly on the basis of time factor.

The following statement gives the percentage distribution of population in each district in terms of main, marginal and non-workers:

PROPORTION OF MAIN WORKERS, MARGINAL WORKERS, NON-WORKERS TO TOTAL POPULATION

It would be observed that over 63 percent of the total population of the state consists of non-workers. The main workers constitute a little more than 30 percent while the marginal workers about 6 percent of the total population. At the district level, the highest proportion of main workers is seen in Bhilwara (38·41) and the lowest in Jhunjhunun district (24 45). Similarly, the percentage of marginal workers is found highest in Dungarpur district (17 21) and the lowest in Ajmer district (3·18). Sikar district has the highest proportion of non-workers to total population while Chittaurgarh has its lowest share in this regard.

The distribution of total working population by agriculture and other economic activities is brought out in Table 5. It will be observed that 62 2 percent of the total working population of the state are engaged in cultivation and 7·4 percent in agricultural labour as against a proportion of 64·9 and 9 2 percent respectively in 1971. Of the total population, only 3·6 percent as against 3 4 percent in 1971, are now engaged in the household industries. The ramaining 26 8 percent as against 22·3 in 1971, have been found engaged in other productive and economic activities, viz. Livestock, forestry, fishing & plantation, orchards & allied activities, mining & quarrying, manufacturing, processing, servicing and repairs besides construction, trade and commerce, transport, storage, communications and other services.

