INTRODUCTORY NOTE

Paper 1 of 1981 brought out by the Directorate of Census Operations, Bihar in March 1981 was the first publication relating to Census 1981. The objective of the Paper 1 was to make available to the Government and the people the basic population figures immediately after the count. These figures related to the size of population, growth rate, sex-ratio, literacy and density of population for the State and the thirty-one districts. We call these population figures provisional because these have been generated on the basis of Enumerator's Abstracts and have been aggregated to obtain figures at the District and State levels. The generation of the Primary Census Abstracts and preparation of various tables required considerable time and effort. While the detailed analysis in any of the fields, which have been the subject matter of census, must await the generation of Primary Census Abstracts and compilation of tables, in Paper 1 the following tables have been presented :

Table 1—Distribution of population, Sex-ratio, Growth rate and Density of population by districts.

Table 2—Decadal variation in population since 1901.

Table 3—Literacy (including population in age-group 0—4).

Table 4—Cities/Urban Agglomerations with a population of 100,000 and above.

2. The present Paper, which forms a supplement to Paper 1 of 1981, is also based on the provisional figures of population. It deals with two socio-economic facets of life, viz. (1) Urbanisation and (2) Participation in work.

The following tables based on 1981 Provisional Population totals are presented in this paper :

(i) Table 1—Rural and Urban composition of population for the State and Districts (page 33).

(ii) Table 2—Population and Growth rate of Cities, Urban Agglomerations and Towns (page 34).

(iii) Table 3—Urban population by Size-class of Towns (page 42).

(iv) Table 4—Distribution of Main Workers for State and Districts (page 43).

(v) Table 5—Distribution of Main Workers by Cultivators, Agricultural Labourers, Household Industry and Other Workers for State and Districts (page 46).

(vi) Table 6—Disabled population by types of disability (page 50).

(vii) Primary Census Abstracts—Part I for State, Districts, Cities and Urban agglomerations with a population of one lakh and above showing Area, Population, Density, Sex-ratio, Growth rate, Literate population and Literacy rate (page 72).

(viii) Primary Census Abstracts—Part II for State, Districts, Cities and Urban agglomerations showing Main Workers, Marginal Workers, Non-workers and Main Workers, further classified by Cultivators, Agricultural Labourers, Workers engaged in Household Industries and Other Workers (page 78).

(ix) Primary Census Abstracts—Part III for Community Development Blocks and Towns showing Population, Literacy and Distribution of Workers in different classes and Non-workers (page 88).

Rural and Urban Composition of Population

3. In Census, an urban unit denotes as follows :

(a) All places with Municipal Corporation, Municipality, Notified Area Committee, Cantonment Board, etc.

(b) All places which satisfy the following criteria :

(i) A minimum population of 5,000 ;

(ii) At least 75 per cent of the male working population being engaged in non-agricultural pursuits ; and

(iii) A density of population of at least 400 persons per sq. km.

Places specifying the above three criteria are identified as Census towns or non-statutory towns by the Directorate of Census Operations in each State or Union Territory. By and large the above criteria have been applied except in a very few cases where a place was identified as an urban unit notwithstanding the fact that it did not satisfy all the three prerequisites for a census town. In such cases the determining factor has been either the administrative significance of the place or its historical or cultural importance or the fact that the place has tourist importance. Areas which have been neither notified by the State Government nor identified by the Directorate of Census Operations as urban are rural.

4. Our State is predominantly rural and urbanisation has so far been only to the extent of 12.46 per cent. This will be evident from the statement given below showing the total population, urban population and the percentage of urban population of the country and the States/Union Territories:

5. Bihar with only 12.46 per cent urban population has a very low degree of urbanisation among the States in India. The three other States with still lower degree of urbanisation are Himachal Pradesh (7.72 per cent), Tripura (10.98 per cent) and Orissa (11.82 per cent). Evidently the degree of urbanisation in Bihar is much lower compared to the all-India average (23.73 per cent). In fact the State closest to the all-India figure is Andhra Pradesh with 23.25 per cent urban population. The highest degree of urbanisation among the States in the country has been registered by Maharashtra (35.03 per cent) followed by Tamil Nadu (32.98 per cent) and Gujarat (31.08 per cent). The statement given below indicates the percentage of the national urban population shared by the different States and the Union Territories :

Maharashtra with highest degree of urbanisation among the States also enjoys the highest share in the national urban population (14.06 per cent). Uttar Pradesh with a figure of 12.79 per cent takes the second place but this is mainly on account of the very high population of Uttar Pradesh as a State rather than a high degree of urbanisation. On the other hand, Bihar, which is the second largest State in population size, occupies the ninth position, its share in the national urban population being only 5.57 per cent.