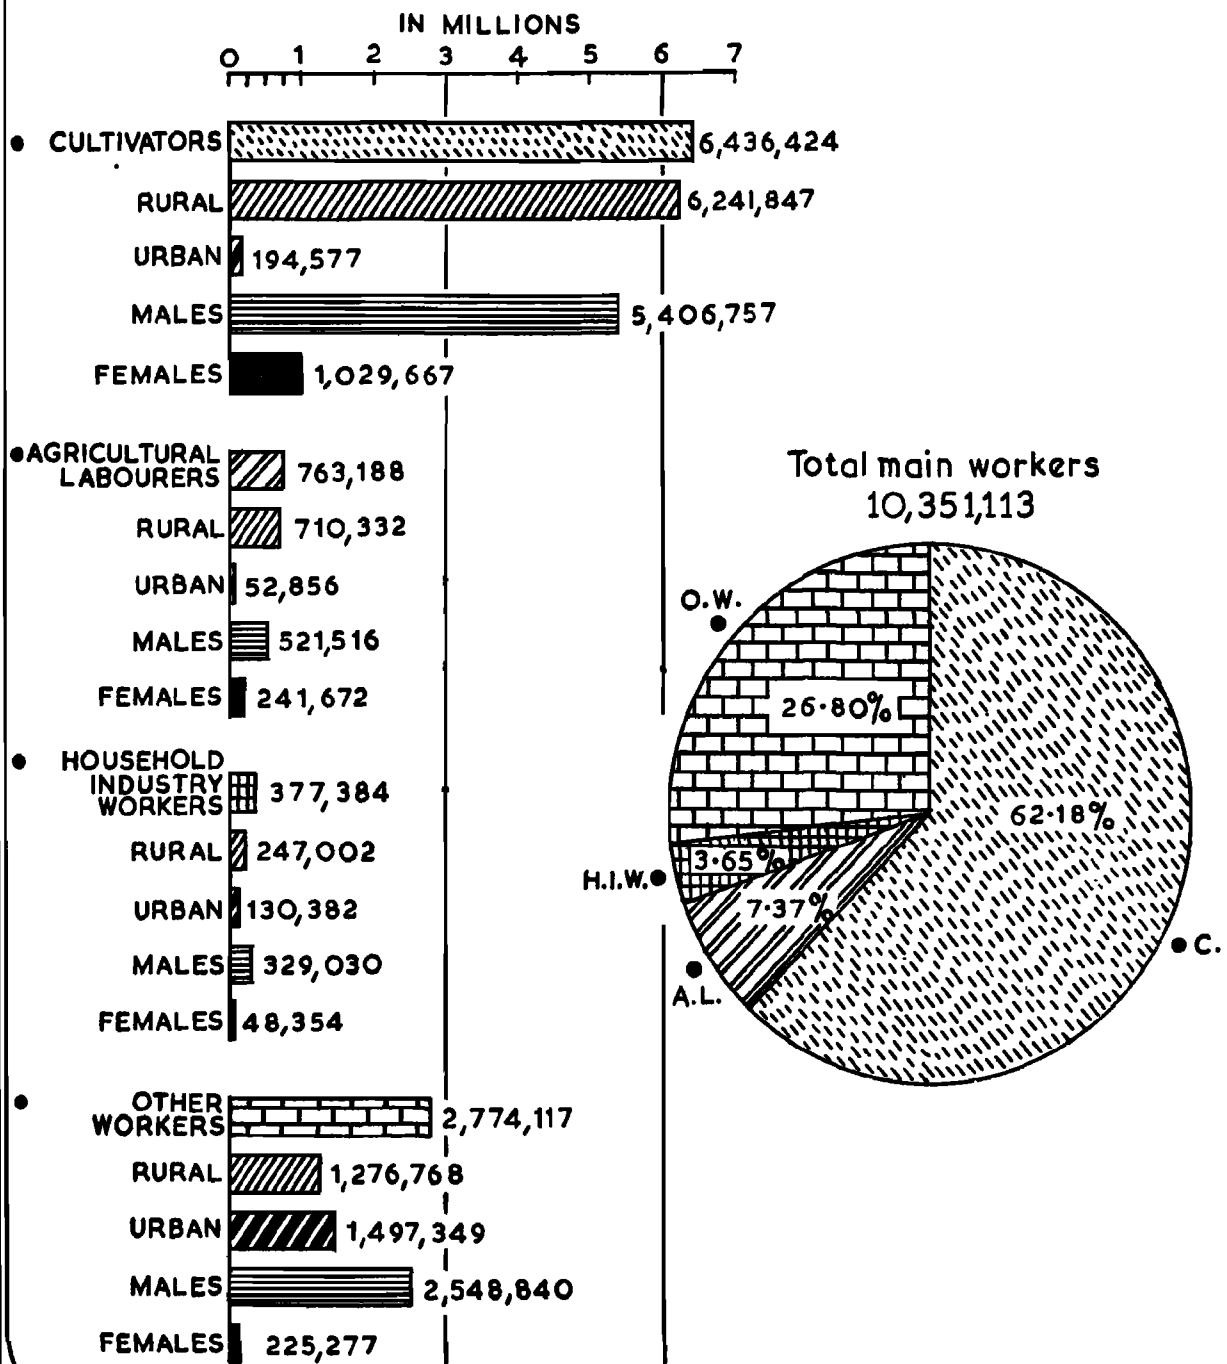

Between the two streams of workers and non-workers, the male workers constitute 49 65 percent of the total male population of the state and out-number the male non-workers (49·24%). The male marginal-workers constitute only 1·11 percent of the total male population. Amongst the male working population the percentages of workers in different categories are: cultivators 61 4 (65.1 in 1971), agricultural labour 5 9 percent (7 6 in 1971), household industries 3 7 percent (3·5 in 1971) and other economic activities 28·9 percent (23·9 in 1971).

Women have caught up with economic activity, in small measure, in the past one decade. Their participation rate has gone up as stated above, from 14.05 to 21 15 percent. However, of the total female population, about 9·44 percent are main-workers and only 11·71 are marginal workers while the rest 78·85 are non-workers. The highest concentration of main workers amongst females is noticed in Ajmer district (18·95) and the lowest in Bharatpur district. As regards marginal workers the highest concentration is noticed in the tribal district of Dungarpur (30·98) where tribals are generally found dependent on forest produce & shifting cultivation or labour. Ajmer district has the minimum share of 5·73 percent of marginal workers. The largest concentration (90 06 percent) of non-workers in female population is found in Ganganagar district while Dungarpur district (61·90 percent) has their smallest share .component.

In case of female workers, 66 6 percent are engaged in cultivation and 15·6 percent as agricultural labourers as against the corresponding ratio of 63·9 and 20 8 percent in 1971. Only 3 1 percent, as against 2·9 percent of 1971, are found engaged in household industries. About 14·6 percent, as against 12 3 of 1971, of the total female working force is engaged in other services.

The Statement 5 appended at the end of the note indicates the toal number of workers by sex and by distribution between rural and urban areas since 1961 census alongwith their participation rates.

DISABLED POPULATION

The collection of data relating to the number of disabled people in the country classified in three categories viz. the totally blind, totally crippled and totally dumb is a special feature of the 1981 Census. After 1931 Census no attempt was made to obtain any data on the disabled for various reasons including the unreliability of such information. After the declaration of 1981 as the International Year of the Handicapped it was considered necessary to elicit some information on the disabled by adding certain questions in the Houselist which was canvassed during September-October 1980 in the first phase of 1981 Census Operations.

According to the information collected in the Houselisting Operations, there are, in all, over 80,000 disabled persons in the state of Rajasthan. The totally blind persons numbering 46,465 constitute over 58% of the disabled population. According to 1931 Census, the total number of blind persons in Rajasthan was reported to be 33,789. The totally crippled numbering about 21,517 constitute about 27% and the 12,061 totally dumb persons about 15% of the disabled population as enumerated in 1981 census. Of the total disabled population, more than 70,000 persons reside in the rural areas of the state. Jaipur district has got the maximum disabled population of 6,823 persons followed by 5,042 persons in Bharatpur district. In terms of the total population of the state, on an average, there are, per one lac population, 136 blind, 63 crippled and 35 dumb persons.