6. In 1971 the proportion of urban population of Bihar was 10 per cent whereas this has gone up to 12.46 per cent in 1981. Thus the proportional rise over the dacade is 2.46 per cent. Though the percentage of urban to total population is still very low compared to the all-India figure and the decadal increase also has been rather low, the trend of urbanisation marks an improvement as compared to 1961—71. The percentage of urban population in 1961 was 8.43 and, therefore, the proportional increase during 1961—71 was 1.57 per cent only.

While it is too early to analyse in depth the reasons for rise in urban population during the decade 1971—81 the contributing factors might be identified as natural growth, migration, increase in the jurisdiction of the old towns and the addition of new towns, both statutory and non-statutory, in 1981.

7. Table 1 presented at page 33 shows the rural-urban composition of the State and its 31 districts. A map of Bihar depicting rural and urban share of population among the districts is presented at page 25. A comparison of columns 6 and 7 of the table will indicate the rise in the percentage of urban population to the total population of the State and the districts. Dhanbad with 50.70 per cent urban population is the most urbanised district in the State. In 1971 also this district, with 43.50 per cent urban population, had the highest level of urbanisation. The increase in the urban population of Dhanbad may be attributed to mining and industrial activities and the particularly phenomenal growth of Bokaro Steel City. Patna with 36.87 per cent and Singhbhum with 32.09 per cent urban population occupy the second and third places respectively. While the main reason for a high percentage of urban population in Patna is its being a capital city, in the case of Singhbhum, further industrialisation and mining activities may be identified as the reasons. Another district where there is extensive industrialisation and mining is Ranchi which has shown a rise in urban population from 13.67 per cent in 1971 to 20.93 per cent in 1981. While this is lower than the figures of Dhanbad, Singhbhum and Patna, the proportional rise in the urban population of Ranchi (7.26 per cent) is higher than the corresponding figures for the above three districts which have a relatively higher degree of urbanisation. In the case of Ranchi, besides other socio-economic factors, the constitution of the Ranchi Municipal Corporation may also be responsible for this. Besides the above, districts which have a higher percentage of urban population than that of the State (12.46) are Hazaribag (15.11), Giridih (14.20), Munger (14.07) and Nalanda (13.62). To this list may be added another four districts which have a little more than one-tenth of their population living in urban areas, viz., Bhagalpur (11.62), Gaya (10.82), Bhojpur (10.78) and Begusarai (10.55). The percentage of urban to the total population in other districts varies from 3.11 per cent for Madhubani (being the lowest for any district in the State) to 9.73 per cent for Rohtas.

8. If we take into account the distribution of urban population of the State among the various districts we find that Patna district, which comes after Dhanbad in urbanisation, takes the largest share, i.e., 12.85 per cent. Dhanbad follows it closely with 12.26 per cent. Singhbhum and Ranchi, with figures of 10.55 per cent and 7.36 per cent respectively enjoy the same position as they did in 1971. Districts having less than even 1 per cent share of the State's urban population are Aurangabad (0.99), Siwan (0.90), Nawada (0.84), Madhubani (0.83) and Gopalganj (0.78). The districtwise share of the State's urban population in terms of percentage can be seen from the statement given below. A comparative distribution of urban population among the districts is also set out in the diagram at page 26 :

Districts	Percentage of the State's urban population

Urban Growth

9. Columns 8, 9 and 10 of Table 1 deal with the decennial growth rates of the total, rural and urban population during 1971—81 in respect of the State and its 31 districts. The growth rates for the total population of the State and the districts have already been discussed in Paper 1 of 1981. The net increase in the rural population of the State in the last decade is 10.40 million, a rise of 20.51 per cent as against 19.25 per cent during 1961—71. Correspondingly, the urban population of the State has registered a net increase of 3.07 million representing an increase of 54.40 per cent as against 43.95 per cent during 1961—71. The districts which have registered higher growth rates in respect of the urban population than that of the State (54.40) are the following :

Districts	Urban growth rate in per cent (1971—81)
1. Gopalganj	131.29
2. Nalanda	83.61
3. Ranchi	79.36
4. Sitamarhi	74.77

Districts	Urban growth rate in per cent (1971—81)
5. Saran	72.18
6. Aurangabad	70.92
7. Madhubani	68.80
8. Purnia	68.32
9. Katihar	67.60
10. Dhanbad	67.21
11. Purba Champaran	67.09
12. Patna	64.30
13. Hazaribag	59.45
14. Saharsa	58.66

While the higher urban growth rates in districts like Hazaribag, Ranchi and Dhanbad can be attributed to the rapid progress of industrialisation and mining, in the remaining districts which are predominantly agricultural, the notification of new towns by the Urban Development Department of the State Government as well as the creation of new districts may be cited as the probable reasons. Gopalganj, Nalanda, Sitamarhi, Aurangabad, Madhubani and Katihar have attained the status of districts after 1971 Census. Besides, new places have also been notified as towns in these districts, e.g., Barauli (Gopalganj), Silao and Islampur (Nalanda), Belsand (Sitamarhi), Jamhaur (Aurangabad), Jhanjharpur (Madhubani) and Manihari (Katihar). The creation of new districts has unleashed a process of inter-related growth in the administrative sphere as also in the tertiary sector. It is well known that immediately after the creation of a new district a number of offices are established and other related activities such as transport, communications and general trade and commerce also get a boost. Probably such a reason accounts, most significantly, for the phenomenal rise in the urban growth rate in respect of districts like Gopalganj, Nalanda, Sitamarhi, Madhubani, etc.

10. In the districts of Patna, Saran and Purnia, besides their natural growth, two new places have been notified as towns in each, viz., Khusrupur and Maner in Patna district, Sonepur and Dighwara in Saran district and Bahadurganj and Thakurganj in Purnia district. Saharsa district, with an urban growth rate of 58.66 per cent, has mainly benefited from its position as the headquarters of Kosi Division. Table 2 of this Paper shows that Saharsa town has recorded an increase of 147.42 per cent in its population. Purba Champaran has achieved a higher urban growth rate of 67.09 per cent mainly on account of extension of the jurisdiction of the existing towns and the phenomenal rise of 223.47 per cent in one of its towns, Chakia. Districts having more than 50 per cent rise in the urban population but less than the State average are Samastipur (54.16), Palamu (53.20), Siwan (51.19), Bhojpur (51.04), Muzaffarpur (50.16) and Rohtas (50.07). The urban growth rates in the remaining districts vary from 23.37 per cent for Paschim Champaran to 46.07 per cent for Nawada.

Town/Urban Agglomeration

11. In 1981, we have 220 towns in Bihar as against 202 in 1971. A number of these towns have been grouped together as urban agglomerations and treated accordingly in this Paper. The figures have been presented both for the urban agglomeration and its constituent units in Table 2. The concept of urban agglomeration was introduced in Census studies for the first time in 1971 in our country. The definition adopted in 1971 has been retained in 1981. An 'urban agglomeration' has been defined as "a continuous urban spread constituted of a town and its adjoining urban outgrowth or two or more physically contiguous towns together with continuous well organised urban outgrowths, if any, of such towns". Since there is considerable socio-economic inter-relationship between such physically contiguous urban units it has been considered purposeful to group them under one urban agglomeration. For example,

Dhanbad urban agglomeration consists of 17 towns, both statutory and non-statutory, and these are not only contiguous to each other so as to form a continuous urban spread but also very vitally inter-related so far as industrial and commercial activities are concerned. Similarly, Patna, as we understand it, does not consist of Patna Municipal Corporation alone. In fact when we talk of the Patna urban area we actually mean to refer to the continuous urban spread of Patna Municipal Corporation, its two outgrowths, viz., Pataliputra Housing Colony and Digha-Mainpura and three towns. Dinapur Nizamat Municipality, Dinapur Cantonment Board and Phulwari Notified Area Committee. Thus the Patna urban agglomeration consists of the core city and the above two urban outgrowths and three towns. The list of urban agglomerations along with their constituents is given below:

12. For the purposes of analysis and presentation of figures relating to Census, the 220 towns in the State have been grouped into 179 urban units of which there are 15 urban agglomerations consisting of two or more adjoining towns and the rest individual towns. Table 2 at page 34 shows sexwise population of 1981 and the growth rates during the last two decades in respect of the 15 urban agglomerations and 164 individual towns. Figures in respect of the constituent units of the urban agglomerations have also been presented. Based on the 1981 provisional population totals the towns and urban agglomerations have been arranged in the following six classes:

Class of town	Population
I	1 lakh and above
II	50,000—99,999
III	20,000—49,999
IV	10,000—19,999
V	5,000—9,999
VI	Less than 5,000

13. It will be seen from Table 2 that though the growth rate of Class I towns including urban agglomerations having a population of 1 lakh and above is 84.10 per cent which is much higher than the urban growth rate for the State (54.40), only 4 urban agglomerations, viz., Patna (86.50 per cent), Dhanbad (55.92 per cent), Ranchi (95.89 per cent) and Bokaro Steel City (143.79 per cent) have higher growth rates than the State average and the remaining 12 Class I towns and urban agglomerations have growth rates below the State average.

14. Bokaro Steel City U.A. has registered a phenomenal growth rate. In fact it has added 1.54 lakh persons to its population during the decade 1971—81. The reason for such a breath-taking rise in the population in this area are the expansion of the Bokaro Steel Plant, very fast urban growth and concentration of industrial and commercial activities and development in the allied fields.

NOTE ; (M.C.) - Municipal Corporation, (M)— Municipality, (N)— Notified Area, (O.G.) - Outgrowth, (U.A.)— Urban Agglomeration.

The high growth rate of Ranchi U.A. may be attributed to the conversion of Ranchi Municipality into a Corporation with extension of jurisdiction and inclusion of Kanke town in the urban agglomeration as well as a rapid growth in industrial and commercial activities.

15. The high growth rate of Patna U.A. (86.50 per cent) is mainly because the city being the State capital offers very great scope for employment and thus attracts a very large number of persons. Besides, the area of the Municipal Corporation has been extended by the State Government and two independent towns, viz., Dinapur Nizamat and Dinapur Cantonment have also been included in the urban agglomeration. A new urban outgrowth known as Digha-Mainpura has also developed.

16. The high growth rate of Dhanbad agglomeration can be ascribed to the rapid growth of mining and industrial activities. The growth rates of the remaining Class I towns vary from 26.07 per cent for Munger to 53.76 per cent for Purnia urban agglomeration.

Population of towns by size class

17. Table 3 at page 42 shows the distribution of urban population among the different towns and urban agglomerations by their size classes. A diagram showing urban population by size class of towns in 1981 is presented at page 27. The statement below shows the classwise distribution of towns and the proportion of urban population of each class to total urban population of the State during the last two decades and the corresponding growth rates :

Size class	No. of U.As./towns		Proportion to total urban population		Growth rate
	1971	1981	1971	1981	1961—71	1971—81
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
All classes ..	161	179	100.00	100.00	+43.95	+54.40
Class I ..	11	16	45.39	54.12	+65.99	+84.10
Class II ..	9	19	11.08	14.38	+3.86	+100.38
Class III ..	42	57	23.91	19.26	+52.93	+24.36
Class IV ..	57	59	14.36	10.04	+35.73	+7.94
Class V ..	35	23	4.79	2.02	—1.93	—34.85
Class VI ..	7	5	0.47	0.18	+30.98	—40.80

It will be seen that while the total number of U.As./towns has risen from 161 in 1971 to 179 in 1981 and Class I, II, III and IV towns/U.As. have also registered an increase in their number, Class V and Class VI towns have decreased from 35 and 7 respectively in 1971 to 23 and 5 in 1981. The rise in the number of Class I towns has been significant. Arrah, Chapra, Katihar, Purnia U.A. and Bermo U.A. have attained the status of Class I towns as their population has crossed the 1 lakh limit. The rise in the number of Class II towns (from 9 to 19) and Class III towns (from 42 to 57) has also been significant. This shows that medium size towns are fast expanding.

18. It will be seen that Class I towns/U.As. account for 54.12 per cent of the total urban population of the State. The corresponding percentage for 1971 was 45.39. Similarly, the share of Class II towns in the State's urban population has risen from 11.08 per cent in 1971 to 14.38 per cent in 1981. The remaining four classes of towns have all registered a fall in their share of the urban population of the State. The high growth rates of Class I towns/U.As. (84.10 per cent) and Class II towns/U.As. (100.38 per cent) over the decade indicate that the urban growth is much faster in bigger towns than in the smaller ones. In fact Class V and Class VI towns have registered negative growth rates of 34.85 per cent and 40.80 per cent respectively. The acquisition of higher urban status by the Class V and VI towns has resulted in minus growth rates in these categories.

Participation in Work

19. The distribution of population by workers and non-workers and the classification of workers into different sectors of economic activities present the economic profile of the population. Table 4 at page 3 and Table 5 at page 46 deal with these aspects. An attempt was made to distinguish the workers from the non-workers in order to assess the individual's contribution to the economy and obtain further details about the work done by him/her. Work may be defined as participation in any economically productive activity. Such participation may be mental or physical in nature. Work involves not only actual physical work but also effective supervision and direction of work. Any person engaged in any activity which may be treated as work is a worker and the rest are all non-workers.

20. The reference period for enquiries relating to work was one year immediately preceding the enumeration period. Persons, who had worked even for a day were to be treated as workers. However, it was also intended to distinguish marginal workers from the main workers. If a person had worked for 183 days or more during the reference period he was to be treated as a main worker but if he had worked for less than 183 days he would be treated as a marginal worker. This criterion of the period of work has been followed uniformly.

21. Table 4 at page 43 shows the districtwise distribution of main workers and the percentage of main workers to the total population during the last two decades. A map showing percentage of main workers in the district in 1981 is presented at page 28. Out of the total population of 69,823,154 in Bihar 20,712,215 have been identified as main workers. Thus, of the State's total population only 29.66 per cent are main workers. The corresponding figure for 1971 Census was 31.03 per cent. Thus there has been a decline of 1.37 per cent in this respect over the decade. However, this does not necessarily mean that there has been a shortfall in the number of main workers. In 1971 Census a person's main activity was ascertained with reference to his participation in work on any one of the days during the week prior to enumeration in the case of regular work. In the case of persons employed on seasonal work the reference period in 1971 was the year preceding the actual enumeration and he was treated as a main worker even if he was not economically active in the week prior to enumeration. In 1981 Census, however, a person was required to be treated as a main worker only if he had worked for 183 days or more. Thus the change in the time span of reference period may explain the slight fall in the participation rate.

22. Amoug the total main workers (20,712,215), 17,603,355 are males and 3,108,860 are females representing 85 per cent and 15 per cent respectively. During 1971 the ratio was 86:14. Thus, work participation rate among females has increased slightly. The following statement gives the sexwise distribution of main workers in different districts :

State / District	Percentage to total main workers
	Males	Females
BIHAR	85	15
Patna	87	13
Nalanda	80	20

Dhanbad	92	8
Giridih	87	13
Hazaribag	86	14
Palamu	80	20
Ranchi	76	24
Singhbhum	78	22

The female participation rate in main work is the highest in Ranchi, being 24 per cent of the total working population. This is followed by the districts of Nawada and Singhbhum with 22 per cent each, Gaya and Saharsa with 21 per cent each and Nalanda and Palamu with 20 per cent each. The female participation rate is either at par or just above the State average in the districts of Santhal Pargana, Paschim Champaran, Purnia, Munger, Aurangabad and Bhagalpur. In the remaining districts the female participation rate is below the State average.

Distribution of main workers between Agricultural and Other Sectors

23. Table 5 shows the distribution of main workers by cultivators, agricultural labourers, persons engaged in household industry and other work. While the first two categories relate to the agricultural sector, the other two categories relate to all activities falling in the non-agricultural sector. Of the total main workers (20,712,215), 9,06,5266 are cultivators, 7,340,472 are agricultural labourers, 622,988 are workers engaged in household industries and 3,683,489 are those who are engaged in other works. Thus, out of every hundred main workers, 44 are engaged in cultivation, 35 in agricultural labour, 3 in household industries and 18 in other works. The corresponding figures for 1971 were 43 for cultivation, 39 for agricultural labour, 3 for household industries and 15 for other works. Further, if the workers are grouped in two broad sectors, viz., agricultural and non-agricultural, it would be seen that out of every hundred main workers 79 are employed in the agricultural sector and 21 in the non-agricultural sector as against 82 and 18 in 1971 respectively. Thus it is clear that the proportional rise of workers in the non-agricultural sector is 3 per cent over the decade. The following statement gives a comparative picture of percentage distribution of workers in agricultural and non-agricultural sectors during the last two decades :

Singhbhum	68.79	63.39	31.21	36.61

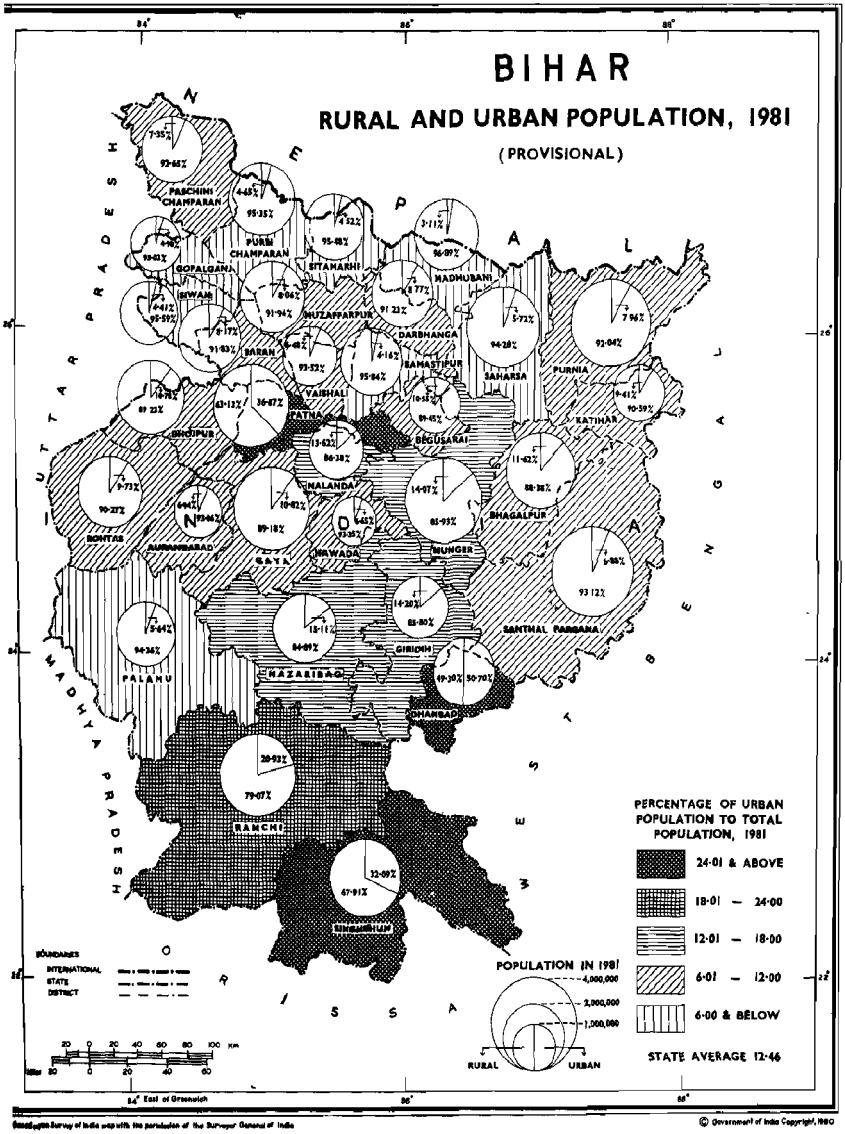

It will appear that Dhanbad (73.90) has the highest percentage of workers in non-agricultural sector in the State, followed by Patna (40.95) and Singhbhum (36.61). In 1971 too, these three districts held the same position. A comparison of figures in columns 4 and 5 of the statement will show that the percentage of non-agricultural workers has increased in every district over the decade except in Rohtas, Purnia and Katihar where it has remained more or less static. A map of Bihar depicting the share of main workers in different categories of work in the districts is presented at page 29.

Disabled population by Types of Disability

24. Table 6 at page 50 presents the figures of disabled population distributed by types of disability. This exercise, which was conducted as a part of the Houselisting Operations in April 1980, gives chargewise figures of disabled persons, who are either totally blind. totally crippled or totally dumb. This exercise is particularly significant since this has been done for the first time after 1931.

25. With the publication of the Supplement to Paper 1 the preliminary analytical exercises based on the provisional population totals come to a conclusion. All further analyses shall be based on the Primary Census Abstracts and such other tables as may be prepared as per Tabulation Plan. We, however, feel that the data presented in Paper 1 and in the Supplement would not fail to provide to the planners and data users an idea of the trends and directions of growth and development.
